THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS DAMAGE IS ESTIMATED

A fire of undetermined origin early this morning swept through a storage house at the Union Oil Mill in West Monroe, completely destroying 250,000 pounds of grabbot cotton and several thousand dollars worth of burlap sacks.

The fire, which was discovered about 12:30 a.m., was beyond control before West Monroe firemen could stretch hose to the scene, and the fire fighters were hard pressed to keep the blaze from spreading to other buildings where cotton oil is stored after processing.

In the storage house with the refuse cotton was a truck which was completely burned, a concrete mixer and several hundred feet of heavy lumber.

A. B. Colmer, assistant manager of the mill, estimated the value of the cotton destroyed at $[illegible] and added that "several thousand dollars worth of burlap sacks were in the shed."

Two West Monroe fire trucks answered the call and at 1:15 a.m. Mr. Colmer left the scene of the blaze to call Monroe firemen [illegible].

Swift action of the firemen prevented the blaze, whipped by a strong breeze from the Ouachita river on which the mill is located, from causing more serious damage.

At 2:30 a.m. the cotton and sacks were still burning but apparently the fire had been brought under control.

Hose had to be stretched more than two blocks from a hydrant near the West Monroe approach to the new traffic bridge to a position in the yard at the cotton oil mill.

The blaze was [illegible] but firemen to attempt to [illegible] the burning structure. No attempt was made to save any of the material stored in the building.

At 1:45 a.m. the Monroe fire department was called to Stanford's Pharmacy but the damage had not been determined at an early hour.

THREE LADARTS GET SENTENCES

Joe, Guilty On Five Counts, Ordered To Serve 18 Months

Overruling a defense motion for a new trial, District Judge J. T. Shell yesterday morning sentenced three local independent grocers, convicted of knowingly buying stolen goods, to serve time in the parish jail.

Joe Ladart, 1100 Washington street, who pleaded guilty Friday morning on five charges of receiving stolen merchandise, was sentenced to serve 18 months in the parish jail subject to road duty. His four 12-month sentences were allowed to run concurrently, while a six-month term on the fifth charge was made to run separately.

Ross Ladart, 122 DeSiard avenue, who was found guilty after facing trial Friday on one count of knowingly receiving stolen goods, was given a three-month jail sentence with road duty. His son, Sam Ladart, charged jointly with him, received a six-month jail sentence subject to road duty.

When the sentences were pronounced, Mrs. Ross Ladart became hysterical and attempted to prevent

MAYFIELD YOUTH CRITICALLY SHOT

J. H. Mayfield, Jr., 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua H. Mayfield, 805 Lazarre avenue, West Monroe, was in a critical condition at Riverside sanitarium last night from shotgun wounds suffered when the gun of a companion accidentally discharged early last night while the two were returning from hunting along the levee near West Monroe, Chief of Police Jeff Caldwell said.

West Monroe police said that the boy was struck in the right chest and right arm at close range when J. T. Stuckey, 16, attempted to unbreech his 20-gauge shotgun.

Attending physicians said the youth was given a blood transfusion but asserted that there was little hope of recovery.

Italian Fleet Hit Hard By British

British Believe Mussolini's Big Ships Practically Wiped Out

LONDON, March 29—(AP)—The British navy, aided by Greek units and the R. A. F., at last has met the dwindling Italian fleet away from home base and sunk at least one Fascist warship and heavily damaged several others in the eastern Mediterranean, it was officially announced today.

The admiralty and the R. A. F., in piecemeal descriptions of this engagement—which seemingly was the largest of the war—listed one Italian battleship, two to four cruisers and a destroyer as damaged. This was followed by the announcement that at least one Italian ship had been sunk, but whether it was one of those on the damaged list was not ascertained.

Communiques emphasized that details were as yet incomplete, but that a big force of Italian battleships, cruisers and destroyers was involved.

From initial information obtained from the British naval commander, Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, the admiralty said one battleship of the 35,000-ton Littorio class, Italy's newest, had been damaged and two cruis-

Workers Vote Against Complying With Knox And Knudsen Order

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—Officials of the defense mediation board announced tonight an agreement for settlement of the 20-day A. F. of L. strike at the Cornell Dubilier corporation at South Plainfield, N. J., by which the workers will return to their jobs on Tuesday.

(By Associated Press)

C. I. O. strikers at the Milwaukee plant of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company accused Secretary of the Navy Knox and Defense Production Director William S. Knudsen yesterday of conspiring to force a "back-to-work movement" and then voted to continue their work stoppage.

The union decided against ending the 66-day-old strike in the face of a request from Knox and Knudsen for a resumption of work while negotiations proceeded.

In a statement the union said its members would not go back to work until they received the security which "the United States government has promised us." It added that the Office of Production Management had promised to force the Allis-Chalmers management "to accept a "union security" provision if the union agreed to other proposed conditions for returning to work.

About $[illegible] worth of defense orders have been awarded the Allis-Chalmers company. The plant reopened and the management said about one-third the normal day shift reported. The C. I. O. claimed no more than 100 of 7,800 production workers were on the job.

Another government effort to get defense machinery wheels turning resulted in at least temporary failure. A spokesman for the International Harvester company announced the concern had cancelled plans to reopen two of its four strike-bound plants on Monday. It had found, he said, that the strikers "are demanding conditions which makes their position very unclear."

An official of the C. I. O. Farm Equipment Workers Organizing Committee telegraphed W. H. Davis, vice-chairman of the defense mediation board at Washington that the union would meet Sunday to consider a board request that production be resumed in International Harvester plants pending negotiations. Davis wired back that the board was authorized by the management to say that if the employes went back to work there would be "no discrimina-

EXPECTS DEFICIT OF $2,371,685.75

$10,521,827.70 In Excess Of Receipts Will Be Expended By State

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29—(AP)—An official state financial report today predicted a cash deficit of $2,371,685.75 by next June 30 as a result of planned spending of $10,521,827.70 in excess of receipts for ordinary operations during the current biennium.

By June 30, 1942, the report of the reorganization staff and the department of finance said, the cash deficit will have grown to $8,292,381.37, unless plans to save an additional $1,000,000 next year materialize.

However, Finance Director Martin Close in a statement incorporated in the report said the additional services being given the people were worth $10,000,000 that the old administration had been "running behind" $6,560,000 and that the net effect of increasing some taxes but losing the sales tax was a reduction of nearly $5,000,000 in the state's receipts.

He concluded and Governor Sam Jones declared also in an accompanying statement, that "we are doing a job that is $11,000,000 better than the job that was being done under the

By Douglas B. Cornell
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

PORT EVERGLADES, Fla., March 29—(AP)—President Roosevelt summoned Americans of every political creed tonight to stand united in a determination that "with all our resources and all our power, we shall help those who block the dictators in their march toward domination of the world."

Arising from an "alliance of dictator nations," the president warned, is a threat to America, its union, its democracy, and its cardinal principles of freedom—a threat which "draws more tightly around us day by day."

But speaking to fellow Democrats attending party rallies throughout the country, Mr. Roosevelt declared that to meet the threat nearly all Americans had risen above considerations of party politics and had remained devoted to country and democratic ideals.

The chief executive spoke by radio from the officers' wardroom of the White House yacht Potomac to "Jackson day" dinners held to raise money for the Democratic party.

NEW ORLEANS, March 29—(AP)—James H. Crutcher, state WPA administrator, announced today the WPA had officially opened its largest defense project in Louisiana—a $3,616,800 program of general improvements to the army camps in the Alexandria area.

Crutcher said 75 men had been assigned to the first unit of the project, a 3½-mile gravel road connecting Camp Livingston with the Camp Beauregard airport and small-arms range.

Another crew will begin landscaping, installation of sewers and other improvements at Camp Livingston Monday. Similar work will be started at Camps Beauregard and Claiborne in about two weeks.

Interpreting The War News: Britain Cuts Ship Losses

By Kirke L. Simpson
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

British admiralty figures, due probably Tuesday, on shipping losses for the third week in March are awaited with special interest for the light they may shed on Nazi operations in the Atlantic during that period.

The first week of the Hitler-announced March-April drive to knock down England's "bridge of ships" across the Atlantic was disastrous for the British. They admitted loss of nearly 150,000 tons of shipping in that seven days. In the two succeeding weeks, not notable for heavy mid-Atlantic storms or other conditions which might have handicapped raiders, the admiralty figures showed successive reductions in tonnage losses. They were heavy still, but dropped to 98,000, then to 71,000 tons.

That last figure is not much above the average loss the British have sustained at sea week by week since the war started. The German air-under-sea-surface attack must make a far better sustained score than London acknowledges to create an immediate shipping crisis for England.

Experience and what can be gleaned in Washington from official sources tend to make the London reports credible. Berlin's official announcements are not keyed to stated periods. There is no means of checking them week by week against British announcements or of telling just what actual successes have been repeated to build up seemingly tremendous results in the Nazi counter blockade.

That invites the charge London has made against Berlin of 100 per cent exaggeration—and even 200 per cent at times. It also supports the theory that German reports of terrific damage done to British shipping at sea at any particular moment have something to do with Nazi political maneuvering of that same moment in the Balkan or elsewhere.

Those Berlin statements certainly cannot fool Washington, if they are heavily laden with Nazi propaganda exaggeration. Washington representatives in England, diplomatic and technical, are being fully informed on such matters and given opportunity to check and double check for themselves.

That washes out any possibility of American official uncertainty about the problem of getting American planes and war munitions and food to England under the aid-for-Britain policy. It also insures that Washington is advised as to what new means British admiralty specialists have developed to cope with the shipping raiders.

Execution of the American aid policy must be shaped from week to week or even from day to day by what happens in fact, not by what is said publicly by either side.

Prime Minister Churchill months ago told parliament that the best minds in the British navy were at work against the hour when the peak Nazi attacks at sea would come. While common sense, if nothing else, barred him from a disclosure of what was being hatched, Churchill said he was satisfied with progress.

Now the test has come. Unless the British all but quit using the Atlantic lanes in the first two weeks of March—and German claims of ships sunk admit that they did not—they have somehow already restricted tonnage losses.

It was upon that fact more than any other, probably, that Churchill based his recent assertion that Britain could save herself unaided, but not "mankind and Europe" without the combined effort "of the whole English-speaking world."

Man, Wife Jailed On Widows Story Of Bondage

PETRILLO TO DIE IN CHAIR MONDAY

Tailor Will Be First Of Murder-For-Insurance Ring To Meet Death

PHILADELPHIA, March 29—(AP)—A 49-year-old tailor will die in Pennsylvania's electric chair early Monday, the first of three persons condemned to death in Philadelphia's almost unbelievable murder-for-insurance ring.

Denied a last-minute reprieve, Paul Petrillo will be taken today from Holmesburg prison here to Rockview penitentiary at Bellefonte, Pa., for execution in the poison death of Luigi Lavecchio in 1932—one of the more than 100 deaths attributed to the far-flung murder syndicate.

Governor Arthur H. James denied a reprieve late yesterday to the once-dapper South Philadelphia tailor, who wrote to James that "I was unwillingly the tool of a man well-versed in witchcraft."

The state, however, charged that Petrillo was a leader of the ring which dealt in "hexing," the "evil eye," and "magic love potions." Paul's cousin, Herman Petrillo and Mrs. Josephine Romualdo, are also under sentence to die.

A second woman, Mrs. Grace Giovanetti, also was condemned to die but was granted a new trial this week by the state supreme court.

Eight other women and 10 other men were convicted in the bizarre case

BREEDLOVE TRIAL TO START MONDAY

The jury panel includes the following 30 men: Elmer Harrell, J. M. Fielder, O. H. Hammons, W. C. Hood, Gilbert Hood, Edwin Holley, W. R. Shepherd, V. J. Gordon, J. W. Vernon, E. S. Leggett, O. H. Land, Emmett H. Wright, Ted Andrews, Elton Frasier, Ben Mobley, B. F. Shelby, M. D. Hogan, T. O. Norris, C. F. Brewster, Sam B. White, Carl Streeter, J. L. Hood, W. S. Moore, Jr., I. E. Garrett, J. L. Mathewes, J. C. Henry, E. V. Kiper, J. S. Beck, S. H. Williams, J. C. Lewis.

Breedlove was indicted by the grand jury for the alleged fatal shooting of Policeman Posey on November 24, when the officer, accompanied by Policeman Ed Neal, went to the house where Breedlove resided here to investigate a disturbance reported by neighbors.

District Attorney Truett L. Scarborough has summoned 10 state witnesses and Defense Counsel C. E. Barham has subpoenaed seven, the clerk's office reported here.

Breedlove was returned to parish jail several days ago from the Ruston-Lincoln sanitarium, where he had been taken temporarily after Coroner J. J. Bennet observed inflammation had developed around an arm wound received in an exchange of gunfire with Posey.

Britain's Army Is Knocking At Nazi Back Door

BERN, Switzerland, March 29—(AP)—Twenty-three years after the successful Salonika campaign of 1918, the British army again is knocking at Germany's back door and hoping that Yugoslavia, which holds one of the keys, will aid in the opening.

The last remaining non-Axis powers in eastern Europe, if they joined forces, could challenge Germany with the greatest aggregation of military strength since the fall of France.

Allied quarters have estimated that as many as 4,300,000 men might be available for the fray on the British side.

The value attached to Yugoslavia by both sides is reflected in the urgency of German demands to know the Belgrade government's intentions and the jubilation with which the British acclaimed the Yugoslav coup.

In order to obtain a foothold on the continent for a blow at Germany, Britain must, in the opinion of many strategists, gain access to the Danube valley.

The vital points leading to or along this route are: First, the Dardanelles, held by Britain's non-belligerent

Dramatic Yugoslav Story Ably Covered By Newsmen

(By Associated Press)

BERN, Switzerland, March 29—"Bulletin—Budapest, the Hungarian radio reported Yugoslavia's three regents and entire cabinet had resigned."

Those words, dictated over the telephone by Max Harrelson in Budapest to William B. King in Bern on Thursday morning, threw into high gear the Associated Press Balkan staff of veterans of dozens of news beats.

This was the story which the Associated Press staff, from Bratislavia to Athens, and from far-away Ankara, Turkey, to headquarters in Bern, 1,400 miles distant, had been awaiting night and day.

Plans made months before the war began carried to America accurately and quickly the news of Yugoslavia's coup d'etat.

Yugoslavia herself was cut off from the outside world for more than 20 hours, but the Associated Press men in seven other countries moved into action, tipped off by "blitz" telephone calls (the middle-European designation for super-urgent rate messages).

Hardly had Harrelson's first bulletin reached New York than Witt Hancock in Istanbul, Wes Gallagher in Salonika, Daniel DeLuce in Athens, and a dozen other highly-trained men in Ankara, Sofia, Bucharest and throughout southeast Europe were tracking down the answers to the questions: What is happening? What underlies it? What is to come of it?"

Behind the wall of Yugoslav censorship, Robert St. John, one of the aces of the Balkan staff, was writing the story hour by hour, ready to dictate it quickly to Bern when he was able.

After more than 20 hours, the Belgrade telephone operators, wearied by St. John's insistence, let a call slip through. E. C. Daniel in Bern took it, but the line was quickly cut.

Then, according to prearrangement,

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS DAMAGE IS ESTIMATED

A fire of undetermined origin early this morning swept through a storage house at the Union Oil Mill in West Monroe, completely destroying 250,000 pounds of grabbot cotton and several thousand dollars worth of burlap sacks.

The fire, which was discovered about 12:30 a.m., was beyond control before West Monroe firemen could stretch hose to the scene, and the fire fighters were hard pressed to keep the blaze from spreading to other buildings where cotton oil is stored after processing.

In the storage house with the refuse cotton was a truck which was completely burned, a concrete mixer, and several hundred feet of heavy lumber.

A. B. Colmer, assistant manager of the mill, estimated the value of the cotton destroyed at $4,000 and added that "several thousand dollars worth of burlap sacks were in the shed."

Two West Monroe fire trucks answered the call, and at 1:10 a.m. Mr. Colmer left the scene of the blaze to call Monroe firemen into action.

Swift action of the firemen prevented the blaze, whipped by a strong breeze from the Ouachita river on which the mill is located, from causing more serious damage.

At 2:30 a.m. the cotton and sacks were still burning but apparently the fire had been brought under control.

Hose had to be stretched more than two blocks from a hydrant near the West Monroe approach to the new traffic bridge to a position in the yard at the cotton oil mill.

The blaze was much too hot for firemen to attempt to enter the burning structure. No attempt was made to save any of the material stored in the building.

At 1:45 a.m. the Monroe fire department was called to Spatafora's Pharmacy but the damage had not been determined at an early hour.

In a statement, the union said its members would not go back to work until they received the security which "the United States government has promised us." It added that the Office of Production Management had promised to force the Allis-Chalmers management to accept a "union security" provision if the union agreed to other proposed conditions for returning to work.

About $45,000,000 worth of defense orders have been awarded the Allis-Chalmers company. The plant reopened and the management said about one-third the normal day shift reported. The C. I. O. claimed no more than 100 of 7,800 production workers were on the job.

Another government effort to get defense machinery wheels turning resulted in at least temporary failure. A spokesman for the International Harvester company announced the concern had cancelled plans to reopen two of its four strike-bound plants on Monday. It had found, he said, that the strikers "are demanding conditions which makes their position very unclear."

An official of the C. I. O. Farm Equipment Workers Organizing Committee telegraphed W. H. Davis, vice-chairman of the defense mediation board, at Washington that the union would meet Sunday to consider a board request that production be resumed in International Harvester plants pending negotiations. Davis wired back that the board was authorized by the management to say that if the employes went back to work there would be "no discrimina-

British Believe Mussolini's Big Ships Practically Wiped Out

LONDON, March 29.—(AP)—The British navy, aided by Greek units and the R. A. F., at last has met the dwindling Italian fleet away from home base and sunk at least one Fascist warship and heavily damaged several others in the eastern Mediterranean, it was officially announced today.

The admiralty and the R. A. F., in piecemeal descriptions of this engagement—which seemingly was the largest of the war—listed one Italian battleship, two to four cruisers and a destroyer as damaged. This was followed by the announcement that at least one Italian ship had been sunk, but whether it was one of those on the damaged list was not ascertained.

Communiques emphasized that details were as yet incomplete, but that a big force of Italian battleships, cruisers and destroyers was involved.

From initial information obtained from the British naval commander, Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, the admiralty said one battleship of the 35,000—ton Littorio class, Italy's newest, had been damaged and two cruis-

EXPECTS DEFICIT OF $2,371,685.75

$10,521,827.70 In Excess Of Receipts Will Be Expended By State

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29.—(AP)—An official state financial report today predicted a cash deficit of $2,371,685.75 by next June 30 as a result of planned spending of $10,521,827.70 in excess of receipts for ordinary operations during the current biennium.

By June 30, 1942, the report of the reorganization staff and the department of finance said, the cash deficit will have grown to $8,392,381.37, unless plans to save an additional $1,000,000 next year materialize.

However, Finance Director Martin Close in a statement incorporated in the report said the additional services being given the people were worth $10,000,000 that the old administration had been "running behind" $6,560,000 and that the net effect of increasing some taxes but losing the sales tax was a reduction of nearly $5,000,000 in the state's receipts.

He concluded, and Governor Sam Jones declared also in an accompanying statement, that "we are doing a job that is $11,000,000 better than the job that was being done under the

Interpreting The War News:
Britain Cuts Ship Losses

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

British admiralty figures, due probably Tuesday, on shipping losses for the third week in March are awaited with special interest for the light they may shed on Nazi operations in the Atlantic during that period.

The first week of the Hitler-announced March-April drive to knock down England's "bridge of ships" across the Atlantic was disastrous for the British. They admitted loss of nearly 150,000 tons of shipping in that seven days. In the two succeeding weeks, not notable for heavy mid-Atlantic storms or other conditions which might have handicapped raiders, the admiralty figures showed successive reductions in tonnage losses. They were heavy still, but dropped to 98,000, then to 71,000 tons.

That last figure is not much above the average loss the British have sustained at sea week by week since the war started. The German air-under-sea-surface attack must make a far better sustained score than London acknowledges to create an immediate shipping crisis for England.

Experience and what can be gleaned in Washington from official sources tend to make the London reports credible. Berlin's official announcements are not keyed to stated periods. There is no means of checking them week by week against British announcements or of telling just what actual successes have been repeated to build up seemingly tremendous results in the Nazi counter blockade.

That invites the charge London has made against Berlin of 100 per cent exaggeration—and even 200 per cent at times. It also supports the theory that German reports of terrific damage done to British shipping at sea at any particular moment have something to do with Nazi political maneuvering of that same moment in the Balkan or elsewhere.

Those Berlin statements certainly cannot fool Washington, if they are heavily laden with Nazi propaganda exaggeration. Washington representatives in England, diplomatic and technical, are being fully informed on such matters and given opportunity to check and double check for themselves.

That washes out any possibility of American official uncertainty about the problem of getting American planes and war munitions and food to England under the aid-for-Britain policy. It also insures that Washington is advised as to what new means British admiralty specialists have developed to cope with the shipping raiders.

Execution of the American aid policy must be shaped from week to week or even from day to day by what happens in fact, not by what is said publicly by either side.

Prime Minister Churchill months ago told parliament that the best minds in the British navy were at work against the hour when the peak Nazi attacks at sea would come. While common sense, if noting else, barred him from a disclosure of what was being hatched, Churchill said he was satisfied with progress.

Now the test has come. Unless the British all but quit using the Atlantic lanes in the first two weeks of March—and German claims of ships sunk admit that they did not—they have somehow already restricted tonnage losses.

It was upon that fact more than any other, probably, that Churchill based his recent assertion that Britain could save herself unaided, but not "mankind and Europe" without the combined effort "of the whole English-speaking world."

CALLS ON EVERY POLITICAL CREED TO STAND UNITED

President, In Jackson Day Address, Urges Determined Nation

Asserts Nazi Agents Trying To Exploit Americans' Love Of Peace

By Douglas B. Cornell
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

PORT EVERGLADES, Fla., March 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt summoned Americans of every political creed tonight to stand united in a determination that "with all our resources and all our power, we shall help those who block the dictators in their march toward domination of the world."

Arising from an "alliance of dictator nations," the president warned, is a threat to America, its union, its democracy, and its cardinal principles of freedom—a threat which "draws more tightly around us day by day."

But, speaking to fellow Democrats attending party rallies throughout the country, Mr. Roosevelt declared that to meet the threat nearly all Americans had risen above considerations of party politics and had remained devoted to country and democratic ideals.

The chief executive spoke by radio from the officers' wardroom of the White House yacht Potomac to "Jackson day" dinners held to raise money for the Democratic party.

WOMEN'S CLUBS PICK ST. JOSEPH

Welcome Branch Of Monroe Club Takes First With Scrapbook

RUSTON, La., March 29.—(Special)—St. Joseph was selected as the meeting place for the annual convention of the Louisiana Fifth District Federation of Women's clubs to be held in April, 1942, at the annual meeting of the district clubs at the new Ruston High school Saturday. About 150 women, including 85 official delegates, attended the district convention here Saturday.

The Welcome Branch of the Twentieth Century club of Monroe won first place with its scrapbook of newspaper clippings of items pertaining to its activities. Fourteen clubs entered scrapbooks, which were judged by Kenneth F. Hewins of the Louisiana Tech publications department.

The Monroe group winning the blue ribbon with its scrapbook also won first place with its yearbook in the Class A division. The Twentieth Century club of Monroe, in the Class B division, won first place with its yearbook.

A highlight of Saturday's program was an address on "Imperialism in Americanism" by Mrs. F. A. Leaming of Mansfield, state president of the Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs. The program was as follows:

Invocation, Rev. H. W. Darden, Ruston Presbyterian pastor; salute to the flag, Mrs. R. K. Boney, Tallulah; address of welcome, Mrs. P. M. Davis, Ruston; response, Mrs. Richard Hatch, Rayville; vocal solos, June Bloomer, Monroe; violin solos, Mrs. Louise Averett, West Monroe; and addresses by Mrs. Leola Nixon, Ruston, fifth district president, Mrs. A. BIGGEST DEFENSE JOB IN STATE OPENS

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—(AP)—James H. Crutcher, state WPA administrator, announced today the WPA had officially opened its largest defense project in Louisiana—a $3,616,800 program of general improvements to the army camps in the Alexandria area.

Crutcher said 75 men had been assigned to the first unit of the project, a 3½-mile gravel road connecting Camp Livingston with the Camp Beauregard airport and small-arms range.

Another crew will begin landscaping, installation of sewers and other improvements at Camp Livingston Monday. Similar work will be started at Camps Beauregard and Claiborne in about two weeks.

PETRILLO TO DIE IN CHAIR MONDAY

Tailor Will Be First Of Murder-For-Insurance Ring To Meet Death

PHILADELPHIA, March 29.—(AP)—A 49-year-old tailor will die in Pennsylvania's electric chair early Monday, the first of three persons condemned to death in Philadelphia's almost unbelievable murder-for-insurance ring.

Denied a last-minute reprieve, Paul Petrillo will be taken today from Holmesburg prison here to Rockview penitentiary at Bellefonte, Pa., for execution in the poison death of Lugi Lavecchio in 1932—one of the more than 100 deaths attributed to the far-flung murder syndicate.

Governor Arthur H. James denied a reprieve late yesterday to the once-dapper South Philadelphia tailor, who wrote to James that "I was unwillingly the tool of a man well-versed in witchcraft."

The state, however, charged that Petrillo was a leader of the ring which dealt in "hexing," the "evil eye," and "magic love potions." Paul's cousin, Herman Petrillo and Mrs. Josephine Romualdo, are also under sentence to die.

A second woman, Mrs. Grace Giovanetti, also was condemned to die but was granted a new trial this week by the state supreme court.

Eight other women and 10 other men were convicted in the bizarre case

BREEDLOVE TRIAL TO START MONDAY

RUSTON, La., March 29.—(Special)—With the selection of a petit jury from a venire of 30 names here Monday morning, the trial of John W. Breedlove, 22, charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, Hal Posey, 48, city policeman, will get under way.

The jury panel includes the following 30 men: Elmer Harrell, J. M. Fielder, O. H. Hammons, W. C. Hood, Gilbert Hood, Edwin Holley, W. R. Shepherd, V. J. Gordon, J. W. Vernon, E. S. Leggett, O. H. Land, Emmett H. Wright, Ted Andrews, Elton Frasier, Ben Mobley, B. F. Shelby, M. D. Hogan, T. O. Norris, C. F. Brewster, Sam B. White, Carl Streeter, J. L. Hood, W. S. Moore, Jr., I. E. Garrett, J. L. Mathewes, J. C. Henry, E. V. Kiper, J. S. Beck, S. H. Williams, J. C. Lewis.

Breedlove was indicted by the grand jury for the alleged fatal shooting of Policeman Posey on November 24, when the officer, accompanied by Policeman Ed Neal, went to the house where Breedlove resided here to investigate a disturbance reported by neighbors.

District Attorney Truett L. Scarborough has summoned 10 state witnesses and Defense Counsel C. E. Barham has subpoenaed seven, the clerk's office reported here.

Breedlove was returned to parish jail several days ago from the Ruston-Lincoln sanitarium, where he had been taken temporarily after Coroner J. J. Bennet observed inflammation had developed around an arm wound received in an exchange of gunfire with Posey.

BERN, Switzerland, March 29.—(AP)—Twenty-three years after the successful Salonika campaign of 1918, the British army again is knocking at Germany's back door and hoping that Yugoslavia, which holds one of the keys, will aid in the opening.

The last remaining non-Axis powers in eastern Europe, if they joined forces, could challenge Germany with the greatest aggregation of military strength since the fall of France.

Allied quarters have estimated that as many as 4,300,000 men might be available for the fray on the British side.

The value attached to Yugoslavia by both sides is reflected in the urgency of German demands to know the Belgrade government's intentions and the jubilation with which the British acclaimed the Yugoslav coup.

In order to obtain a foothold on the continent for a blow at Germany, Britain must, in the opinion of many strategists, gain access to the Danube valley.

The vital points leading to or along this route are: First, the Dardanelles, held by Britain's non-belligerent

Dramatic Yugoslav Story Ably Covered By Newsmen

(By Associated Press)

BERN, Switzerland, March 29.—"Bulletin!—Budapest, the Hungarian radio reported Yugoslavia's three regents and entire cabinet had resigned."

Those words, dictated over the telephone by Max Harrelson in Budapest to William B. King in Bern on Thursday morning, threw into high gear the Associated Press Balkan staff of veterans of dozens of news beats.

This was the story which the Associated Press staff, from Bratislavia to Athens, and from far-away Ankara, Turkey, to headquarters in Bern, 1,400 miles distant, had been awaiting night and day.

Plans made months before the war began carried to America accurately and quickly the news of Yugoslavia's coup d'etat.

Yugoslavia herself was cut off from the outside world for more than 20 hours, but the Associated Press men in seven other countries moved into action, tipped off by "blitz" telephone calls (the middle-European designation for super-urgent rate messages).

Hardly had Harrelson's first bulletin reached New York than Witt Hancock in Istanbul, Wes Gallagher in Salonika, Daniel DeLuce in Athens, and a dozen other highly-trained men in Ankara, Sofia, Bucharest and throughout southeast Europe were tracking down the answers to the questions, "What is happening? What underlies it? What is to come of it?"

Behind the wall of Yugoslav censorship, Robert St. John, one of the aces of the Balkan staff, was writing the story hour by hour, ready to dictate it quickly to Bern when he was able.

After more than 20 hours, the Belgrade telephone operators, wearied by St. John's insistence, let a call slip through. E. C. Daniel in Bern took it, but the line was quickly cut.

Then, according to prearrangement,

HEAD OF CROATS COMES OUT FOR AXIS ALLIANCE

Peasant Leader Also Asks Declaration Of Autonomy For People

GERMAN NATIONALS ARE ORDERED OUT OF SERBIA

Italians Departing By Hundreds, British Women Leaving

(By Associated Press)

The Associated Press has checked rumors heard in London of a coup d'etat in Italy and has been advised by its Rome bureau that all is quiet in Rome.

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, March 29.—(AP)—Dr. Vladimir Macek, leader of millions of Croats was reported authoritatively tonight to have insisted that Yugoslavia's new government publish a declaration affirming this kingdom's adherence to the axis alliance.

The Croat peasant leader was said also to demand a declation guaranteeing Croat autonomy.

(Macek, who was vice-premier in the overthrown cabinet of Dragisa Cvetkovic which signed the three-power pact for Yugoslavia, was carried over in the new government of Premier General Dusan Simovic.

(His position, however, has not been clarified. What course Macek decides to take—whether to revert to the opposition or stay in the government—is expected to weigh heavily on determining Yugoslavia's home and foreign policy.)

The leader of the Croats, who buried their differences with the Serbs only in 1939 in a Croat home rule agreement, was expected, meanwhile, to remain silent on all overtures that he be active in the new regime at least until he can go to Belgrade Tuesday or Wednesday and investigate the situation at first hand.

An important member of Macek's intimate circle asserted that the "government has decidedly won confidence of all Serbs but has the confidence of all Croats."

Croats say there is a widespread feeling that the coup was a Serb stroke directed more against Croatia than against the tri-partite pact.

BIG CROWD SEES GREEK-AID SHOW

Excellent Combination Vaudeville And Movie Staged At Paramount

An overflowing and enthusiastic audience saw a superb combination vaudeville and movie at the Paramount theater's midnight presentation last night and walked away glad that they had contributed to Greek war relief.

The variety review, "The Greeks Had a Word for It," preceded the Paramount's feature movie and selected short reels, and provoked both laughter and tears with some high-class entertainment.

"The Greeks Had a Word for It," and they had some songs, too, and jokes, and dances, and wisecracks. The stage was a night club, and the 13-piece orchestra of Milton Coverdale, Jr., provided the melodies.

One of the comedians who kept splitting the people's sides was "Hoss" Ross, who was the master of ceremonies. Going from the absurd to the serious were the two vocal soloists, Sergeant Harold B. McNemar, recruiting officer here, and Miss Kathleen Miller of the Ouachita Parish High school faculty.

An old-fashioned blackface skit was presented by Ben Parnell and George Bennett. Others included in the 10 specialty acts were Beverly Peevy and "Dopey" Bayne, jitterbugs; a girl chorus conducted by the Armandine

CIVITAN LEADER

ARTHUR CUNDY

CHARTER NIGHT WILL BE HELD

Civitan Club In West Monroe Plans Event On Monday

Charter night will be observed by the Civitan club of West Monroe at the First Methodist church banquet hall, Monday at 7:30 p.m., it was announced yesterday by President F. C. McConnell. Guests of the occasion will be delegates from the Civitan clubs of Monroe, Bastrop, and Ruston, and also from the West Monroe Kiwanis club.

The principal address will be delivered by Arthur Cundy, international secretary, Birmingham, Ala., who will fly here for the event. Mr. Cundy a few weeks ago participated in charter night exercises for the Monroe Civitan club and is famous as an inspirational speaker.

He will present the charter, which will be received in formal manner by President McConnell. There will be more than 30 charter members enrolled.

The first Civitan club was formed in Birmingham in 1917 and it has as its mottor "Builders of Good Citizenship." Figures available March 1, 1939, showed that Civitan International had then 152 active clubs and 5,025 members. The number is considerably larger now.

Civitan International has had a slow growth compared to its larger contemporaries. It has not used organizers until recently; its growth has come largely through the work of its existing clubs. In other words, most of its clubs have been built on the basis of "friendly equation," groups of men in one city having it brought to them by Civitans of an adjacent community. During the depression, Civitan suffered heavy losses. However, it is of interest to note that it had the least per capita loss of any service club during that time, which is regarded as a distinct tribute to Civitan and its practical idealism.

CHILD WELFARE HEAD TO SPEAK

Dr. John E. Anderson Will Make Address Before Teachers Here

Dr. John E. Anderson, director of the Institute of Child Welfare of the University of Minnesota, will be a featured speaker during the state convention of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, Baton Rouge, April 17, 18, 19.

Professor Anderson is one of the outstanding authorities in the United States on the scientific care and training of children. Nor is his interest in children entirely theoretical or scientific. He is the father of five children, a daughter, twenty, twin boys, eighteen and a twin boy and girl who are thirteen years old.

Dr. Anderson is a member of many scientific societies and in addition to various scientific and popular articles, has written a number of books on child welfare and training. He has served as secretary of the Council of American Psychological association, as secretary and vice-president of section 1, Psychology of the American association for the advancement of science.

Professor Anderson was chairman of section B, the infant and pre-school section at the White House conference. He is national chairman of the committee on the exceptional child of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and has been seventh vice-president of the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers.

During the war, Professor Anderson served as chief psychological examiner and senior instructor in the army school of military psychology at Camp Greenleaf, Ga. After the war, until he went to Minnesota, he was on the psychology staff at Yale university.

Approximately 100 prominent business men of Jackson, Miss., are expected to visit Monroe and West Monroe April 16, while some 116 Memphis, Tenn., delegates are scheduled to be here April 17, Mr. Warren said.

Elaborate plans are under way for the entertainment of the visiting groups, the chamber president indicated. Delegates will be escorted on a tour of the Twin Cities and will be feted at a banquet to be attended by local business and professional leaders, he said.

POLICE JURORS CANNOT CLOSE FISHING SEASON

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29.—(AP)—An attorney general's opinion on file today held that police juries do not have the power to declare closed seasons for game or commercial fishing.

Assistant Attorney General A. M. Suthon, answering a question by a West Baton Rouge parish police juror, wrote that no constitutional provision gave police juries such power, and that the department of conservation also lacked authority to enforce a closed fishing season either by approving a parish ordinance or issuing its own orders.

The opinion, he said, did not apply to fishing in preserves created by parishes under a 1926 act, nor to hunting of wild game.

Suthon said copies of the opinion had been sent to individuals and groups interested in proposed regulations for Caddo Lake, and that so far as he knew the lake was not a preserve and so came within the scope of the opinion.

WELL HEARING POSTPONED

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29.—(AP)—A proposed hearing on well spacing and proration regulations for the Neale field of Beauregard parish, scheduled for April 10 in New Orleans, has been indefinitely postponed and will be reset, the department of minerals said today.

CIVITAN LEADER

ARTHUR CUNDY

CHARTER NIGHT WILL BE HELD

Charter night will be observed by the Civitan club of West Monroe at the First Methodist church banquet hall, Monday at 7:30 p.m., it was announced yesterday by President F. C. McConnell. Guests of the occasion will be delegates from the Civitan clubs of Monroe, Bastrop, and Ruston, and also from the West Monroe Kiwanis club.

The principal address will be delivered by Arthur Cundy, international secretary, Birmingham, Ala., who will fly here for the event. Mr. Cundy a few weeks ago participated in charter night exercises for the Monroe Civitan club and is famous as an inspirational speaker.

He will present the charter, which will be received in forma lmanner by President McConnell. There will be more than 30 charter members enrolled.

The first Civitan club was formed in Birmingham in 1917 and it has as its mottor "Builders of Good Citizenship." Figures available March 1, 1939, showed that Civitan International had then 152 active clubs and 5,025 members. The number is considerably larger now.

Civitan International has had a slow growth compared to its larger contemporaries. It has not used organizers until recently; its growth has come largely through the work of its existing clubs. In other words, most of its clubs have been built on the basis of "friendly equation," groups of men in one city having it brought to them by Civitans of an adjacent community. During the depression, Civitan suffered heavy losses. However, it is of interest to note that it had the least per capita loss of any service club during that time, which is regarded as a distinct tribute to Civitan and its practical idealism.

He is the father of five children, a daughter, twenty, twin boys, eighteen and a twin boy and girl who are thirteen years old.

Dr. Anderson is a member of many scientific societies and in addition to various scientific and popular articles, has written a number of books on child welfare and training. He has served as secretary of the Council of American Psychological association, as secretary and vice-president of section 1, Psychology of the American association for the advancement of science.

YOUNG HAMMOND IS DENIED INJUNCTION

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Ogden H. Hammond, Jr., young diplomatic officer who charged that the state department wanted to fire him on the basis of an accusation that he mimicked President Roosevelt, failed today to get an injunction in district court.

Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue, in denying Hammond's motion, held that his suit was brought prematurely or that he had not exhausted his administrative remedies.

Hammond said in a brief that the state department had accused him, among other things, of disloyal dealings with a "female agent of a foreign government" but that he had learned his dismissal was sought primarily for his alleged disrespectful act toward the president.

Hammond is the son of a one-time ambassador to Spain.

War today is a war of machines, a war of mass production, a war where organization of industries to build planes, ships, and ammunition is of even greater importance than organization of manpower. Georgia Tucker Primary Grades Present Operetta

'Dream Bags' To Be Staged By Children At Auditorium Tuesday

The primary grades of Georgia Tucker school will present the operetta "Dream Bags" at the school auditorium Tuesday night, starting 7:30 o'clock. Admission charges will be 10 and 25 cents, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, principal, announced, and proceeds will go into the Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. treasury and to defray expenses of the school's Telebinocular which was recently purchased for the reading clinic.

The children have been rehearsing for the operetta for several weeks and an outstanding presentation is promised.

The scene of "Dream Bags" is laid in an old-fashioned garden where beautiful children sing and play. The bumble bees flit among the flowers to gather their sweets; the butterflies add their color to the garden; and the raindrops chase each other as they bring sweet refreshments to the flowers.

The Dream Bags which were blown away by the wind are found among the flowers when the children who are on their way to Dream Land, light the way for the Dream Fairy who has been searching for the lost Dream Bags. The Dream Fairy is overjoyed at their recovery and immediately starts on her night's journey. The children, in anticipation of the dream gifts the fairy will bring them, are eager for the Sandman's visit. The flowers in the garden and the bumble bees sing them a lullaby; the Sandman comes; the Dream Fairy brings each a bag of dreams, and finally they awaken from a delightful night in the garden of Dream Land.

YOUNG HAMMOND IS DENIED INJUNCTION

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Ogden H. Hammond, Jr., young diplomatic officer who charged that the state department wanted to fire him on the basis of an accusation that he mimicked President Roosevelt, failed today to get an injunction in district court.

Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue, in denying Hammond's motion, held that his suit was brought prematurely in that he had not exhausted his administrative remedies.

Hammond said in a brief that the state department had accused him, among other things, of disloyal dealings with a "female agent of a foreign government" but that he had learned his dismissal was sought primarily for his alleged disrespectful act toward the president.

Hammond is the son of a one-time ambassador to Spain.

SHORT CIRCUIT SHORTENS SLEEP

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Art Abfier was mad.

About 6 a.m., Abfier gave up, dressed and went down to the car. No one was inside but as he stepped on the running board the horn rasped again.

A short circuit in his own car caused it.

The Darkness Deepens

It has been usual to think of the overflowing of the Nazi tide across Europe as a sort of blackout, a darkening of the spiritual lamps which cast light on many peoples. But the details of this blackout as revealed by the Rockefeller Foundation's annual report, are genuinely terrifying. The Foundation, which has extended help to many European institutions of learning, is in close touch with them. There is every reason to believe that the picture it paints is accurate.

The pattern has been followed in country after country. At first the universities and schools are allowed to carry on with their work, under close supervision of both teaching and student activities by Nazi functionaries. Then, gradually, an attempt is made to force on them a "cultural program" similar to that in force in the German universities. That brings resistance from teachers and students accustomed to freedom. Then comes repression, the closing of the universities, the sending of teachers to concentration camps, the breaking up by force of student demonstrations.

The Czech universities were closed, and most of their students deported to forced labor in Germany. In Holland, Poland, Norway, and Belgium there has been turmoil and resistance, and such university life as remains is under the strictest Nazi supervision. Over the whole continent, the number of teachers has been reduced at least 50 per cent, the Foundation estimates. The universities lead a precarious and dwindling existence. Soon it will be dark.

Why is this important? Not merely because of the individual tragedies to thousands directly affected. Because the science and learning fostered in their universities and institutions was of value to all the people; even those who never stepped on to a campus or through an academic door profited by free academic institutions.

What now? "Knowledge has never flowered in a subject people," says the report. "It is only free men who dare to think, and it is only through free thought that the soul of a people can be kept alive."

Worse than the bombing of buildings, worse than the maiming of bodies, is this deliberate attempt by repression and violence and propaganda, to destroy the soul of peoples.

BREAD AS PROPAGANDA

What happened to an American Red Cross shipment of wheat to Fascist Spain carries its own lesson in connection with any American desire to ship food to Nazi-conquered Europe. Fascist Spain is a protege of Hitler and Mussolini. Britain opened her blockade for the Red Cross ship Cold Harbor to unload 1,200 tons of American wheat at Barcelona. This wheat was intended for from 90,000 to 100,000 persons on relief.

The Spanish authorities insisted that the wheat should be placed at once in a government warehouse. Falangist bakers refused to permit direct distribution to relief agencies. The authorities ruled that the flour should be used for the population of Barcelona as a whole instead of being reserved for those on relief. A telephonic dispatch from Madrid to the New York Times describes the result as follows:

"What it comes down to is that the United States has supplied Spain with 1,200 extra tons of flour to feed the entire civilian population of Barcelona, not solely the 90,000 to 100,000 most in need. Few of the consumers will know where the flour came from. The plan to wrap the bread in paper bearing the name of the American Red Cross or to put Red Cross stickers on the bread has had to be abandoned."

This incident suggests that not even the American Red Cross can expect fair treatment when it suits totalitarian purposes to treat it otherwise. The American Red Cross furnished the flour, Britain permitted it to pass her blockade, but Barcelonians who eat this bread will never know that it didn't come from Franco.

Bread, as an instrument of propaganda, which is one argument urged for provisioning Belgium and other conquered countries, seems to be an uncertain weapon. Dictators, if not using it for their own ends, will see to it that neither the United States nor Great Britain gets credit for furnishing it.

SPIKE THE RUMORS

Canadian officials are again worried by rumors spreading over the United States that food is being closely rationed and that gasoline has gone to prohibitive prices of 90 cents a gallon. Neither these nor other rumors of difficulties for Americans traveling in Canada have the slightest foundation of truth. There is good reason to suspect that these rumors have been deliberately started and spread by those who have an interest in preventing transfer of American dollars to Canada.

Canada quite frankly seeks those American dollars, because she needs them to send back to the United States for war material and her tremendous ordinary purchases. But in 1940 American travel in Canada slumped badly. No doubt part of that slump was due to ridiculous rumors.

This is the year to travel in the Americas, in Canada, Mexico, or other hemisphere countries. Spike the rumors which seek to reduce this mutually advantageous travel.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, March 29.—Lana Turner's wearing another new ring, a dazzling sapphire from Tony Martin. . . . Which reminds me, Vic Mature was robbed twice in a week in NY, losing the ruby-and-gold cuff links Lana gave him. . . . Jane Wyatt, who quit films after "Lost Horizon" to have babies, has been quietly signed by RKO for a comeback.

Rudy Vallee and his "discovery," Joan Merrill, are feuding on the "Time Out For Rhythm" sets. . . . Dental surgeons had to crack Brenda Joyce's jaw to extract a wisdom tooth, but it won't bar her trip to Salt Lake City for a Greek benefit. . . . Linda Darnell and Cameraman Lee Crawford have joined the regular daters.

Bubbles (ex Mrs. Wayne Morris) Schinasi has turned model back East; she'll adorn the new Avalon ciggie ads. . . . Hear Ray Bolger is so hot in "Sunny," the film may be premiered in his home town, Boston. . . . Wonder if Betty Grable knows George Raft is still trying to make up with Virginia Pine? . . . Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire WILL do a new musical together; contracts are being drawn now.

James Stephenson reports a letter from his brother, now engaged in demolishing unexploded bombs dropped on England, in which the brother says many bombs contain no powder—only notes of encouragement from Czecho-Slovakian munitions workers. . . . Whatever became of the Nelson Eddy's plan to adopt a baby? . . . Local health authorities are guarding against a measles epidemic.

Boris Karloff takes time out of "Lavender and Old Lace" NY play to rush here in June for "The Boogie Man Will Get You." . . . Not-to-be-overlooked: MGM's laudable gesture when long-ill Veda Ann Borg was signed, in giving her a bonus sufficient to pay two years' accumulated hospital and doctors bills.

Laugh of the Week: At Universal, scenes necessitating the sound of rain-on-the-roof were being filmed for "The Black Cat." On their completion, Director Al Rogell ordered technicians to turn off the rain-making apparatus—and at that moment one of California's freak cloud-bursts started. "I said SHUT OFF THAT BLANKETY-BLANK RAIN!" roared Rogell. The sound effects man, equally irascible that ayem, eyes him sourly. "Do it yourself," he snapped. "Judging by your language you're on more intimate terms with God than I am!"

Mutterings: No wonder Hays office censors looked the other way when Veronica Lake donned that low-cut evening gown for "I Wanted Wings"—any gentleman would feel obligated to do the same! . . . Ode to mayhem: "Mr. Eddy, your singing's almost as good as Tony Martin's, only you don't put as much feeling into it." . . . Nervous itch: To soak Mickey Rooney's unruly forelock in b'ar grease and comb it straight back. . . . Silly notion: Constance Bennett dodging an argument because agreement might be better policy. . . . Suicidal impulse: To ask "Big Boy" Williams for an interview on his now-cold romance with Lupe Velez.

There's a dash of irony in Tyrone Power's present disagreement with his studio. The starting date for his next picture, "A Yank in the R. A. F.," in which he plays a daring flyer, has been postponed two weeks. Tyrone, having worked without lull in two very tough assignments, wanted to use the fortnight for a vacation jaunt to Mazatlan, Mexico. The only way to get there and back, and still have time to rest, is to fly. But that studio heads refuse to sanction. They say flying is too dangerous.

Seven Years Ago in Hollywood: Norma Talmadge, after divorcing Joseph Schenck in Mexico, dashed to New York to wed Georgie Jessel . . . Hollywood mourned the suicide of Karl ("The Big Parade") Dane. . . . Racquel Torres and Stephen (Adrienne's ex) Ames were married. . . . Dick Foran's Dad, an eastern financier, threatened to disinherit his movie-struck son because of a rumored romance with a blonde actress (Alice Faye). . . . Gloria Swanson started divorce action against her fourth husband, Michael Farmer. . . . Ginger Rogers filed a $100,000 suit against Mme. Sylvia, Hollywood masseuse, over an alleged belittling impersonation of Ginger on a radio program.

What Others Say: Pare Lorentz, in McCall's: "Ever since she was discovered in a jungle and a sarong, I have been puzzled as to what other claim to stardom Dorothy Lamour might have. After seeing her as the circus rider in 'Chad Hanna,' I am still puzzled." . . . Review of "Bittersweet," in Coronet: "A good chance to miss both Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald with one picture." . . . Review of New York play "My Fair Ladies" (Hollywood Reporter): "Very farced fetched." . . . Glen Newbold, Kansas theater owner: "I have never had a picture with the word 'love' in the title that did outstanding business."

Nat Pendleton reports a well known leading man who is being followed everywhere by a crystal gazer. Seems the clairvoyant saw a beautiful blonde in the actor's life—and he wants an introduction!

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

"I am fourteen and I go with a nice crowd at school. We have parties at one another's houses, at which we play kissing games. My father says I am not to play those games, and if I do I cannot go to the parties any more. He said he didn't think much of the crowd, if that was the only way we had of amusing ourselves. I want to go with the crowd I am used to but what can we play if we don't play those games? What's wrong about it?"

Father has much right on his side. A group of high school boys and girls surely should have more originality and ingenuity than this confining themselves to kissing games would indicate.

Kissing games are in bad taste because they call for the taking of personal liberties not otherwise approved in society. In plain words, people do not make an entertainment of kissing. That is a very personal, most intimate matter.

A girl who has the proper respect for herself and for her person does not allow anybody to paw and maul and kiss her. She keeps her kisses for the one special person to whom, in the fullness of time, they will belong. The girl whom every boy in the group can kiss will be the one nobody will want to kiss when proper kissing time comes. Keep out of it.

There Are Games Galore

What can you play? There are more games boys and girls can play than can be listed here or in a book. There are fruit basket, marching round Jerusalem, musical chairs, question games, guessing games, quiet table games. Then there are the games to be done with pencil and paper, many of them great fun—consequences, completing rhymes, capping verses.

The contest program is fine for a party. Provide for as many games as you will have groups—groups of two and four are best. Have a timekeeper and manager. Ring a bell at the end of the period allowed for each set of games, list the winners, pass the groups to the next game until each group has played every game. Give prizes for the winners. The more prizes the more fun, so give them for all kinds of achievements from the best to the worst score, from the quickest to the slowest.

A Job For Everyone

The secret of giving a good party where everybody has a good time and there are no wall flowers and no grouchers is to give everybody something to do. Put everybody on a committee. Greeters, waiters, helpers, scorers, property clerks, hostesses, radio manager—don't skip anything and don't skip anybody. When a guest has something to do he is at peace and ready to give his best to the occasion.

Have some regard for the house. Remember your mother and father have to use it again. Don't abuse furniture or floors. One of the committees can be the house committee to attend to this. Don't leave the decorating of the house to your mother but to a committee, and the same for clearing away afterward.

Don't expect your mother to be a maid for the party, kept hidden, and used for working purposes only. Good management frees her for background service, and puts the party on a higher footing.

Use your head and your hands more and you won't want to play the stupid kissing games your father most properly dislikes.

Troublesome habits in children develop into traits that alienate people from them, as they grow older. Check the trouble at its source. Sunday School Lesson

Sunday School Lesson For April 6
Text: Acts 1:1-12
By William E. Gilroy, D.D.
Editor of Advance

From the Gospels we turn now to six months' study in the Acts and the Epistles, continuing the story of the founding of the Christian church.

It is Luke, the beloved physician, whose story of the earthly life of Jesus is the fullest and most picturesque, to whom we are indebted for the further story of the events following the Resurrection. The source of this story is very properly called "the Book of the Acts," for it is essentially a story of action.

In the Epistles we find the discussion of matters of doctrine and the problems that arose in the early church, but here we have the record of events, the story of how the Christian church took root in various communities, and grew in fellowship and power despite persecution.

Jesus had charged His disciples to remain at Jerusalem, following His resurrection and Ascension, until they should receive the baptism of the Holy Spirit. His promise was that they would become witnesses for Him both in Jerusalem and to the uttermost parts of the earth. Most assuredly, men and women who were engaged in that enterprise needed to have faith and power.

One can hardly conceive of a more stupendous venture than for a little band of disciples, whose Master had been crucified and who were still subject to great prosecution, to set before themselves the goal of conquering the whole world with their faith and with the ideals of the Christian religion.

Yet, history has vindicated the faith of these disciples, and it has fulfilled the promise that Jesus gave of power to all who would go forth to witness and serve in His name.

We live in a world of strange contrasts. Today a great part of humanity is involved in war. An outburst of violence such as would have been inconceivable a generation ago has overtaken the world, reminding us of the power of evil. And yet, we see Christianity as a world-wide religion, living today as it lived in past ages alongside earthly powers of tyranny and wickedness.

It means that battles which we had supposed to be won have to be fought question regarding the outcome And we can receive power through all over again, but as valiant Christian soldiers we must pledge ourselves to live and, if need be die, for the faith, just as these disciples did of old.

If we have their faith, their vision, and their courage, there can be no the Holy Spirit just as did the disciples, if we are willing to undergo the disciple of preparation, consecration and prayer.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson

Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—You may have seen in this column reference to an alphabetical agency known as O. E. M., which stands for Office for Emergency Management. Such references may have struck you as being magnificently vague and marked more by what they didn't tell than by what they did. The slight, you can be assured, was intentional, for what O. E. M. is and what it does is one of the dandiest little mysteries of Washington.

If you will tag along, however, perhaps some light can be shed on the matter. At the same time you may have a better idea of how your government works, for O. E. M. is government to the nth degree. By a little oversimplification it may be said to be a creation intended to keep the government out of the hair of the defense agencies trying to do a job with no benefit of government red tape.

O. E. M. will be one year old come May 24, and it was sired by executive order No. 8248, out of section 1 (6). The functions were stated to be, (a) to assist the president in the clearance of information with respect to measures necessitated by the threatened emergency, (b) maintain liaison between the president and the Council of National Defense and other agencies, and (c) perform such additional duties as the president may direct.

That (c), you'll notice, is broad enough to cover such functions as convoying the fleet to Singapore or taking Fala, the president's Scottie, for his pre-bedtime stroll on the White House lawn.

From One Office To 16 Buildings

O. E. M. started as one man, William H. McReynolds, one of the president's administrative assistants. It now has 200 employes and is growing. It got its first money from the president's emergency funds, got some more when the president took a couple million away from the Council of National Defense, and will have available part of the $10 million earmarked for administration of the $7 billion British-aid bill.

Starting with one office which McReynolds had in the State Department building, the outfit has grown until it now reaches into 16 different government buildings, and it is doubtful if anyone except the messengers and a few of the executives have been in all the 16.

Twelve different government agencies connected with the defense effort are coordinated through the O. E. M.:

Defense Communications Board under James Lawrence Fly.

National Defense Mediation Board under Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra. Then come five divisions of the Advisory Commission (experts) to the Council of National Defense (six cabinet members who shape the broad outlines of war policy):

Division of Labor under Sidney Hillman.

Division of Agriculture under Chester C. Davis.

Division of Price Stabilization under Leon Henderson.

Created For Harmony

Now, the heads of all these 12 organizations don't have to run to O. E. M. every time they want to talk to the president. Each is an independent agency, and the idea of O. E. M. is not to cramp the style of any of the agencies, but to help them get along with each other and with other government agencies, and guide these emergency, civilian agencies through the maze of government procedure.

To do this, it has under McReynolds an executive director, Sidney Sherwood, an ex-Treasury Department organizer, and his assistant, Shane MacCarthy.

It has a budget and finance officer with a force of 50 under Jerome Guntner, whose job it is to handle the payroll, expenditures and bookkeeping for all these outfits except O. P. M., which is so big it takes care of its own financing.

In other words, the job of O. E. M. is largely housekeeping and secretarial and clerical. It's the servant of the defense effort.

If Leon Henderson and Harriet Elliott want a survey of the cost of living, to determine how much of a price downholding campaign they should put on, they call up Sherwood, who calls up the Bureau of Labor Statistics and asks them to do the job. If B. L. S. hasn't enough researchers or enough money, O. E. M. tells B. L. S. to hire the experts and charge it to O. E. M.

There has been talk that O. E. M. might be given a lot of authority and really run the defense show. That's now doubtful. What they would like is one building big enough to house their 12 branches now in the 16 buildings.

O. E. M.'s service department is now in one of the old temporary buildings built for World War 1. The building has been condemned for years, smoking is forbidden, and fire drills are regular. That's typical, perhaps of all the confusion there has been about O. E. M.

Simple, isn't it?

Deserts Hide Scars Of 4000 Years of War

THE Italo-British conflict on two African fronts is important in Europe's crisis, but the god of the Nile, pictured on the Italian East Africa stamp above, sees these campaigns as minor engagements in a struggle that has continued for more than 40 centuries. Greater conquerors than Mussolini have won and lost empires in the deserts of Africa.

The kings who built the Pyramids sent armies to battle in the desert. Assyrians and Persians conquered Egypt. Alexander extended Greek power to include the north of Africa.

Rome destroyed Carthage in the 3rd century B. C. and Augustus took Egypt as a prize of conquest in 30 B. C. Decline of Rome's power made the Mohammedan conquest easy in 639 A. D. The Crusades included an African expedition.

Napoleon ran into trouble when he launched an African campaign. Construction of the Suez Canal during the 19th century introduced British influence, but final peace was not effected without prolonged struggle.

Italy gained a foothold in Africa late in the 19th century, gained revenge for defeat at Adowa in 1898 by conquering Ethiopia in 1936, combined Eritrea, Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland into a single colony—Italian East Africa. Italian possession of Libya dates from 1912, following the Italo-Turkish war.

New York Day by Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Diary: Nearly all day writing, as penalty for having spent a few days scurrying about Manhattan, poking along the waterfront, and getting the typewriter go hang . . . Don the Beachcomber, whom I knew long ago in Hollywood, stops in for a call. Don, a sun-browned little man, has just returned from Jamaica, West Indies, and other islands down there. Don originated something in mode of entertainment, with his famous place in Hollywood, and has gone to law to protect his idea . . . A call from Thelma Nurenburg, whom I knew as a young lady adventurer in foreign parts several years ago. She has been married since, has a four-year-old baby, and is writing a book about racketeering in labor unions. She spent four weeks in District Attorney Tom Dewey's office, getting some of the material . . . Slug the pup, jumps upon my bed early every morning and barks very softly in my ear, to get me to work. He is calling me Sluggard, of course, to get even for that peculiar name of his . . . I have known Louis Dean, handsome radio and advertising man, for about ten years, and see him frequently. Yet I can never remember his name. It's embarrassing, no end, when I have somebody with me whom I want to introduce . . . But I have trouble remembering such names as Cass Gilbert, who designed the Woolworth Tower and the supreme court building in Washington; Walter Trumbull of the Will Hays office; Julian Street, the modern art man; Gourmet Crosby Gaige, Kenneth Hyatt, Rockefeller center tycoon, and even Gene Buck. I keep a list of these names scratched on a flap of the leather wallet that Frank Markey brought me from Venice. But there's never time to get out the wallet and study it when I meet these men in public . . . I'm studying the list now because I'll probably meet most of these people at the Dutch Treat dinner and show at the Waldorf, next Friday night . . . I've run out of the postcards on which I answer correspondents, and am rushing an order for another batch to my old friend, George Reynolds, at New Bedford . . . Seems a bit silly for a person in the heart of New York to be sending rush orders to New Bedford, but it only seems that way. Not a bit silly. George is my friend, he's worked hard on the absolute job of saving for posterity the old whaler Morgan—and he doesn't make mistakes . . . Customers please note leaflets about coffee and chile con carne have been exhausted and no more will be printed unless a demand for them piles up. There are still some leaflets about dogs, entitled "One Man's Dog," for those who send stamped envelopes. A great many thousands of these have gone out to dog-lovers. There's a picture of Captain Kidd sitting up for his master . . . And that reminds me that my wife and I were noticing only yesterday that the Captain's eyes do not look as bright as they used to. They have a rather sad, dim, peering expression . . . The Captain had beautiful eyes, but he is well past nine years old now, and I suppose age is dimming the vision . . . Many Pennsylvania customers have mailed me copies of the Reading Eagle in which, [illegible], the picture of Westbrook Pegler was printed with my column, and my picture went with Pegler's column . . . Well, the pose was of Pegler, who is a goodlooking young [illegible] . . . Such mistakes in makeup occur quite naturally on all papers from time to time. If you ever saw the rush of it, [illegible] experienced men [illegible] the type and pictures [illegible], and watching the second hand of the clock for press time, you wouldn't wonder at an occasional slip . . . The two finest heads of white hair I know about belong to Joe McGovern, Bridgeport editor, and Terry Ramsaye, movie magazine editor . . . Joe Kiely, man-about-America, and Frank Ryan, elevator starter in the Times building are runners-up . . . Jimmy Walker's hair keeps getting blacker and blacker, despite his troubles. It turned two shades in the night when Mayor La Guardia appointed Jimmy to a $20,000 job . . . City Room, restaurant venture of Newspaperman Walter Marshall, on the East Side, closed after months of [illegible] business, but there is a rumor that Marshall hasn't given up the idea of providing for his old age with a restaurant . . . City Room served good steaks most of the time, but there wasn't enough atmosphere for the prices charged, and the boss was so busy with his newspaper job and all that he seldom had time to stop and chat with his old friends . . . Chewing on a cold chicken bone, here in the study, with a shake of roastmeat salt and chile pepper as an excuse for not finishing this column right away. I'm reminded that even a tough old rooster can be made palatable and tender the way my wife cooks them, Swedish style . . . but, that bone having given out, I suppose I'd better finish the column.

The Darkness Deepens

It has been usual to think of the overflowing of the Nazi tide across Europe as a sort of blackout, a darkening of the spiritual lamps which cast light on many peoples. But the details of this blackout as revealed by the Rockefeller Foundation's annual report, are genuinely terrifying. The Foundation, which has extended help to many European institutions of learning, is in close touch with them. There is every reason to believe that the picture it paints is accurate.

The pattern has been followed in country after country. At first the universities and schools are allowed to carry on with their work, under close supervision of both teaching and student activities by Nazi functionaries. Then, gradually, an attempt is made to force on them a "cultural program" similar to that in force in the German universities. That brings resistance from teachers and students accustomed to freedom. Then comes repression, the closing of the universities, the sending of teachers to concentration camps, the breaking up by force of student demonstrations.

The Czech universities were closed, and most of their students deported to forced labor in Germany. In Holland, Poland, Norway, and Belgium there has been turmoil and resistance, and such university life as remains is under the strictest Nazi supervision. Over the whole continent, the number of teachers has been reduced at least 50 per cent, the Foundation estimates. The universities lead a precarious and dwindling existence. Soon it will be dark.

Why is this important? Not merely because of the individual tragedies to thousands directly affected. Because the science and learning fostered in their universities and institutions was of value to all the people; even those who never stepped on to a campus or through an academic door profited by free academic institutions.

What now? "Knowledge has never flowered in a subject people," says the report. "It is only free men who dare to think, and it is only through free thought that the soul of a people can be kept alive."

Worse than the bombing of buildings, worse than the maiming of bodies, is this deliberate attempt by repression and violence and propaganda, to destroy the soul of peoples.

BREAD AS PROPAGANDA

What happened to an American Red Cross shipment of wheat to Fascist Spain carries its own lesson in connection with any American desire to ship food to Nazi-conquered Europe. Fascist Spain is a protege of Hitler and Mussolini. Britain opened her blockade for the Red Cross ship Cold Harbor to unload 1,200 tons of American wheat at Barcelona. This wheat was intended for from 90,000 to 100,000 persons on relief.

The Spanish authorities insisted that the wheat should be placed at once in a government warehouse. Falangist bakers refused to permit direct distribution to relief agencies. The authorities ruled that the flour should be used for the population of Barcelona as a whole instead of being reserved for those on relief. A telephonic dispatch from Madrid to the New York Times describes the result as follows:

"What it comes down to is that the United States has supplied Spain with 1,200 extra tons of flour to feed the entire civilian population of Barcelona, not solely the 90,000 to 100,000 most in need. Few of the consumers will know where the flour came from. The plan to wrap the bread in paper bearing the name of the American Red Cross or to put Red Cross stickers on the bread has had to be abandoned."

This incident suggests that not even the American Red Cross can expect fair treatment when it suits totalitarian purposes to treat it otherwise. The American Red Cross furnished the flour, Britain permitted it to pass her blockade, but Barcelonians who eat this bread will never know that it didn't come from Franco.

Bread, as an instrument of propaganda, which is one argument urged for provisioning Belgium and other conquered countries, seems to be an uncertain weapon. Dictators, if not using it for their own ends, will see to it that neither the United States nor Great Britain gets credit for furnishing it.

SPIKE THE RUMORS

Canadian officials are again worried by rumors spreading over the United States that food is being closely rationed and that gasoline has gone to prohibitive prices of 90 cents a gallon. Neither these nor other rumors of difficulties for Americans traveling in Canada have the slightest foundation of truth. There is good reason to suspect that these rumors have been deliberately started and spread by those who have an interest in preventing transfer of American dollars to Canada.

Canada quite frankly seeks those American dollars, because she needs them to send back to the United States for war material and her tremendous ordinary purchases. But in 1940 American travel in Canada slumped badly. No doubt part of that slump was due to ridiculous rumors.

This is the year to travel in the Americas, in Canada, Mexico, or other hemisphere countries. Spike the rumors which seek to reduce this mutually advantageous travel.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, March 29.—Lana Turner's wearing another new ring, a dazzling sapphire from Tony Martin. . . . Which reminds me, Vic Mature was robbed twice in a week in NY, losing the ruby-and-gold cuff links Lana gave him. . . . Jane Wyatt, who quit films after "Lost Horizon" to have babies, has been quietly signed by RKO for a comeback.

Rudy Vallee and his "discovery," Joan Merrill, are feuding on the "Time Out For Rhythm" sets. . . . Dental surgeons had to crack Brenda Joyce's jaw to extract a wisdom tooth, but it won't bar her trip to Salt Lake City for a Greek benefit. . . . Linda Darnell and Cameraman Lee Crawford have joined the regular daters.

Bubbles (ex Mrs. Wayne Morris) Schinasi has turned model back East; she'll adorn the new Avalon ciggie ads. . . . Hear Ray Bolger is so hot in "Sunny," the film may be premiered in his home town, Boston. . . . Wonder if Betty Grable knows George Raft is still trying to make up with Virginia Pine? . . . Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire WILL do a new musical together; contracts are being drawn now.

James Stephenson reports a letter from his brother, now engaged in demolishing unexploded bombs dropped on England, in which the brother says many bombs contain no powder—only notes of encouragement from Czecho-Slovakian munitions workers. . . . Whatever became of the Nelson Eddy's plan to adopt a baby? . . . Local health authorities are guarding against a measles epidemic.

Boris Karloff takes time out of "Lavender and Old Lace." NY play to rush here in June for "The Boogie Man Will Get You". . . . Not-to-be-overlooked: MGM's laudable gesture, when long-ill Veda Ann Borg was signed, in giving her a bonus sufficient to pay two years' accumulated hospital and doctors bills.

Laugh of the Week: At Universal, scenes necessitating the sound of rain-on-the-roof were being filmed for "The Black Cat." On their completion, Director Al Rogell ordered technicians to turn off the rain-making apparatus—and at that moment, one of California's freak cloud-bursts started. "I said SHUT OFF THAT BLANKETY-BLANK RAIN!" roared Rogell. The sound effects man, equally irascible that ayem, eyes him sourly. "Do it yourself," he snapped. "Judging by your language, you're on more intimate terms with God than I am!"

Mutterings: No wonder Hays office censors looked the other way when Veronica Lake donned that low-cut evening gown for "I wanted Wings"—any gentleman would feel obligated to do the same! . . . Ode to mayhem: "Mr. Eddy, your singing's almost as good as Tony Martin's, only you don't put as much feeling into it." . . . Nervous itch: To soak Mickey Rooney's unruly forelock in b'ar grease and comb it straight back. . . . Silly notion: Constance Bennett dodging an argument because agreement might be better policy. . . . Suicidal impulse: To ask "Big Boy" Williams for an interview on his now-cold romance with Lupe Velez.

There's a dash of irony in Tyrone Power's present disagreement with his studio. The starting date for his next picture, "A Yank in the R. A. F.," in which he plays a daring flyer, has been postponed two weeks. Tyrone, having worked without lull in two very tough assignments, wanted to use the fortnight for a vacation jaunt to Mazatlan, Mexico. The only way to get there and back, and still have time to rest, is to fly. But that studio heads refuse to sanction. They say flying is too dangerous.

Seven Years Ago in Hollywood: Norma Talmadge, after divorcing Joseph Schenck in Mexico, dashed to New York to wed Georgie Jessel. . . . Hollywood mourned the suicide of Karl ("The Big Parade") Dane. . . . Racquel Torres and Stephen (Adirenne's ex) Ames were married. . . . Dick Foran's Dad, an eastern financier, threatened to disinherit his movie-struck son because of a rumored romance with a blonde actress (Alice Faye). . . . Gloria Swanson started divorce action against her fourth husband, Michael Farmer. . . . Ginger Rogers filed a $100,000 suit against Mme. Sylvia, Hollywood masseuse, over an alleged belittling impersonation of Ginger on a radio program.

What Others Say: Pare Lorentz, in McCall's: "Ever since she was discovered in a jungle and a sarong, I have been puzzled as to what other claim to stardom Dorothy Lamour might have. After seeing her as the circus rider in 'Chad Hanna,' I am still puzzled." . . . Review of "Bittersweet," in Coronet: "A good chance to miss both Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald with one picture." . . . Review of New York play "My Fair Ladies" (Hollywood Reporter): "Very farced fetched." . . . Glen Newbold, Kansas theater owner: "I have never had a picture with the word 'love' in the title that did outstanding business."

Nat Pendleton reports a well known leading man who is being followed everywhere by a crystal gazer. Seems the clairvoyant saw a beautiful blonde in the actor's life—and he wants an introduction!

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

"I am fourteen and I go with a nice crowd at school. We have parties at one another's houses, at which we play kissing games. My father says I am not to play those games, and if I do I cannot go to the parties any more. He said he didn't think much of the crowd, if that was the only way we had of amusing ourselves. I want to go with the crowd I am used to, but what can we play if we don't play those games? What's wrong about it?"

Father has much right on his side. A group of high school boys and girls surely should have more originality and ingenuity than this confining themselves to kissing games would indicate.

Kissing games are in bad taste because they call for the taking of personal liberties not otherwise approved in society. In plain words, people do not make an entertainment of kissing. That is a very personal, most intimate matter.

A girl who has the proper respect for herself and for her person does not allow anybody to paw and maul and kiss her. She keeps her kisses for the one special person to whom, in the fullness of time, they will belong. The girl whom every boy in the group can kiss will be the one nobody will want to kiss when proper kissing time comes. Keep out of it.

There Are Games Galore

What can you play? There are more games boys and girls can play than can be listed here or in a book. There are fruit basket, marching round Jerusalem, musical chairs, question games, guessing games, quiet table games. Then there are the games to be done with pencil and paper, many of them great fun—consequences, completing rhymes, capping verses.

The contest program is fine for a party. Provide for as many games as you will have groups—groups of two and four are best. Have a timekeeper and manager. Ring a bell at the end of the period allowed for each set of games, list the winners, pass the groups to the next game until each group has played every game. Give prizes for the winners. The more prizes the more fun, so give them for all kinds of achievements from the best to the worst score, from the quickest to the slowest.

A Job For Everyone

The secret of giving a good party, where everybody has a good time and there are no wall flowers and no grouchers, is to give everybody something to do. Put everybody on a committee. Greeters, waiters, helpers, scorers, property clerks, hostesses, radio manager—don't skip anything and don't skip anybody. When a guest has something to do he is at peace and ready to give his best to the occasion.

Have some regard for the house. Remember your mother and father have to use it again. Don't abuse furniture or floors. One of the committees can be the house committee to attend to this. Don't leave the decorating of the house to your mother but to a committee, and the same for clearing away afterward.

Don't expect your mother to be a maid for the party, kept hidden, and used for working purposes only. Good management frees her for background service, and puts the party on a higher footing.

Use your head and your hands more and you won't want to play the stupid kissing games your father most properly dislikes.

Troublesome habits in children develop into traits that alienate people from them, as they grow older. Check the trouble at its source. Sunday School Lesson

Sunday School Lesson For April 6
Text: Acts 1:1-12
By William E. Gilroy, D.D.
Editor of Advance

From the Gospels we turn now to six months' study in the Acts and the Epistles, continuing the story of the founding of the Christian church.

It is Luke, the beloved physician, whose story of the earthly life of Jesus is the fullest and most picturesque, to whom we are indebted for the further story of the events following the Resurrection. The source of this story is very properly called "the Book of the Acts," for it is essentially a story of action.

In the Epistles we find the discussion of matters of doctrine and the problems that arose in the early church, but here we have the record of events, the story of how the Christian church took root in various communities, and grew in fellowship and power despite persecution.

Jesus had charged His disciples to remain at Jerusalem, following His resurrection and Ascension, until they should receive the baptism of the Holy Spirit. His promise was that they would become witnesses for Him both in Jerusalem and to the uttermost parts of the earth. Most assuredly, men and women who were engaged in that enterprise needed to have faith and power.

One can hardly conceive of a more stupendous venture than for a little band of disciples, whose Master had been crucified and who were still subject to great prosecution, to set before themselves the goal of conquering the whole world with their faith and with the ideals of the Christian religion.

Yet, history has vindicated the faith of these disciples, and it has fulfilled the promise that Jesus gave of power to all who would go forth to witness and serve in His name.

We live in a world of strange contrasts. Today a great part of humanity is involved in war. An outburst of violence such as would have been inconceivable a generation ago has overtaken the world, reminding us of the power of evil. And yet, we see Christianity as a world-wide religion, living today as it lived in past ages alongside earthly powers of tyranny and wickedness.

It means that battles which we had supposed to be won have to be fought question regarding the outcome

And we can receive power through all over again, but as valiant Christian soldiers we must pledge ourselves to live and, if need be die, for the faith, just as these disciples did of old.

If we have their faith, their vision, and their courage, there can be no the Holy Spirit just as did the disciples, if we are willing to undergo the disciple of preparation, consecration and prayer.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson

(Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—You may have seen in this column reference to an alphabetical agency known as O. E. M., which stands for Office for Emergency Management. Such references may have struck you as being magnificently vague, and marked more by what they didn't tell than by what they did. The slight, you can be assured, was intentional, for what O. E. M. is and what it does is one of the dandiest little mysteries of Washington.

If you will tag along, however, perhaps some light can be shed on the matter. At the same time you may have a better idea of how your government works, for O. E. M. is government to the nth degree. By a little over-simplification it may be said to be a creation intended to keep the government out of the hair of the defense agencies trying to do a job without benefit of government red tape.

O. E. M. will be one year old come May 24, and it was sired by executive order No. 8248, out of section I (6). The functions were stated to be, (a) to assist the president in the clearance of information with respect to measures necessitated by the threatened emergency; (b) maintain liaison between the president and the Council of National Defense and other agencies; and (c) perform such additional duties as the president may direct.

That (c), you'll notice, is broad enough to cover such functions as convoying the fleet to Singapore or taking Falla, the president's Scottie, for his pre-bedtime stroll on the White House lawn.

From One Office To 16 Buildings

O. E. M. started as one man, William H. McReynolds, one of the president's administrative assistants. It now has 200 employes and is growing. It got its first money from the president's emergency funds, got some more when the president took a couple million away from the Council of National Defense, and will have available part of the $10 million earmarked for administration of the $7 billion British-aid bill.

Starting with one office which McReynolds had in the State Department building, the outfit has grown until it now reaches into 16 different government buildings, and it is doubtful if anyone except the messengers and a few of the executives have been in all the 16.

Twelve different government agencies connected with the defense effort are coordinated through the O. E. M.:

Defense Research Committee, under Dr. Vannevar Bush.
Defense Communications Board under James Lawrence Fly.

National Defense Mediation Board under Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra. Then come five divisions of the Advisory Commission (experts) to the Council of National Defense (six cabinet members who shape the broad outlines of war policy):

Division of Labor under Sidney Hillman.
Division of Agriculture under Chester C. Davis.
Division of Price Stabilization under Leon Henderson.

Created For Harmony

Now, the heads of all these 12 organizations don't have to run to O. E. M. every time they want to talk to the president. Each is an independent agency, and the idea of O. E. M. is not to cramp the style of any of the agencies, but to help them get along with each other and with other government agencies, and guide these emergency, civilian agencies through the maze of government procedure.

To do this, it has under McReynolds an executive director, Sidney Sherwood, an ex-Treasury Department organizer, and his assistant, Shane MacCarthy.

It has a budget and finance officer with a force of 50 under Jerome Gunther, whose job it is to handle the payroll, expenditures and bookkeeping for all these outfits except O. P. M., which is so big it takes care of its own financing.

In other words, the job of O. E. M. is largely housekeeping and secretarial and clerical. It's the servant of the defense effort.

If Leon Henderson and Harriet Elliott want a survey of the cost of living, to determine how much of a price downholding campaign they should put on, they call up Sherwood, who calls up the Bureau of Labor Statistics and asks them to do the job. If B. L. S. hasn't enough researchers or enough money, O. E. M. tells B. L. S. to hire the experts and charge it to O. E. M.

There has been talk that O. E. M. might be given a lot of authority and really run the defense show. That's now doubtful. What they would like is one building big enough to house their 12 branches now in the 16 buildings.

O. E. M.'s service department is now in one of the old temporary buildings built for World War 1. The building has been condemned for years, smoking is forbidden, and fire drills are regular. That's typical, perhaps of all the confusion there has been about O. E. M.

Simple, isn't it?

AFRICA ORIENTALE ITALIANA

Deserts Hide Scars Of 4000 Years of War

THE Italo-British conflict on two African fronts is important in Europe's crisis, but the god of the Nile, pictured on the Italian East Africa stamp above, sees these campaigns as minor engagements in a struggle that has continued for more than 40 centuries. Greater conquerors than Mussolini have won and lost empires in the deserts of Africa.

The kings who built the Pyramids sent armies to battle in the desert; Assyrians and Persians conquered Egypt. Alexander extended Greek power to include the north of Africa.

Rome destroyed Carthage in the 3rd century B. C. and Augustus took Egypt as a prize of conquest in 30 B. C. Decline of Rome's power made the Mohammedan conquest easy in 639 A. D. The Crusades included an African expedition.

Napoleon ran into trouble when he launched an African campaign. Construction of the Suez Canal during the 19th century introduced British influence, but final peace was not effected without prolonged struggle.

Italy gained a foothold in Africa late in the 19th century, gained revenge for defeat at Adowa in 1898 by conquering Ethiopia in 1936, combined Eritrea, Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland into a single colony—Italian East Africa. Italian possession of Libya dates from 1912, following the Italo-Turkish war.

New York Day by Day

Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—Diary: Nearly all day writing, as penalty for having spent a few days scurrying about Manhattan, poking along the waterfront, and letting the typewriter go hang . . . Don the Beachcomber, whom I knew long ago in Hollywood, stops in for a call. Don, a sun-browned little man, has just returned from Jamaica, West Indies, and other islands down there. Don originated something in mode of entertainment, with his famous place in Hollywood, and has gone to law to protect his idea . . . A call from Thelma Nurenburg, whom I knew as a young lady adventurer in foreign parts several years ago. She has been married since, has a four- years-old baby, and is writing a book about racketeering in labor unions. She spent four weeks in District Attorney Tom Dewey's office, getting some of the material . . . Slug the pup, jumps upon my bed early every morning and barks very softly in my ear, to get me to work. He is calling me Sluggard, of course, to get even for that peculiar name of his . . . I have known Louis Dean, handsome radio and advertising man, for about ten years, and see him frequently. Yet I can never remember his name. It's embarrasing, no end, when I have somebody with me whom I want to introduce . . . But I have trouble remembering such names as Cass Gilbert, who designed the Woolworth Tower and the supreme court building in Washington; Walter Trumbull, of the Will Hayes office; Julian Street, the modern art man; Gourmet Crosby Geige, Kenneth Hyatt, Rockefeller center tycoon, and even Gene Buck. I keep a list of these names scratched on a flap of the leather wallet that Frank Markey brought me from Venice. But there's never time to get out the wallet an study it when I meet these men public . . . I'm studying the list no because I'll probably meet most these people at the Dutch Treat dinner and show at the Waldorf, ne Friday night . . . I've run out of th postcards on which I answer correspondents, and am rushing an order for another batch to my old friend, George Reynolds, at New Bedford . . . Seems a bit silly for a person in the heart of New York to be sending rush orders to New Bedford, but it only seems that way. Not a bit silly. George is my friend, he's worked hard on the idealistic job of saving for posterity the old whaler Morgan—and he doesn't make mistakes . . . Customers please note: leaflets about coffee and chile con carne have been exhausted, and no more will be printed unless a demand for them piles up. There are still some leaflets about dogs, entitled "One Man's Dog," for those who send stamped envelopes. A good many thousands of these have gone out to dog-lovers. There's a picture of Captain Kidd, sitting up for his master . . . And that reminds me that my wife and I were noticing only yesterday that the Captain's eyes do not look as bright as they used to. They have a rather sad, dim, peering expression . . . The Captain had beautiful eyes, but he is well past nin years old now, and I suppose age i dimming the vision . . . Many Pennsylvania customers have mailed m copies of the Reading Eagle in which by error, the picture of Westbro Pegler was printed with my column and my picture went with Pegler column . . . Well, the poke was o Pegler, who is a goodlooking youn fellow . . . Such mistakes in makeup occur quite naturally on all paper from time to time. If you ever saw the rush of makeup, with experienced men, reading the type and pictures backward, and watching the second hand of the clock for press time, yo wouldn't wonder at an occasional sli . . . The two finest heads of whi hair I know about belongs to Ji McGovern, Bridgeport editor, an Terry Ramsaye, movie magazine editor . . . Jed Kiley, man-about-America, and Frank Ryan, elevator starte in the Times building, are runners-up . . . Jimmy Walker's hair keeps getting blacker and blacker, despite hi troubles. It moved two shades in the night when Mayor La Guardi appointed Jimmy to a $20,000 job . . City Room, restaurant venture of Newspaperman Walter Marshall, o the East Side, closed after months o so-so business, but there is a rumo that Marshall hasn't given up the ide of providing for his old age with a restaurant . . . City Room served good steaks most of the time, but ther wasn't enough atmosphere for th prices charged, and the boss was s busy with his newspaper job and a that he seldom had time to stop and chat with his old friends . . . Chewing on a cold chicken bone, here in the study, with a shake of roastmeat sal and chile pepper, as an excuse for no finishing this column right away, I'm reminded that even a tough old rooster can be made palatable and tender the way my wife cooks them, Swedish style . . . but, that bone having give out, I suppose I'd better finish th column.

V. F. W. POST TO ELECT OFFICERS

Post Commander Releases Open Letter On Matter Of Positions

Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will elect officers for the coming year at the meeting to be held Thursday night. All members are urged to attend.

Post Commander H. M. James Saturday released a letter written to Dr. J. C. Menendez, national V. F. W. commander, by George L. Dixon, junior national vice-commander of the organization, calling for the giving of more consideration for veterans when filling positions in army camps.

The letter follows, in part:

"It has just come to my attention that there will be approximately 600 civilian jobs at each army camp in this section of the state. I am taking the liberty of writing you requesting that you take up with proper authorities the possibility of securing as many of these jobs as possible for ex-service men, these brave boys who wore the khaki in 1917-18. Many of them are today unable to do hard manual labor on account of injuries received.

"There are a number of World war veterans and veterans of other wars in this section, as well as throughout Louisiana, who are capable of holding jobs at these camps. Some have families that are dependent on them for support.

"Many of these boys were deprived of their small compensation payment due to passage of the economy act sponsored by the National Economy league, which was composed of multi-millionaires. I think our great government will render a real service to a real group of patriotic American citizens by assisting these veterans in securing permanent jobs at the army camps.

"I had occasion to discuss the individual problems with many veterans myself. I know of their needs. You will do a great service if you will take up with the proper authorities the matter referred to above. Count on me for any aid that I may be able to give."

SEWING MACHINE MENDER IS JAILED

A man from Texas posing as a sewing machine company representative was placed in parish jail after his arrest late Friday on United States highway 80 near here when he failed to return with change on a repair job in West Monroe, Chief of Police Jeff Caldwell said last night.

Charged with larceny of $4.50, William Joe Hargis, 56, Dallas, was arrested by the state police, West Monroe police, and deputies from the sheriff's office here.

Hargis repaired a sewing machine for Mrs. C. L. Kincaid, 804 Montgomery street, and charged her 50 cents for the job. Failing to have the correct change, she gave him a $5 bill, and requested that he have the bill changed and brought to her. He failed to return, police said.

EXEMPTION SHEETS ARE NOW PREPARED

Homestead exemption forms have been prepared and can be filled out by the property owners in the tax assessor's office in the courthouse here between Monday and April 15, Bert Coverdale, chief deputy assessor in Ouachita parish, announced Saturday.

Forms for three-year exemptions on new improvements are also ready. The forms can be filled out until April 15, Mr. Coverdale said.

"Property owners in the two municipalities, Monroe and West Monroe, should sign their exemption sheets as soon as possible, as the majority of property owners in the parish outside of the two municipalities have already signed," Mr. Coverdale, adding that "the forms must be filled out each year and not only once as many erroneously believe."

SUGAR-CURED FISH

SEATTLE—(AP)—The latest of Juvenile Judge William G. Long's angling inventions is "the William G. Long dissolving sinker" for long casts with a dry fly. The judge simply bores a hole through a cube of sugar, loops the leader through the hole, and makes his cast. The sugar carries the fly to the desired spot and dissolves.

The leader pulls free, the fly floats temptingly, and before you can say "Piscatorial Pursuit!" another trout is flapping at the judge's feet.

'ALL OUT' AID GIVEN BY FORD

Productive And Experimental Facilities Mobilized By Company

The productive and experimental facilities of the Ford Motor company are being mobilized and expanded to help defend America. Here is the record of progress to date:

1. A $21,000,000 steel and concrete airplance engine plant is rapidly nearing completion. Ground was broken September 17 and on November 24 excavation and foundation was completed. More than 4,000 tons of steel piling was driven down 100 feet to bedrock for the foundation. Construction of the 9,000-ton steel framework started November 24 and was completed January 24, four days ahead of schedule. Cement crews and carpenters already were at work and the structure is scheduled to be completed by the end of March. The plant will be in production in June.

2. To supply the skilled workers required for fabricating airplane parts, an aircraft apprentice school, equipped to train 2,000 students at one time, has been established in the new airplane engine plant. Equipment for the school has been installed and 198 students who began their training in temporary quarters in the Ford Trade school moved into the new building in February. The volume of applicants is so great that only one in 40 can be accepted.

3. Because the nation's facilities for producing magnesium castings are below the requirements of the expanding defense program, the Ford Motor company has built its own $800,000 magnesium alloy foundry, now in partial production. This is one of the few plants of its kind in the country and probably the largest magnesium alloy foundry in the world. The lightness and strength of magnesium alloy—it is as strong as cast iron but weighs only one-quarter as much—make it vital in airplane construction. The Ford foundry has begun limited production and when the engine plant opens in June the foundry will supply 110,000 pounds of lightweight castings a month.

4. A complete United States navy service school to train navy recruits in technical duties is in operation in the heart of the Rouge plant. The school was dedicated on January 15 and the first detachment of sailor recruits is now being trained there. Another 300 recruits will arrive early next month and in May the school will reach its full enrollment of 1,200 students. Its three-month courses will graduate 4,500 trained technicians into the navy each year.

The school was provided and equipped by Henry Ford through the Ford Motor company, at no expense to the government. It was erected in the record time of 40 days. Rear Admiral John Downes, commander of the Ninth Naval district, calls the school "the most important training center the navy has for schooling its duties they will be called upon to newly enlisted men in the mechaniperform." The school is staffed by Ford Trade and Apprentice school instructors and the $2,000,000 equipment of the Ford industrial schools is at the disposal of the navy students.

5. Several types of military vehicles are being produced for the army at the Rouge plant and Ford branch plants. Ford has built 1,200 army staff cars and will build 600 more. Ford is building bomb service trucks, which have cranes for hoisting bombs into place under the wings of the big planes. These are coming off the line at the rate of 12 to 15 a day.

Especially interesting are the 1,500 reconnaissance and command cars which Ford began building in February. These four-wheel-drive 81-inch wheelbase trucks carry machine guns and a crew of three men 60 miles an hour. Only three feet in height and weighing only slightly more than a ton, the cars are designed to be hidden in brush and are said to climb steeper hills than tanks.

Ford has built 50 chassis for field kitchens for the British War Relief Society, Inc.

6. Experimental plans for the production of a 1,500-horsepower airplane engine of original design, which could be turned out in huge quantities by the mass production methods pioneered by the Ford company, are being formulated.

7. Facilities of the Highland Park plant of the Ford Motor company have been placed at the disposal of the Red Cross Motor Corps, which is training women volunteers for active work in motor transport, should a national emergency develop.

SEWING MACHINE MENDER IS JAILED

A man from Texas posing as a sewing machine company representative was placed in parish jail after his arrest late Friday on United States highway 80 near here when he failed to return with change on a repair job in West Monroe, Chief of Police Jeff Caldwell said last night.

Charged with larceny of $4.50, William Joe Hargis, 56, Dallas, was arrested by the state police, West Monroe police, and deputies from the sheriff's office here.

Hargis repaired a sewing machine for Mrs. C. L. Kincaid, 804 Montgomery street, and charged her 50 cents for the job. Failing to have the correct change, she gave him a $5 bill, and requested that he have the bill changed and brought to her. He failed to return, police said.

EXEMPTION SHEETS ARE NOW PREPARED

Homestead exemption forms have been prepared and can be filled out by the property owners in the tax assessor's office in the courthouse here between Monday and April 15, Bert Coverdale, chief deputy assessor in Ouachita parish, announced Saturday.

Forms for three-year exemptions on new improvements are also ready. The forms can be filled out until April 15, Mr. Coverdale said.

"Property owners in the two municipalities, Monroe and West Monroe, should sign their exemption sheets as soon as possible, as the majority of property owners in the parish outside of the two municipalities have already signed," Mr. Coverdale, adding that "the forms must be filled out each year and not only once as many erroneously believe."

SUGAR-CURED FISH

SEATTLE—(AP)—The latest of Juvenile Judge William G. Long's angling inventions is "the William G. Long dissolving sinker" for long casts with a dry fly. The judge simply bores a hole through a cube of sugar, loops the leader through the hole, and makes his cast. The sugar carries the fly to the desired spot and dissolves.

The leader pulls free, the fly floats temptingly, and before you can say "Piscatorial Pursuit!" another trout is flapping at the judge's feet.

'ALL OUT' AID GIVEN BY FORD

Productive And Experimental Facilities Mobilized By Company

The productive and experimental facilities of the Ford Motor company are being mobilized and expanded to help defend America. Here is the record of progress to date:

1. A $21,000,000 steel and concrete airplance engine plant is rapidly nearing completion. Ground was broken September 17 and on November 24 excavation and foundation was completed. More than 4,000 tons of steel piling was driven down 100 feet to bedrock for the foundation. Construction of the 9,000-ton steel framework started November 24 and was completed January 24, four days ahead of schedule. Cement crews and carpenters already were at work and the structure is scheduled to be completed by the end of March. The plant will be in production in June.

2. To supply the skilled workers required for fabricating airplane parts, an aircraft apprentice school, equipped to train 2,000 students at one time, has been established in the new airplane engine plant. Equipment for the school has been installed and 198 students who began their training in temporary quarters in the Ford Trade school moved into the new building in February. The volume of applicants is so great that only one in 40 can be accepted.

3. Because the nation's facilities for producing magnesium castings are below the requirements of the expanding defense program, the Ford Motor company has built its own $800,000 magnesium alloy foundry, now in partial production. This is one of the few plants of its kind in the country and probably the largest magnesium alloy foundry in the world. The lightness and strength of magnesium alloy —it is as strong as cast iron but weighs only one-quarter as much—make it vital in airplane construction. The Ford foundry has begun limited production and when the engine plant opens in June the foundry will supply 110,000 pounds of lightweight castings a month.

4. A complete United States navy service school to train navy recruits in technical duties is in operation in the heart of the Rouge plant. The school was dedicated on January 15 and the first detachment of sailor recruits is now being trained there. Another 300 recruits will arrive early next month and in May the school will reach its full enrollment of 1,200 students. Its three-month courses will graduate 4,500 trained technicians into the navy each year.

The school was provided and equipped by Henry Ford through the Ford Motor company, at no expense to the government. It was erected in the record time of 40 days. Rear Admiral John Downes, commander of the Ninth Naval district, calls the school "the most important training center the navy has for schooling its duties they will be called upon to newly enlisted men in the mechaniperform." The school is staffed by Ford Trade and Apprentice school instructors and the $2,000,000 equipment of the Ford industrial schools is at the disposal of the navy students.

5. Several types of military vehicles are being produced for the army at the Rouge plant and Ford branch plants. Ford has built 1,200 army staff cars and will build 600 more. Ford is building bomb service trucks, which have cranes for hoisting bombs into place under the wings of the big planes. These are coming off the line at the rate of 12 to 15 a day.

Especially interesting are the 1,500 reconnaissance and command cars which Ford began building in February. These four-wheel-drive 81-inch wheelbase trucks carry machine guns and a crew of three men 60 miles an hour. Only three feet in height and weighing only slightly more than a ton, the cars are designed to be hidden in brush and are said to climb steeper hills than tanks.

Ford has built 50 chassis for field kitchens for the British War Relief Society, Inc.

6. Experimental plans for the production of a 1,500-horsepower airplane engine of original design, which could be turned out in huge quantities by the mass production methods pioneered by the Ford company, are being formulated.

7. Facilities of the Highland Park plant of the Ford Motor company have been placed at the disposal of the Red Cross Motor Corps, which is training women volunteers for active work in motor transport, should a national emergency develop.

JEFFERSON PARISH INQUIRY PROPOSED

Hayes Suggests Commission Investigation Check Endorsements

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29.—(AP)—An official report of Supervisor of Public Funds Jerome A. Hayes today proposed that the crime commission investigate endorsements of Jefferson parish police jurors allegedly found on cashed checks for road employes' wages.

The report also declared that Lemuel W. Higgins, superintendent for the parish board of education, sold land to the police jury and the city of New Orleans at prices which "appear excessive."

It listed more than $100,000 in the parish's disbursements and transfers as "irregularities," principally for lack of supporting explanations.

The supervisor pointed out too that during the year ending June 30, 1940, $16,468.75 was paid into the sheriff's salary fund for feeding prisoners in the parish jail while the actual cost "as per the records of the sheriff's office," was $3,354.66, about 17 cents per prisoner per day, so that the fund profited by $13,114.09.

"We suggest that the police jury revise the existing ordinance by reducing th efee to be paid from 85 cents to 50 cents per day per prisoner," he commented. "While it is not directly within our province to make recommendation regarding the nature of the food purchased and served to the prisoners, we are inclined to believe that the very low cost of feeding the prisoners indicates that they are not being properly fed."

Hayes listed 27 checks, totaling $2,134.50, issue din payment for road maintenance work, and commented, "24 of the checks contain the second endorsement of Ed E. Feitel; two, that of Edw. M. Gordon; and one, that of Leon Gendron. These disbursements should be further investigated by the Louisiana crime commission."

"Furthermore," Hayes continued, "such endorsements give the appearance of these police jurors having dealt in their parish paper in violation of Act 16 of 1920, which states in part, 'no police juror shall be interested either directly or indirectly in any contract the payment of which comes out of his parish treasury. Nor shall they be allowed to deal in their parish paper.'"

The supervisor said Higgins purchased a tract of land May 29, 1937 for $2,700, and sold it in three parcels, one to the city of New Orleans Sept. 20, 1938, for $6,000; another to the Jefferson parish police jury April 4, 1939, for $2,200 and another to Mrs. Ione A. Busing on June 23, 1939, for $2,400, or a total of $10,600.

"The prices he received from the city of New Orleans and the Jefferson parish police jury are approximately in the same ratio as the sizes of the tracts sold," Hayes commented. "However, these prices appear excessive when compared with the price of the parcel Higgins sold to Mrs. Busing."

The portion sold to a private purchaser, the supervisor said, was three times the size of the parcel sold to the police jury and furthermore contained a house and other improvements assessed at $1,400.

The report said the parish books showed purchases "aggregating $40,805.15 . . . without any documentary support." They included, he said, a wide variety of materials and services.

Another $5,048 was paid to officials for expenses "not adequately supported," the supervisor continued, and $2,465 was paid to the official printer, The Jefferson Democrat, without detailed documentary evidence as to the charges and "in addition to the printer's regular salary . . . for which he is expected to give full service to the jury's printing requirements."

The report noted that Frank T. Payne was employed as civil engineer to survey the parish boundary lines, and commented "in view of the statutory limitations set upon surveyors' fees, it appears that the total of $17,650 paid to Mr. Frank T. Payne over a period of 21 months . . . is considerably higher than the law permits."

A fee of $5,000 was paid to Bronson and Scranton, Inc., of New Orleans in connection with a $150,000 bond issue, the report continued, adding, "We consider the fee a direct brokerage charge equivalent to the sale of the bonds below par, which is illegal."

Hayes said N. B. Knight, Jr., was employed at a fee of $3,000 to perform legal services in connection with the bonds. Declaring that Knight's employment was duly approved by the governor and attorney general on the district attorney's showing that he was unable to give the necessary time and attention to the case, the supervisor said the facts were cited to show that in this matter, "as in the case of the Jefferson parish school board and other Jefferson parish bodies," the hiring of special counsel was necessary because of the district attorney's "inability . . . to give time to such matters."

He noted also payment of a $50 fee to Assistant District Attorney Ernest M. Counzelmann for passing on an act of sale in the Higgins land purchase and said, "Inasmuch as the assistant district attorney draws a regular salary as ex-officio attorney for the parish, we consider payment and acceptance of this fee a violation of Section 1 of Act 125 of 1912, as amended."

Hayes criticized also payments aggregating $8,710.18 to the Jefferson Parish Yearly Review, which he called a "joint enterprise of Weaver R. Toledano, president of the Jefferson parish police jury, and Joseph H. Moines, business manager of the Yearly Review."

The supervisor said a scrutiny of the publication showed that it "cannot be considered essential to the Jefferson parish police jury, the school board nor any of the other various public bodies from which contributions were solicited. . . . in no sense can the magazine be construed as the official publication of any municipal or parish body within the intent of the law permitting such bodies an official organ."

He declared that the law makes no provision for such expenditures as an alleged $1,860 payment for feeding election commissioners and clerks.

During 1941 the automobile industry in the United States will use about 460,000,000 pounds of cotton.

DRAFTED FOR LOVE

BY RUTH AYERS

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER XXV

"Dear April—I'm on my way back to New York. Yesterday when you came in from the hearing in court, I was talking on the telephone. It was a call from New York. Vivano told me the night of the audition that I would never make a concert singer, that I didn't have the voice to become a truly great contralto.

"But someone else was at the audition that night who felt rather differently about it. Through this friend, I had an offer yesterday for a contract on a radio program. Oh, I may never be the famous song-bird I hoped but this will mean a career in music, and that's all I ask.

"I wasn't quite sure what my answer would be yesterday but I knew last night.

"April, you would have kept quiet the rest of your life to spare me, but there were other things entering into it. Kent's Aunt Elizabeth—a frightening old person, isn't she—let something slip. She liked you, April.

"And Kent himself. When I saw his face last night after we had found you crying, I had the real answer.

"I thought I loved Kent, and at first I was jealous because I suspected you had fallen in love with him yourself. But Kent and I had quarreled once about my singing and we would have quarreled again. That's why this chance to sing gives me a way out.

"I've left another note for Mother and Dad because explanations wouldn't have done any good at this eleventh hour.

"There's only one request I want to make of you. You must be the one to tell Kent.

"Please believe me when I say this finds me in seventh heaven. My hope is that you'll be there, too—with Kent. Ever you sister—Ann."

For a long time, April held the letter.

If it had been written a week ago, a day ago, it would have changed the future. Now it had come too late.

Yesterday she had told Kent she had masqueraded at love—carried through the pretense just as a lark. A lark!

He hated her. He despised her. Nothing could change that.

She went downstairs to telephone him. The quickest way would be the easiest in the end.

"Kent?"

"Yes, Ann—I've been up for hours. Sort of thought I'd hear from you."

April steadied the receiver. Kent had called her Ann. All right, let him think she was Ann until she had told him herself that Ann had gone away. He might not even see her if she said she was April.

"I'm taking the roadster out. I'll be by for you in a few minutes."

"Fine," he said. "That will be fine." But he didn't say it in the same glad, ringing voice as on that day when she had 'phoned him before their drive to the windmill farm.

As she drove up the hill in the car, the sky was still streaked in the east with copper and gold. And there was a certain fragrance in the air. Almost like spring, she thought, even though the calendar was still at January.

He was waiting at the gate and when he saw that she was April, curly yellow hair, rakish beret and jaunty coat, he strode angrily to the car.

"Another one of your masquerades?"

"No—no, it isn't."

"Where's Ann?"

"That's what I came to tell you."

He leaned hard against the car door. "What do you mean? Has she gone away?"

"Yes—to New York. She left me a letter."

"If this is one of your ideas of charm and cleverness—"

"Please, Kent," she begged, and the way she said it must have impressed itself on him because he stood up and the grim lines left his mouth.

"Tell me the rest, all of it."

"She had a chance to sing. A wonderful contract. She thought it would mean more to her than—well, than marriage. Maybe you can reach her by telephone. Maybe you can get her back. Planes will be flying today and the wedding isn't until 5 o'clock.

Kent kept silent for what seemed an endless time. Then he said, "No, if she wants it to be like that I wouldn't try to get her back. I have a feeling it's for the best."

As she looked at him, April had the impression that Kent wore an expression almost of relief.

April shifted gears, started the motor. "I'll hurry along," she said. "There'll be things to be done at home. I'm sorry, Kent, it had to turn out this way."

In another instant the roadster would shoot down the hill again, turning its back on Kent and the gloomy old house, this time for all time.

"Don't go yet," Kent said.

"There's something else you wanted to say?"

"You might tell Ann when you write that I want her to be happy. And also, that as long as there'll be no wedding, I'm returning to camp."

"Yes, I'll tell her—and good luck, Kent."

"Thanks—and to you, April. You deserve the best. I had you all wrong, April, right from the first when I called you the Glitterbug."

Suddenly, April switched off the throbbing engine. "Kent Carter," she said, "we're talking here like strangers, making up polite conversation. I don't want your good luck! I don't want you to say you were sorry or that you had me all wrong!"

The April storm was rising in her at last. She began to pound her hands on the steering wheel. Kent reached over and in some way was beside her.

"What do you want?" he asked.

"You! You, of course! Last night when I told Hal Parks I could never marry him, he said that with some people love might be slow blooming, but with me it was like lightning that struck once—and fast. Don't you see, Kent? It struck me that night I met you at the train."

"April—April, darling!"

He kissed her recklessly, dizzily, and right in the full view of the gingerbread Carter house where no doubt the gingery old great-aunt could see.

Then he eyed the April of the blue eyes and the daffodil curls with a certain wondering curiosity.

"Some day," he said, "you can tell me the whole story from beginning to end."

"I can tell it to you now," she answered. "The beginning is that I was drafted for love. The end is—well, that's just it. There is no end. I've enlisted for a lifetime."

(THE END)

ONE-COW DAIRY

COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)—More than 2,300 "bottle-feet" of milk were produced in a year by an 8-year-old registered Holstein-Friesian owned by Ohio State university.

The production of the cow, Firestone Patriarch Johanna, in the 365 days would fill a row of quart milk bottles more than 2,700 feet long, university dairyists said. "Johanna" produced 721.1 pounds of butterfat from 18,365 pounds of milk. She was milked three times daily.

DR. COTTINGHAM TO BE WELCOMED

Faculty Members And Students Will Greet President Tuesday

RUSTON, La., March 29.—(Special)—Faculty members and students of Louisiana Tech are preparing to welcome Dr. and Mrs. Claybrook Cottingham of Pineville, after Dr. Cottingham assumes the presidency of the college here Tuesday, according to Dr. Rodney Cline, Tech dean of instruction.

Dr. Cottingham, president of Louisiana college for the last 31 years, has announced that he will attend a meeting of the state board of education in Lafayette Monday and will be present at a dinner that evening in Abbeville at the home of Frank A. Godchaux, president of the state board of education. He said he planned to return to his home in Pineville late Monday night and drive to Tech early Tuesday to begin his duties here.

Dr. and Mrs. Cottingham are expected to move in to the president's house on the campus Tuesday. Dr. Cottingham's predecessor, E. S. Richardson, and Mrs. Richardson, likely will be in Hot Springs Monday for a vacation, it was reported here. The Richardsons have made no announcement in regard to their future plans.

In recent days, the Cottinghams have been recipients of several courtesies extended them in connection with their leaving Pineville. The faculty of Louisiana college, it was stated here, presented to Dr. and Mrs. Cottingham 27 sterling silver plates engraved with names of the teaching staff at Pineville. The student association of Louisiana college recently drew up resolutions congratulating Dr. Cottongham upon his appointment as president of Tech and expressing appreciation of his service to that institution, according to information received here.

The first official duty of the new Tech president will be to greet visitors attending the meeting of the Louisiana Jersey Cattle club at the college farm at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, the second day of the dairymen's convention here.

The Tech faculty has planned a reception for Dr. and Mrs. Cottingham, to be held in the parlors of Harper hall, women's dormitory, Tuesday night. Dr. Cline appointed the following committee of women faculty members to arrange details of the reception: Misses Alma Burk, Sallie Robison, Eugenia Smith, Mary C. Wilson and Caroline Cochran and Mrs. E. E. Cunningham. School Board Meet In New Orleans Proves Helpful In Nature

Fred G. Thatcher, insrtuctor in commerce at Northeast Junior college, was reelected secretary of the Louisiana School Board association which met in New Orleans March 23-25. Mr. Thatcher has served in this capacity since the organization was formed four years ago. Theo Hotard of the Orleans School board was elected president and J. E. Verret, president of the Iberia School board, was chosen vice-president.

Outstanding events of the meeting were addresses of Gov. Sam Jones, John E. Coxe, state superintendent of education, and Dr. William F. Russell, dean of Teachers' college, Columbia university.

Dr. Russell emphasizes the theory that the only way for Americans to overcome Hitlerism is for all of us to realize the real value of liberty and to recognize that that liberty is being endangered.

"In spite of the highest type of education," the speaker said, "Communism has been growing. Things taught mechanically do not really accomplish the task," he added. In placing responsibility for the teaching of democracy, Dr. Russell explained that it is clearly up to the teacher to transmit genuine love and liberty straight from the heart.

The Rabouin Trades School for Girls was host to delegates at a luncheon and style show Monday. Various types of clothing, made by the students and modeled on this occasion, included gowns worn by the queens and maids of the Mardi Gras balls. Several gowns were modeled by individuals for whom the costumes had been made.

During the general business session resolutions dealing with problems concerning elementary and high school teachers were passed.

The association recommended that a committee be appointed to see if teacher tenure could be made more workable and flexible. Provision was made to have the committee submit a report of its findings to each school board in the state. Any action on the matter would be taken at the next convention.

Another resolution provided for an amendment of the constitution to permit former school board members to become associate members of the organization under certain provisions.

The association also recommended that parish school boards be permitted to maintain student loan funds.

A resolution was offered to establish a maximum age of 18 for high school students.

During the School Board's Town Hall general discussions of school problems were emphasized included: The basis of the distribution of the equalization fund; the raise in teaching standards; the automatic increase in salaries when the bachcelor's degree is secured; the question as to whether the holding of the master's degree should carry a similar increase in salary; the desirability of having tenure laws.

Mr. Thatcher expressed satisfaction over the meeting, attended by about 550 persons, including delegates and guests. In a letter to Mr. Thatcher, John M. Foote, director of administration and finance, spoke of the convention as being "successful and beneficial to the cause of public education in the state."

The association will convene in Baton Rouge next year.

Hayes Suggests Commission Investigation Check Endorsements

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29.—(AP)—An official report of Supervisor of Public Funds Jerome A. Hayes today proposed that the crime commission investigate endorsements of Jefferson parish police jurors allegedly found on cashed checks for road employes' wages.

The report also declared that Lemuel W. Higgins, superintendent for the parish board of education, sold land to the police jury and the city of New Orleans at prices which "appear excessive."

It listed more than $100,000 in the parish's disbursements and transfers as "irregularities," principally for lack of supporting explanations.

The supervisor pointed out too that during the year ending June 30, 1940, $16,468.75 was paid into the sheriff's salary fund for feeding prisoners in the parish jail while the actual cost "as per the records of the sheriff's office," was $3,354.66, about 17 cents per prisoner per day, so that the fund profited by $13,114.09.

"We suggest that the police jury revise the existing ordinance by reducing th efee to be paid from 85 cents to 50 cents per day per prisoner," he commented. "While it is not directly within our province to make recommendation regarding the nature of the food purchased and served to the prisoners, we are inclined to believe that the very low cost of feeding the prisoners indicates that they are not being properly fed."

Hayes listed 27 checks, totaling $2,134.50, issue din payment for road maintenance work, and commented, "24 of the checks contain the second endorsement of Ed E. Feitel; two, that of Edw. M. Gordon; and one, that of Leon Gendron. These disbursements should be further investigated by the Louisiana crime commission."

"Furthermore," Hayes continued, "such endorsements give the appearance of these police jurors having dealt in their parish paper in violation of Act 16 of 1920, which states in part, 'no police juror shall be interested either directly or indirectly in any contract the payment of which comes out of his parish treasury. Nor shall they be allowed to deal in their parish paper.'"

The supervisor said Higgins purchased a tract of land May 29, 1937 for $2,700, and sold it in three parcels, one to the city of New Orleans Sept. 20, 1938, for $6,000; another to the Jefferson parish police jury April 4, 1939, for $2,200 and another to Mrs. Ione A. Busing on June 23, 1939, for $2,400, or a total of $10,600.

"The prices he received from the city of New Orleans and the Jefferson parish police jury are approximately in the same ratio as the sizes of the tracts sold," Hayes commented. "However, these prices appear excessive when compared with the price of the parcel Higgins sold to Mrs. Busing."

The portion sold to a private purchaser, the supervisor said, was three times the size of the parcel sold to the police jury and furthermore contained a house and other improvements assessed at $1,400.

The report said the parish books showed purchases "aggregating $40,805.15 . . . without any documentary support." They included, he said, a wide variety of materials and services.

Another $5,048 was paid to officials for expenses "not adequately supported," the supervisor continued, and $2,465 was paid to the official printer, The Jefferson Democrat, without detailed documentary evidence as to the charges and "in addition to the printer's regular salary . . . for which he is expected to give full service to the jury's printing requirements."

The report noted that Frank T. Payne was employed as civil engineer to survey the parish boundary lines, and commented "in view of the statutory limitations set upon surveyors' fees, it appears that the total of $17,650 paid to Mr. Frank T. Payne over a period of 21 months . . . is considerably higher than the law permits."

A fee of $3,000 was paid to Bronson and Scranton, Inc., of New Orleans in connection with a $150,000 bond issue, the report continued, adding, "We consider the fee a direct brokerage charge equivalent to the sale of the bonds below par, which is illegal."

Hayes said N. B. Knight, Jr., was employed at a fee of $3,000 to perform legal services in connection with the bonds. Declaring that Knight's employment was duly approved by the governor and attorney general on the district attorney's showing that he was unable to give the necessary time and attention to the case, the supervisor said the facts were cited to show that in this matter, "as in the case of the Jefferson parish school board and other Jefferson parish bodies," the hiring of special counsel was necessary because of the district attorney's "inability . . . to give time to such matters."

He noted also payment of a $50 fee to Assistant District Attorney Ernest M. Counzelmann for passing on an act of sale in the Higgins land purchase and said, "Inasmuch as the assistant district attorney draws a regular salary as ex-officio attorney for the parish, we consider payment and acceptance of this fee a violation of Section 1 of Act 125 of 1912, as amended."

Hayes criticized also payments aggregating $8,710.18 to the Jefferson Parish Yearly Review, which he called a "joint enterprise of Weaver R. Toledano, president of the Jefferson parish police jury, and Joseph H. Moines, business manager of the Yearly Review."

The supervisor said a scrutiny of the publication showed that it "cannot be considered essential to the Jefferson parish police jury, the school board nor any of the other various public bodies from which contributions were solicited. . . . in no sense can the magazine be construed as the official publication of any municipal or parish body within the intent of the law permitting such bodies an official organ."

He declared that the law makes no provision for such expenditures as an alleged $1,860 payment for feeding election commissioners and clerks.

• SERIAL STORY

DRAFTED FOR LOVE

BY RUTH AYERS

CHAPTER XXV

"Dear April—I'm on my way back to New York. Yesterday when you came in from the hearing in court, I was talking on the telephone. It was a call from New York. Vivano told me the night of the audition that I would never make a concert singer, that I didn't have the voice to become a truly great contralto.

"But someone else was at the audition that night who felt rather differently about it. Through this friend, I had an offer yesterday for a contract on a radio program. Oh, I may never be the famous song-bird I hoped but this will mean a career in music, and that's all I ask.

"I wasn't quite sure what my answer would be yesterday but I knew last night.

"April, you would have kept quiet the rest of your life to spare me, but there were other things entering into it. Kent's Aunt Elizabeth—a frightening old person, isn't she—let something slip. She liked you, April.

"And Kent himself. When I saw his face last night after we had found you crying, I had the real answer.

"I thought I loved Kent, and at first I was jealous because I suspected you had fallen in love with him yourself. But Kent and I had quarreled once about my singing and we would have quarreled again. That's why this chance to sing gives me a way out.

"I've left another note for Mother and Dad because explanations wouldn't have done any good at this eleventh hour.

"There's only one request I want to make of you. You must be the one to tell Kent.

"Please believe me when I say this finds me in seventh heaven. My hope is that you'll be there, too—with Kent. Ever you sister—Ann."

For a long time, April held the letter.

If it had been written a week ago, a day ago, it would have changed the future. Now it had come too late.

Yesterday she had told Kent she had masqueraded at love—carried through the pretense just as a lark. A lark!

He hated her. He despised her. Nothing could change that.

She went downstairs to telephone him. The quickest way would be the easiest in the end.

"Kent?"

"Yes, Ann—I've been up for hours. Sort of thought I'd hear from you."

April steadied the receiver. Kent had called her Ann. All right, let him think she was Ann until she had told him herself that Ann had gone away. He might not even see her if she said she was April.

"I'm taking the roadster out. I'll be by for you in a few minutes."

"Fine," he said. "That will be fine." But he didn't say it in the same glad, ringing voice as on that day when she had 'phoned him before their drive to the windmill farm.

As she drove up the hill in the car, the sky was still streaked in the east with copper and gold. And there was a certain fragrance in the air. Almost like spring, she thought, even though the calendar was still at January.

He was waiting at the gate and when he saw that she was April, curly yellow hair, rakish beret and jaunty coat, he strode angrily to the car.

"Another one of your masquerades?"

"No—no, it isn't."

"Where's Ann?"

"That's what I came to tell you."

He leaned hard against the car door. "What do you mean? Has she gone away?"

"Please, Kent," she begged, and the way she said it must have impressed itself on him because he stood up and the grim lines left his mouth.

"Tell me the rest, all of it."

"She had a chance to sing. A wonderful contract. She thought it would mean more to her than—well, than marriage. Maybe you can reach her by telephone. Maybe you can get her back. Planes will be flying today and the wedding isn't until 5 o'clock.

Kent kept silent for what seemed an endless time. Then he said, "No, if she wants it to be like that I wouldn't try to get her back. I have a feeling it's for the best."

As she looked at him, April had the impression that Kent wore an expression almost of relief.

April shifted gears, started the motor. "I'll hurry along," she said. "There'll be things to be done at home. I'm sorry, Kent, it had to turn out this way."

In another instant the roadster would shoot down the hill again, turning its back on Kent and the gloomy old house, this time for all time.

"Don't go yet," Kent said.

"There's something else you wanted to say?"

"You might tell Ann when you write that I want her to be happy. And also, that as long as there'll be no wedding, I'm returning to camp"

"Yes, I'll tell her—and good luck, Kent."

"Thanks—and to you, April. You deserve the best. I had you all wrong, April, right from the first when I called you the Glitterbug."

Suddenly, April switched off the throbbing engine. "Kent Carter," she said, "we're talking here like strangers, making up polite conversation. I don't want your good luck! I don't want you to say you were sorry or that you had me all wrong!"

The April storm was rising in her at last. She began to pound her hands on the steering wheel. Kent reached over and in some way was beside her.

"What do you want?" he asked.

"You! You, of course! Last night when I told Hal Parks I could never marry him, he said that with some people love might be slow blooming, but with me it was like lightning that struck once—and fast. Don't you see, Kent? It struck me that night I met you at the train."

"April—April, darling!"

He kissed her recklessly, dizzily, and right in the full view of the gingerbread Carter house where no doubt the gingery old great-aunt could see.

Then he eyed the April of the blue eyes and the daffodil curls with a certain wondering curiosity.

"Some day," he said, "you can tell me the whole story from beginning to end."

"I can tell it to you now," she answered. "The beginning is that I was drafted for love. The end is—well, that's just it. There is no end. I've enlisted for a lifetime."

YUGOSLAV STORY FULLY COVERED

St. John got a call through to Sofia, Bulgaria, and Sofia relayed his story to Bern.

When Sofia was cut off, Budapest was reached, and took up where Sofia left off. When Budapest was cut off, the running account was relayed finally through Istanbul and Bucharest.

The criss-cross of communications again was paying dividends.

Long ago every membe of the Associated Press Balkan staff learned the complex arrangement of Balkan communications, which are almost as intricate as the muddled Balkan political picture.

In 18 months since the war began, the staff has used almost every known means of communication: Telephone, radio, telegraph, airmail, sleeping car porters, Danube river boats.

St. John once rode across the Rumanian frontier on horseback into Yugoslavia to get an open telephone to give America the news of Rumania's Iron Guard revolt.

With St. John in Belgrade were skilled native Balkan assistants with a command of all the strange languages of the region.

While some newspapermen were spending the day in Belgrade jails for attempting to cross the Danube in rowboats, St. John, with pencil and camera, was writing and photographing the Yugoslav revolution play-by-play. Calls to every Yugoslav town and hamlet possessed of a telephone kept him abreast of events in the provinces.

St. John, a veteran of Rumanian revolutions and of its earthquake, was nearly mobbed by an angry crowd when he tried to photograph the wrecked German tourist agency in Belgrade.

But when the Serbs learned he was an American they not only relented but carried him back to his hotel on their shoulders.

CALLS ON EVERY POLITICAL CREED

weapon a propaganda of increasing quantity and violence.

Agents of Naziism and their unwitting helpers, he said, have attempted to exploit the natural love of Americans for peace.

"They have represented themselves as pacifists," he said, "when actually they are serving the most brutal warmongers of all time. They have preached 'peace' in the same way the devil can quote scripture.

"Of course, the purpose of all this has been to spread the terror among us. The effect of it has been only to fortify our determination."

Coupling together a denunciation of dictators and Naziism with a renewed promise of American help for nations resisting them, the address was in many ways repetitious of other presidential speeches in recent months.

The very repetition served to emphasize blunt words.

The address was delivered at the conclusion of a week's fishing trip among Britain's northern Bahama Islands. Aboard the Potomac, an American naval vessel anchored in British waters, the chief executive had signed legislation appropriating $7,000,000,000 to aid nations battling the axis powers.

The cruise, Mr. Roosevelt said, had given him time not only for recreation but also for meditation, and he had "become more than ever clear that the time calls for courage and more courage—action, and more action."

In the statement that American resources and power would assist those standing in the path of dictators was an implied reiteration of America's offer to help Yugoslavia. And the decision that was reached on aiding opponents of dictatorship, Mr. Roosevelt declared, was not a partisan one.

He added:

"A leader of the Republican party himself—Mr. Wendell Willkie—in word and in action, is showing what patriotic Americans mean by rising above partisanship and rallying to the common cause.

"And now that the plain people of America have spoken their determination, Republicans and Democrats in the congress and out of the congress are patriotically cooperating to make that determination take positive form."

It was appropriate to honor Andrew Jackson, today, Mr. Roosevelt said, because Jackson placed devotion to country above adherence to party.

The Jackson day dinners, an annual affair, usually are held in January, but they were postponed because this year the convening of a new congress, the presidential inauguration and the observance of Mr. Roosevelt's 59th birthday all took place in January.

The principal dinner was to have been held in Washington and tickets already had been sold at $100 a plate, but the affair was called off because of the chief executive's absence.

The president spoke from the Potomac berthed in the Port Everglades harbor, with those who had been his fishing companions assembled around him.

In Jackson's day, he recalled, the union was endangered by a sectional threat, inspired by a refusal to recognize the sovereign authority of the United States government, and Jackson's actions placed him above "section and party."

"In our own day," Mr. Roosevelt went on, "the threat to our union and to our democracy is not a sectional one. It comes from a great part of the world which surrounds us, and which draws more tightly around us, day by day.

"Again, to do this job, we Americans, nearly all of us, have risen above any considerations of party politics."

Dictators cannot seem to realize, the chief executive said, that the American people can maintain at the same time two parties and an inviolate and indivisible nation.

There can be no party division under dictators, he said, for men must think, see, write, live and die as they are told. He contrasted the suppression of disagreement in a concentration camp with the American way of expressing differences in the polling place.

"And we are determined so to act," he asserted, "that Americans will go on year after year, holding free elections. . . . for such elections guarantee that there can be no possibility of stifling freedom of speech, freedom of the press and the air, freedom of worship.

"These are the eternal principles which are now being threatened by the alliance of dictator nations.

"Ours is the responsibility of defending these principles which have come to us as our national heritage. Ours is the responsibility of passing them on—not only intact, but stronger than ever to all the generations yet to come."

Americans realize, Mr Roosevelt said, how tenuous would be the existence of the party system, freedom of elections and of living, should dictatorship doctrines prevail. If they were to prevail, he emphasized, it would not be in Europe alone.

The president remarked that when Abraham Lincoln became president and faced the prospect of civil war, he submitted this final question to congress:

"Must a government, of necessity, be too strong for the liberties of its own people, or too weak to maintain its own existence?"

Lincoln, he said, as had Jackson, answered the question by deeds, not words.

The same question presents itself today, Mr. Roosevelt said, and once again is being answered with deeds.

The president spoke after a full week's rest aboard the presidential yacht in Florida waters.

The Potomac ran into Port Everglades harbor shortly after midnight because of disturbing weather reports. She lay at anchor until shortly before noon while Mr. Roosevelt made a final revision of the address, then took him out to sea again for a last chance to land some big fish.

The chief and six fishing companions had spent seven days on the Potomac, roaming through the northern Bahama Islands, fishing from the yacht or small boats from the escort destroyer Benson in the daytime and anchoring at night off islands or tiny cays.

The high point of the cruise was the signing of the bill appropriating $7,000,000,000 to aid nations battling against aggression. In a peculiarly appropriate setting, the signing took place while Mr. Roosevelt was in British waters. The Potomac was anchored off South West Point, a promontory of the Grand Bahama island.

The president arranged to head northward tomorrow.with stops for inward tomorrow, with stops for inspection of Camp Jackson, S. C., and Fort Bragg, N. C., Monday. He will be back in Washington Tuesday.

The fishing on the cruise was, on the whole, only fair, but Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, the president's personal physician, said the days at sea had benefitted Mr. Roosevelt greatly, enabling him to obtain much-needed rest and relaxation.

At least a portion of the rest was obtained in daylight hours for the Potomac rolled and pitched so much at anchor during the night that sleeping was difficult. Seasickness caused a few casualties among the presidential guests.

All last Wednesday and Wednesday night winds that reached gale proportions at times kicked up a rough sea, with the Potomac bounding about at the end of her anchor chains off the western tip of Grand Bahama island.

The Benson steamed back and forth because the anchorage was dangerous to a ship of her size. The Potomac at one time rolled 28 degrees to port and 28 to starboard, only 12 degrees short of the 40-degree danger mark. She is a former coast guard cutter now in commission to the navy, and the addition of special gear and facilities had made her top-heavy.

Naval officers said they did not consider her a suitable ship for a presidential yacht because she would be in danger in a heavy sea. Mr. Roosevelt never had ridden her so far into the open sea before, and it appeared doubtful that he would do so again.

In addition to the overspending of current receipts for operating expenses, the report showed an excess of expenditures over receipts in highway funds of $3,327,409.25, but contended that this was for highway construction, usually financed in the past by bond issues, and so should not be considered in the same light as the general excess of expenditures over revenues.

This excess, as shown by the report, will be greater than the cash deficit. The difference, the report indicated, will be accounted for by using balances in certain funds accumulated in prior years.

Close contended that the present administration inherited a cash deficit of $7,972,469.94. The report showed it was planned to fund most of this deficit by issuing bonds.

Commenting on plans to lower substantially balances in several funds in order to meet in part the operating deficit the report said the maintenance of high separate fund balances in the past had produced situations in which the state borrowed from banks and at the same time had balances in the same banks exceeding its borrowing.

The state must budget in the current fiscal year $6,350,876 for interest on the bonded debt and $3,963,000 for interest; in the next fiscal year $6,154,881 and $4,917,000, the report continued.

ITALIAN FLEET BADLY DAMAGED

ers were "very severely damaged" in "naval operations of some importance," which began yesterday.

"Rafts containing Italian survivors have been reported this morning by our aircraft," it said. "It may therefore be assumed that at least one Italian ship has been sunk."

The R. A. F. middle east command announced that two Italian cruisers and a destroyer had been hit directly by heavy bombs in a battle in the Ionian sea, between Greece and southern Italy, and apparently these communiques all referred to one continuing action.

Whether the R. A. F.'s "bag" duplicated any announced by the admiralty was not clear, but indications were that it did not, for the admiralty said results of the air attacks were not yet known to it. The R. A. F. said one of the cruisers it had hit "stopped, emitting black and yellow smoke."

No British losses were mentioned except for one R. A. F. bomber which failed to return to its base.

At the start of the war, Mussolini had four 1911 model battleships and two new 35,000 tonners, the Littorio and Vittorio Veneto. Two others of this size were under construction.

These last two, the Impero and the Roma, are known to have been launched and may have been completed and put in service.

Assuming a total of eight capital ships, the British said Mussolini had no more than two left fit for duty. One new and two old ones were declared to have been heavily damaged by a torpedo-plane attack on Taranto November 11, another was torpedoed in a running fight off Sardina November 27, and planes from the aircraft carrier Ark Royal are credited with damaging a fifth. The sixth was hit yesterday.

The British expressed doubt that any of the damaged ships had been put back into commission (although on February 23 Mussolini announced that two of those damaged at Taranto were almost ready for service.)

which was uncovered four years ago when United States secret service agents, investigating counterfeit bills, got the first inkling of the syndicate from Herman Petrillo.

Seven men and three women got life imprisonment. Others received prison terms. Three women were acquitted. One woman pleaded guilty to poisoning three men.

Where poison failed or was deemed inadvisable by the killers, the state charged they resorted to more violent means—sandbaggings, drownings, and faked automobile accidents.

Numerous graves were opened and bodies exhumed during the investigation which stretched into New York, New Jersey, and Delaware as well as other sections of Pennsylvania.

In one body was found hemlock, the deadly drink Socrates of ancient Greece was forced to take.

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Thursday and were conducted by Rev. Meddleton of El Dorado. Interment was in the Zion Hill cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick and Kilpatrick funeral home of Farmerville.

In addition to the overspending of current receipts for operating expenses, the report showed an excess of expenditures over receipts in highway funds of $3,327,409.25, but contended that this was for highway construction, usually financed in the past by bond issues, and so should not be considered in the same light as the general excess of expenditures over revenues.

This excess, as shown by the report, will be greater than the cash deficit. The difference, the report indicated, will be accounted for by using balances in certain funds accumulated in prior years.

Close contended that the present administration inherited a cash deficit of $7,972,469.94. The report showed it was planned to fund most of this deficit by issuing bonds.

Commenting on plans to lower substantially balances in several funds in order to meet in part the operating deficit the report said the maintenance of high separate fund balances in the past had produced situations in which the state borrowed from banks and at the same time had balances in the same banks exceeding its borrowing.

The state must budget in the current fiscal year $6,350,876 for interest on the bonded debt and $3,963,000 for interest; in the next fiscal year $6,154,881 and $4,917,000, the report continued.

ers were "very severely damaged" in "naval operations of some importance," which began yesterday.

"Rafts containing Italian survivors have been reported this morning by our aircraft," it said. "It may therefore be assumed that at least one Italian ship has been sunk."

The R. A. F. middle east command announced that two Italian cruisers and a destroyer had been hit directly by heavy bombs in a battle in the Ionian sea, between Greece and southern Italy, and apparently these communiques all referred to one continuing action.

Whether the R. A. F.'s "bag" duplicated any announced by the admiralty was not clear, but indications were that it did not, for the admiralty said results of the air attacks were not yet known to it. The R. A. F. said one of the cruisers it had hit "stopped, emitting black and yellow smoke."

No British losses were mentioned except for one R. A. F. bomber which failed to return to its base.

At the start of the war, Mussolini had four 1911 model battleships and two new 35,000 tonners, the Littorio and Vittorio Veneto. Two others of this size were under construction.

These last two, the Impero and the Roma, are known to have been launched and may have been completed and put in service.

Assuming a total of eight capital ships, the British said Mussolini had no more than two left fit for duty. One new and two old ones were declared to have been heavily damaged by a torpedo-plane attack on Taranto November 11, another was torpedoed in a running fight off Sardina November 27, and planes from the aircraft carrier Ark Royal are credited with damaging a fifth. The sixth was hit yesterday.

The British expressed doubt that any of the damaged ships had been put back into commission (although on February 23 Mussolini announced that two of those damaged at Taranto were almost ready for service.)

which was uncovered four years ago when United States secret service agents, investigating counterfeit bills, got the first inkling of the syndicate from Herman Petrillo.

Seven men and three women got life imprisonment. Others received prison terms. Three women were acquitted. One woman pleaded guilty to poisoning three men.

Where poison failed or was deemed inadvisable by the killers, the state charged they resorted to more violent means—sandbaggings, drownings, and faked automobile accidents.

Numerous graves were opened and bodies exhumed during the investigation which stretched into New York, New Jersey, and Delaware as well as other sections of Pennsylvania.

In one body was found hemlock, the deadly drink Socrates of ancient Greece was forced to take.

WHITE SOX BEGIN SPRING TRAINING MONDAY

First Exhibition Battle Scheduled At Lake Charles Next Sunday

With their first exhibition battle only a week away and their Cotton States campaign opener with El Dorado less than a month in the future, the Monroe White Sox swing into action here tomorrow morning in answer to Manager Doug "Poco" Taitt's call for spring training at Casino park.

Prospects are bright for another first division and possibly a championship club if Manager Taitt's unsolicited praise of newcomers to the White Sox fold is any barometer by which to judge the possibilities, and he hasn't made a bad prediction regarding the Sox in his three seasons here.

The opening session tomorrow is scheduled for [illegible] o'clock, and the workouts, one a day, will continue at that time each day if weather conditions remain favorable.

Early arrivals for the training camp drills are Roy Hoffman, righthand pitcher with the club last season; Larry Knight, righthander obtained from Marshall, Tex.; Ed Knight, outfielder, and Theo Heemann, pitcher, both with the Sox last year.

Knight was a holdout several days ago but came to terms with the Sox officials the past week. His hitting was only a flash in the pan last season, but he promised Manager Taitt he would "lead the league" this year.

Due tomorrow are Tom Ferry, pitcher; Pete Medina, first base; Bobby Burt, second base; Guy "Red" Pruitt, third base; Joe Eagan, shortstop; and Bob Hill, outfielder, all of whom were on the 1940 championship club here. Others due are Ed Langford, Tom Martin, Will Meeker and Verne Williamson, pitchers obtained from Marshall and Shreveport; Bob Megling, rookie pitcher from [illegible] Wood, and Floyd Scott, outfielders from Marshall; Dave [illegible], outfielder from Shreveport, and Phil Wells, infielder from Marshall.

And of course Manager Taitt is still available for active service in the outfield. He still [illegible] with the bat and [illegible] is expected to help [illegible] as usual.

As yet no catcher has been obtained to replace [illegible] who has retired. Shreveport has promised one of their [illegible] as soon as the Sports [illegible] they are going to keep.

But Bob Hill is a pretty fair backstop and [illegible] the chores until a catcher is obtained. Then [illegible] officials [illegible] at [illegible] is at [illegible] a better catcher than an outfielder, and [illegible] the Sox may [illegible]

Manager Taitt and Kelton Maxfield was not expected [illegible] who led [illegible] at Kansas City [illegible] and nothing has been heard from him [illegible]

[illegible] Manager Taitt said he had [illegible] recommendations on Philip [illegible]

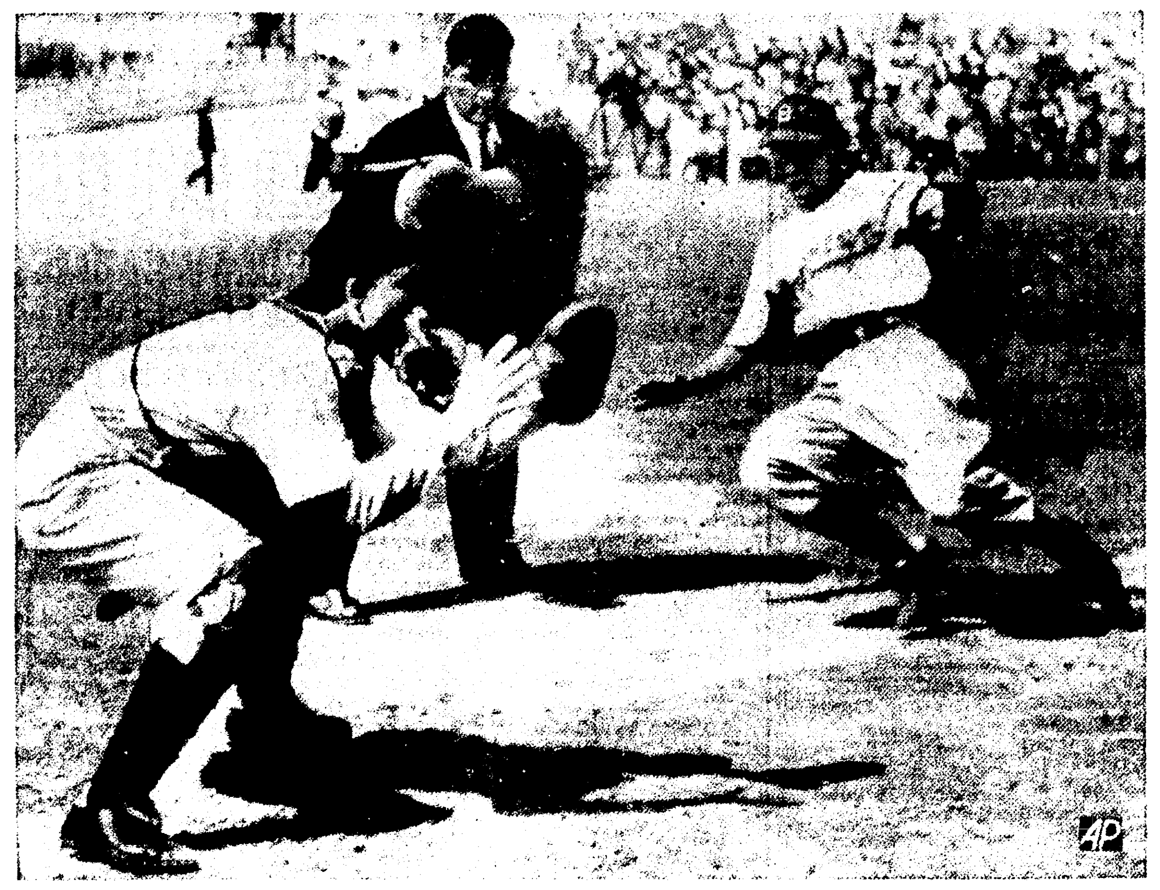
DOUBLE STEAL FAILS TO CLICK FOR DODGERS



Fresh from training in the tropical sun at Havana, the Brooklyn Dodgers attempted a double steal in the first inning of an exhibition game with the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa, Fla. But the Reds broke it up—Baker to Frey, who failed to tag Waner in time but threw Reese out at the plate. Reese is trying to slide home but Catch Baker is waiting. Umpire Barlick watches the play. The Dodgers won, 7 to 1.

MASTER GOLFERS SET FOR TOURNEY

Victory In Augusta Event Amounts To Winter Golf Championship

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 29.—(P)—What amounts to all but official title to the Winter Open golf championship will be played here next week over the Augusta national golf club course which Bobby Jones designed and in the Augusta Masters tournament which is his pride and joy.

In setting and spirit it is like Bing Crosby's annual party, one of the most pleasant tournaments of the year. Yet victory in the Masters is prized almost as highly as victory in the U. S. Golf [illegible] championship. It is not [illegible] only the eighth [illegible] definite feature.

Last year, for instance, Ben Hogan came to Augusta fresh from three record-breaking victories in North Carolina. His play over that stretch had been sensational. In the Masters, though, he was just one of the many who were also-rans behind Jimmy Demaret. Hogan wasn't even [illegible] there and in the acclaim for Jimmy's performance Hogan's earlier brilliance was almost forgotten.

The Masters is a pleasant tournament for the players and also for the [illegible] players [illegible] don't feel the pressure that becomes progressively greater as the National Open builds up to its 36-hole final day. It's one of the few tournaments where you'd find men like Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour and Bobby Cruickshank swapping yarns in the locker room for hour after hour.

Louis To Return To Ring Where He Started Climb

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—(P)—Joe Louis probably will do a little reminiscing as he climbs into the ring for his [illegible] title defense here one week from next Tuesday.

But to Joe it will be more like another homecoming.

It was just seven years ago next week that the Brown Bomber, known as [illegible] Joe Louis, Detroit Golden Gloves [illegible] came to St. Louis to [illegible] national title and start [illegible] fame and fortune.

Fighting as a light-heavyweight he won the National A. A. U. crown and [illegible] all over the [illegible] a great future for [illegible] what happened.

This tournament was staged in the same St. Louis arena where Joe will engage Musto [illegible] April [illegible] first appearance [illegible]

He won his first and third bouts on technical knockouts, the second by default [illegible] knockout over Art Sebauti of Chicago.

"He looked the best in the final bout," the Post-Dispatch said the following day [illegible] that [illegible] observers agreed he was the outstanding boxer in the tournament."

LION TRACKMEN TIE FOR SECOND

Plain Dealing Wins Bossier City Invitational Meet With 29 Points

The Ouachita Parish High school track and field team, competing in the Bossier City High school's invitational meet yesterday, tied with Homer's Pelicans for second place in the show. Plain Dealing won the event with 29 points, while Ouachita and Homer scored 23 points each.

The Lions' mile relay team, fresh from first place victory in the Ouachita Relay carnival here Friday night, finished first in the event at Bossier City. The team, composed of Henry Haslitt, Owen Halsell, W. P. Elliott and Jerry York, made it a new record at Bossier City with a time of four minutes and 45 seconds.

The new Bossier City track has not settled, making the track slow, and the time was slower than they posted here Friday night.

Other Lions scoring in the meet were Haslitt, third in the high hurdles and hop-step-jump, and second in the high jump; Moncrief, fourth in the 220-yard race; Sinclair, third in the discus and fourth in the shot; Clark, fourth in the pole vault; Elliott, third in the broad jump, and Bennett, third in the low hurdles.

Fifteen teams participated in the meet. Springhill was fourth with 11 1-2 points. Other scores were Coushatta, 11; Natchitoches, 10; Houghton, nine, Bossier City, eight; Fair Park, 4 1-2; Orange, two.

Ouachita will participate in the Normal relays next Saturday, Coach Woodrow Turner announced last night.

HE ROLLS ROMPS TO WIN IN 6TH ARKANSAS DERBY

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 29.—(P)—Mrs. V. P. Noyes' He Rolls [illegible] Oakmont [illegible] afternoon [illegible] the sixth annual $5000 added Arkansas Derby before a crowd of [illegible].

The winner paid $6.40, $4.40 and $2.[illegible]. Oakmont returned backers $[illegible] and $3.40 while Q[illegible] was third, paying $[illegible]. The event marked the close of the 1941 racing season here.

DOWNSVILLE BALL CLUB BREAKS EVEN IN GAMES

DOWNSVILLE, La., March 29.—(Special)—The Downsville High school baseball team broke even in games this week, defeating the Hico aggregation, 19 to 1, at Hico on Tuesday, and bowing before the strong Marion High school club, 13 to 7, Friday. Hicks, Downsville, hit a homer in the Marion game.

Hicks pitched for Downsville against Hico and Tidwell caught, and Bayles pitched the Marion engagement and Tidwell caught. Batteries for Downsville opponents were Allen and Heard, Hico, and B. Crow and Ward, Marion.

FOUR MARKS SET IN SOUTHWESTERN RELAYS SATURDAY

Speedy North Texas Teachers Squad Accounts For Two Records

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29.—(P)—Four new records went into the books today as Texas athletes dominated the 15th annual renewal of the Southwestern relays—held on Louisiana State university's cinders because the track at Southwestern Louisiana institute, usual host at Lafayette, is undergoing repairs.

The speedy North Texas Teachers squad set up two relay marks in the half-mile relays while Southwestern broke the mark for the college freshman sprint medley.

The meet's high school division produced a record in the shot put as big Jim Tharp of Jesuit, New Orleans, heaved the 12-pound ball 55 feet, 3 1-2 inches—nearly five feet better than the old mark in 1939.

Nearly 300 athletes from Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas participated in the relays held in sunny though windy weather.

In one of two records equalled fleet-footed Welby Williams of North Texas Teachers sped over the 100-yard dash in 9.8 seconds, nosing out Billy Brown, Louisiana State star who won first place in the broad jump.

The other record-matching performance was in the college 120-yard high hurdles, with Harris, East Texas Teachers ace, skimming the timbers in 14.8 seconds. He also won the pole vault.

North Texas State Teachers cleaned up in the college relay events while Tulane annexed first places in the high jump and shot put.

Istrouma won three first places in the high school events, with two New Orleans schools, Jesuit and Fortier, netting two apiece. Creegan of Byrd High, Shreveport, won the javelin at 175 feet, three inches, coming close to the record of 178 feet, five inches. The high school medley relay was won by Laurel, Miss., in a thrilling race.

But A Pair Of Pretty Legs Takes Away A Fraction Of Their Joy

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 29.—(P)—The Little Rock, Ark., Flyers were minus a fraction of their joy after winning their second straight Women's National A. A. U. basketball crown last night—and it was all because of a pair of pretty legs.

These legs belong to Hazel Walker Crutcher — lissom forward for the Flyers—and injuries to them early in the season slowed her down in the meet.

The Flyers agreed everything would have been rosy had she made the all-star roll. She has been selected on the All-American team eight times in her nine years of competition in the national tournament.

Crutcher's injuries, however, were too much of a handicap. Heat treatments made her legs so tender she was forced to remove the bandages in the final games of the meet.

Last night she tallied four points—a field goal and two free throws as Little Rock hung up its 1941 title by a one point margin—16 to 15—over a stubborn Nashville, Tenn., business college team. Des Moines A. I. B captured third place with a 25 to 19 triumph over Davenport, Ia.

Nashville had trouble pentrating the defensive blockade set up by the champions and went scoreless for 13 minutes at one point in the game. Seven points by Myrtle Shiever were instrumental in the Flyers' victory.

Crutcher was replaced as the free throwing queen by Gertrude Easton of the Oakland, Calif., Chapel of the Oaks. Easton dropped 45 out of 50 shots to Crutcher's 42.

A ten-girl All-America squad was chosen to replace the usual two mythical teams. The squad is anticipating inclusion in the planned Pan-American games in South America during the winter of 1942-43.

The members:

Forwards: Monica Ward, A. I. C. Davenport, Iowa; Aline Banks, Nashville; Laverne Simpson, Little Rock; Dorothy Wirds, A. I. B Des Moines; Myrtle Shiever, Little Rock.

Guards: Mary Winslow, Nashville; Leota Barham, Little Rock; Loretta Blann, Little Rock; Margaret Petty, Nashville; Mary Parker, Little Rock.

TECH BALL CLUB SET FOR OPENER

Ruston Nine Plays University Of Illinois On April 4 And 5

RUSTON, La., March 29.—(Special)—Coach George (Blue) Hogg's varsity baseball squad at Louisiana Tech is whipping into shape for the season's openers with the University of Illinois here on April 4-5.

Earl Baker, right hander from Birmingham, Ala., is slated to pitch against the Illini in the first of the two-game series. If relief becomes necessary, Coach Hogg indicated that Eugene Nunnally, also of Birmingham, might pick up where Baker leaves off. Frank Taylor of Union likely will get the mound assignment for the second game. All of those hurlers are sophomores.

Other probable starters, Coach Hogg said, include Ora (Ding) Merriott, Lebanon, Ind., first base; Bobby Young, Ruston, second base; Fred Michael, Homer, or James Tinsley, Haynesville, third base; Glen (Teedie) Bonvillian, Shreveport, shortstop; Dan Otts, Bernice, left field; Billy Hinton, Clay or James Matthews, Olla, Ark., centerfield; and Tim Tyler, Green Briar, Ark., or Walter Ford, Lafayette, Ind., right field.

Coach Wallie Roettger of the Illinois diamond men, will bring 15 players for his annual southern trip, which will include games with Louisiana State university and Southwestern Louisiana Institute as well as Louisiana Tech. His brother, Oscar Roettger, is manager of the Birmingham club of the Southern association.

OUACHITA TAKES GIRLS' TOURNEY

Lioness Softball Team Rallies To Win Lisbon Event In Last Frame

The Ouachita Parish High School girls' softball team, playing its first games of the season, won the Lisbon High School softball tournament yesterday with a last-inning rally that downed Lisbon's girls, 7 to 5, in the finals.

The Lioness club, coached by Mrs. Colleen Mann, advanced to the finals with a 29-to-9 triumph over Sarepta.

The Lisbon ten was leading, 5 to 4, going into the last frame when Vera Cook singled to score Sarah Henderson and tie up the ball game. Cook was forced out but a few minutes later, with two on base and two out, Rosalyn Mason, Ouachita first sacker, drove out a triple to score Dolly Ticheli and Freddie DeCelle and win the battle.

The Lisbon aggregation will be here Wednesday for another clash with the locals and next Saturday the Lionesses will participate in the Sarepta softball tournament, Mrs. Mann announced.

With their first exhibition battle only a week away and their Cotton States campaign opener with El Dorado less than a month in the future, the Monroe White Sox swing into action here tomorrow morning in answer to Manager Doug "Poco" Taitt's call for spring training at Casino park.

Prospects are bright for another first division and possibly a championship club if Manager Taitt's unsolicited praise of newcomers to the White Sox fold is any barometer by which to judge the possibilities, and he hasn't made a bad prediction regarding the Sox in his three seasons here.

The opening session tomorrow is scheduled for 10:30 o'clock, and the workouts, one a day, will continue at that time each day if weather conditions remain favorable.

Early arrivals for the training camp drills are Ray Hoffman, righthand pitcher with the club last season; Larry Kight, righthander obtained from Marshall, Tex.; Ed Knight, outfielder, and Theo Hoemann, pitcher, both with the Sox last year.

Knight was a holdout several days ago but came to terms with the Sox officials the past week. His hitting was only a flash in the pan last season, but he promised Manager Taitt he would "lead the league" this year.

Due tomorrow are Tom Ferry, pitcher; Pete Medak, first base; Bobby Burt, second base; Guy "Red" Pruitt, third base; Joe Eagar, short stop; and Bob Hill, outfielder, all of whom were on the 1940 championship club here. Others due are Ed Langood, Tom Martin, Will Meeker and Verne Williamson, pitchers obtained from Marshall and Shreveport; Bob Megling, rookie pitcher from Ohio; Arian Wood and Floyd Scott, outfielders from Marshall; Dave Philly, outfielder from Shreveport; and Phil Wells, infielder from Marshall.

And of course Manager Taitt is still available for active service in the outfield. He still boasts lusty work with the bat and his stick work is expected to help along as usual.

As yet no catcher has been obtained to replace Bobby Schang who has retired. Shreveport has promised one of their four catchers as soon as the Sports decide which they are going to keep.

But Bob Hill is a pretty fair backstop and may be called upon to handle the chores until a catcher is obtained. Then, too, a fan has tipped the Sox officials that Arian Wood, whose home is at Ansley, is a better catcher than an outfielder, and, if such is true, the Sox may have got the best of a bargain.

Manager Taitt said Kelton Maxfield was not expected. The portside hurler, who led the league in 1939, was summoned to report to his draft board at Kansas City for physical examination preparatory to army service and nothing has been heard from him since.

Commenting on recent acquisitions, Manager Taitt said he had mighty favorable recommendations on Philly,

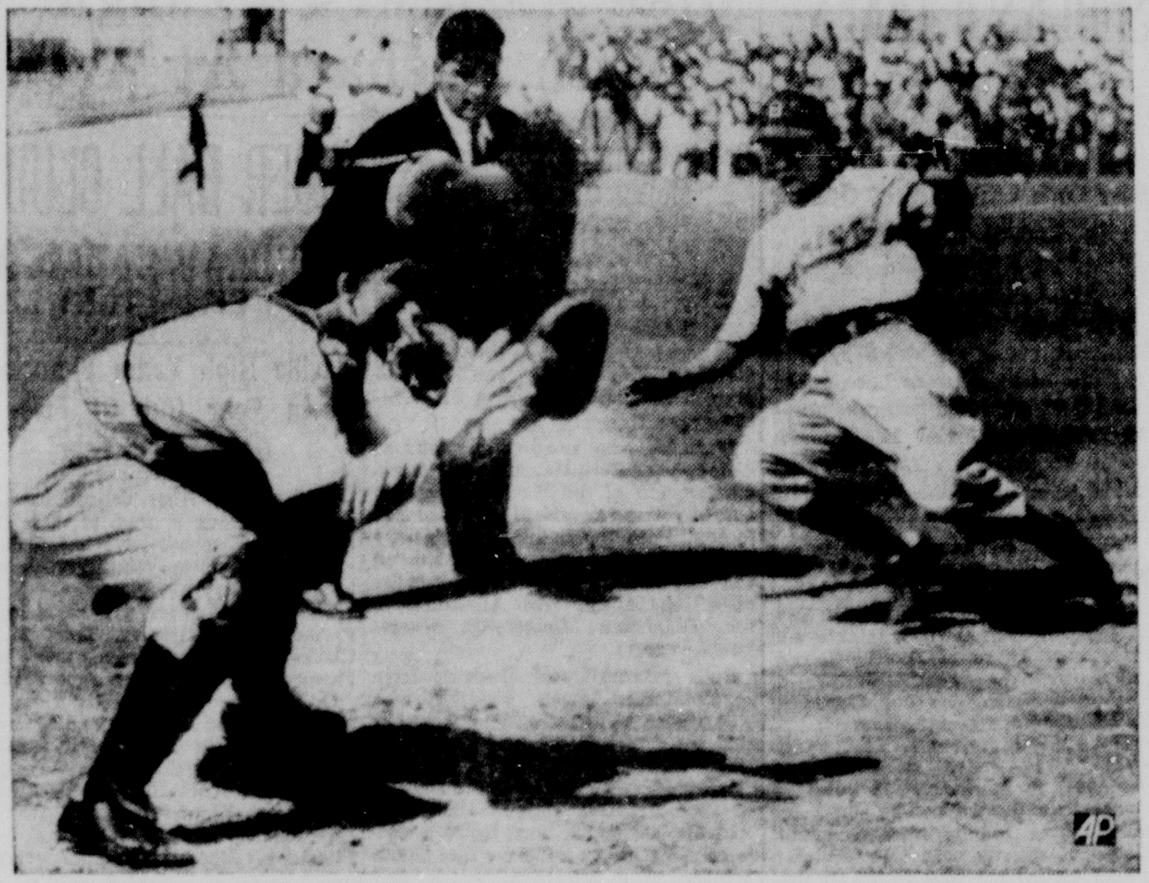
DOUBLE STEAL FAILS TO CLICK FOR DODGERS



Fresh from training in the tropical sun at Havana, the Brooklyn Dodgers attempted a double steal in the first inning of an exhibition game with the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa, Fla. But the Reds broke it up—Baker to Frey, who failed to tag Waner in time but threw Reese out at the plate. Reese is trying to slide home but Catch Baker is waiting. Umpire Barlick watches the play. The Dodgers won, 7 to 1.

MASTER GOLFERS SET FOR TOURNEY

Victory In Augusta Event Amounts To Winter Golf Championship

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 29.—(AP)—What amounts to all but official title to the Winter Open golf championship will be played here next week over the Augusta national golf club course which Bobby Jones designed and in the Augusta Masters tournament which is his pride and joy.

In setting and spirit it is, like Bing Crosby's annual party, one of the most pleasant tournaments of the year. Yet victory in the Masters is prized almost as highly as victory in the U. S. Golf association's championship. It is not nearly so old—next week's will be only the eighth—but it is a very definite fixture.

Last year, for instance, Ben Hogan came to Augusta fresh from three record-breaking victories in North Carolina. His play over that stretch had been sensational. In the Masters, though, he was just one of the many who were also-rans behind Jimmy Demaret (Hogan wasn't even very close) and in the acclaim for Jimmy's performance Hogan's earlier brilliance was almost forgotten.

The Masters is a pleasant tournament for the players, and also for the newspapermen who cover it. The players, with only one 18-hole round a day, don't feel the pressure that becomes progressively greater as the National Open builds up to its 36-hole final day. It's one of the few tournaments where you'll find men like Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour and Bobby Cruickshank swapping yarns in the locker room for hour after hour.

Louis To Return To Ring Where He Started Climb

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—(AP)—Joe Louis probably will do a little reminiscing as he climbs into the ring for his 16th title defense here one week from next Tuesday.

But to Joe it will be more like another homecoming.

It was just seven years ago next week that the Brown Bomber, known as plain Joe Louis, Detroit Golden Gloves whirlwind, came to St. Louis to win his first major national title and start his sensational climb to fame and fortune.

Fighting as a light-heavyweight, he won the National A. A. U. crown and started tongues wagging all over the country, predicting a great future for him. Everyone knows what happened.

This tournament was staged in the same St. Louis arena where Joe will engage Musto, squat Chicagoan, April 8. It will be Louis' first appearance in the ring here since that time and advance ticket sales indicated the ringside crowd will include many of the same fans who saw him then as a sober-faced 19-year-old kid.

Spectators booed Louis in two tournament matches because they thought he let up on opponents just when they were ripe for the kill But they didn't know Joe was fighting under the handicap of a broken bone in one hand and boils under both arms.

He won his first and third bouts on technical knockouts, the second by default and the championship with a knockout over Ario Soldati of Chicago.

"He looked the best in the final bout," the Post-Disuatch said the following day, "and it was only then that virtually all observers agreed he was the outstanding boxer in the tournament."

LION TRACKMEN TIE FOR SECOND

Plain Dealing Wins Bossier City Invitational Meet With 29 Points

The Ouachita Parish High school track and field team, competing in the Bossier City High school's invitational meet yesterday, tied with Homer's Pelicans for second place in the show. Plain Dealing won the event with 29 points, while Ouachita and Homer scored 23 points each.

The Lions' mile relay team, fresh from first place victory in the Ouachita Relay carnival here Friday night, finished first in the event at Bossier City. The team, composed of Henry Hazlitt, Owen Halsell, W. P. Elliott and Jerry York, made it a new record at Bossier City with a time of four minutes and 48 seconds

The new Bossier City track has not settled, making the track slow, and the time was slower than they posted here Friday night.

Other Lions scoring in the meet were Hazlitt, third in the high hurdles and hop-step-jump, and second in the high jump; Moncrief, fourth in the 220-yard race; Sinclair, third in the discus and fourth in the shot; Clark, fourth in the pole vault; Elliott, third in the broad jump; and Bennett, third in the low hurdles.

Fifteen teams participated in the meet. Springhill was fourth with 11 1-2 points. Other scores were Coushatta, 11; Natchitoches, 10; Houghton, nine; Bossier City, eight; Fair Park, 4 1-2; Orange, two.

Ouachita will participate in the Normal relays next Saturday, Coach Woodrow Turner announced last night.

Hicks pitched for Downsville against Hico and Tidwell caught, and Bayles pitched the Mario nengagement and Tidwell caught. Batteries for Downsville opponents were Allen and Heard, Hico, and B. Crow and Ward, Marion.

FOUR MARKS SET IN SOUTHWESTERN RELAYS SATURDAY

Speedy North Texas Teachers Squad Accounts For Two Records

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29.—(AP)—Four new records went into the books today as Texas athletes dominated the 15th annual renewal of the Southwestern relays—held on Louisiana State university's cinders because the track at Southwestern Louisiana institute, usual host at Lafayette, is undergoing repairs.

The speedy North Texas Teachers squad set up two relay marks in the half-mile relays while Southwestern broke the mark for the college freshman sprint medley.

The meet's high school division produced a record in the shot put as big Jim Tharp of Jesuit, New Orleans, heaved the 12-pound ball 55 feet, 3 1-2 inches—nearly five feet better than the old mark in 1939.

Nearly 300 athletes from Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas participated in the relays held in sunny though windy weather.

In one of two records equalled fleet-footed Welby Williams of North Texas Teachers sped over the 100-yard dash in 9.8 seconds, nosing out Billy Brown, Louisiana State star who won first place in the broad jump.

The other record-matching performance was in the college 120-yard high hurdles, with Harris, East Texas Teachers ace, skimming the timbers in 14.8 seconds. He also won the pole vault.

North Texas State Teachers cleaned up in the college relay events while Tulane annexed first places in the high jump and shot put.

Istrouma won three first places in the high school events, with two New Orleans schools, Jesuit and Fortier, netting two apiece. Creegan of Byrd High, Shreveport, won the javelin at 175 feet, three inches, coming close to the record of 178 feet, five inches. Little Rock Flyers Take Women's N.A.A.U. Crown

But A Pair Of Pretty Legs Takes Away A Fraction Of Their Joy

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 29.—(AP)—The Little Rock, Ark., Flyers were minus a fraction of their joy after winning their second straight Women's National A. A. U. basketball crown last night—and it was all because of a pair of pretty legs.

These legs belong to Hazel Walker Crutcher — lissom forward for the Flyers—and injuries to them early in the season slowed her down in the meet.

Baseball Banter

By Judson Bailey

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—The Yankees' sale of Pitcher Steve Sundra to Washington shows that the baseball bigwigs never get too angry with each other to do business. . . . A few weeks ago President Ed Barrow of the Yanks and President Clark Griffith of the Senators were exchanging heated remarks about New York sneaking Babe Dahlgren out of the American league on a waiver list that included Joe DiMaggio and other stars. . . . Once last winter Barrow was involved in an argument with another magnate and spouted off in an appraisal of his adversary, then with a twinkle of his eyes, ordered: "But don't print that. I'm not too mad to make a trade with him."

Bill Nagel, who is sort of persona non grata with the Philadelphia Athletics, asked and received permission from Connie Mack to chat with Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox. . . . The interview lasted 50 seconds. . . . The day the Cubs demolished the White Sox 18-1, Owner P. K. Wrigley was watching from a box. . . . Which might mean he should see more games. . . . Newspapermen still are barred from the Cleveland dressing room after ball game., although Ossie Vitt, who established the rule, has departed. . . . Mike McCormick, who hit .300 for the Reds last year, has been trying to make himself into a "pull" hitter, but is ready to give it up.

The St. Louis Browns, who drew exactly 59 paid admissions for one of their exhibitions at San Antonio, are thinking about shifting to Florida next spring. . . . The Indians want to move out of Fort Myers. . . . The Pirates aren't altogether satisfied on the coast, where Los Angeles is showing little interest in spring games, the Giants may quit Miami and the Dodgers are flirting with several cities. . . . Bill Manley, secretary-treasurer of the International league, was 52 this week, but is as chipper as any of his five kids. . . . He was working with Ernie Lanigan, the one-man baseball encyclopedia, on the old New York Press when he moved over to the International in June, 1911.

Here is the first spectacle item of the new season—Catcher Jake Early of the Senators is wearing glasses at bat on the advice of Presy Griffith. . . . One reason the minor leagues were refused a voice in the naming of baseball's next commissioner was that some major league magnates suspected Branch Rickey, the mastermind of the Cardinal farm system, would be able to control the selection of the little leagues. . . . Which in its way is a great compliment to the ability of Rickey.

MACK SELLS BILL NAGEL TO PHILLIES FOR $7,500

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—(AP)—Connie Mack today sold Bill Nagel to the Phillies for $7,500. The manager of the Athletics said he did not know whether Doc Prothro of the Phils planned to use the had-hitting Nagel in the infield or outfield.

Last year Nagel hit 37 home runs for Baltimore in the International league, where he was placed on option after a trial with the A's in 1939. He came back to the A's last week after refusing to report for training with Toronto, Judge K. M. Landis ruling that an option player must be given a spring trial with the parent club before a second optional assignment could become effective.

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—(AP)—Shucks II, owned and sailed by John H. White of the western Long Island sound fleet, finished first in the opening race of the Ernest Lee Jahnche trophy series of the 1941 star class spring regatta on Lake Pontchartrain today.

Edward B. Jahnche's Puff, of New Orleans, finished third, a minute and 21 seconds astern of Scout. Stars'n, sailed by W. "Peck" Farley of Rochester, N. Y., was one second in Puff's wake.

The race, begun in a light southwest breeze, ended in winds that freshened to more than 10 miles an hour out of the west. The star boats sailed three rounds of a triangular course of slightly over three miles.

Puff turned the first round in first position, and Shucks II led the final two rounds.

Fifth place went to Concubine, sailed by Count Alfred de Marigny of Nassau. Following in order were J. Breanon Cleary's Sparkler III of New Orleans; Harry G. Nye's Gale of Chicago; Holt Thomas' Porader of Peoria, Ill.; Robert J. Newman's Whistler of New Orleans; Morris W. Newman's Solo of New Orleans; A. Ellis Barrow's Athlon II of San Diego, Calif.; Herbert Van Horn's Maheti of New Orleans; Conrad Duvic's Baby of New Orleans; Mrs. Edward B. Jahncke's Tempe III of New Orleans, M. A. Gordon Lynch trimmed Bob McCreary by a 4-3 count, and Ernie Cannella downed Bobby McKinney 5-4.

A pair of former football stars, Mike Mazurki of Los Angeles, Calif., and Ellis Bashara, the Oklahoma Terror, will meet in the main event on the weekly heavyweight wrestling program here Tuesday night at the Monroe arena.

Mazurki, who roughed his way to victory over Pete Managoff last week, was captain of the Manhattan eleven a few years ago and also played pro football with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bashara, who hasn't appeared on the last few programs here because of a leg injury, was All-American for Oklahoma University several years ago.

Both Mazurki and Bashara have reputations as "mean" wrestlers who will resort to any tactic to win, but Bashara surprised the mat fans in his last two shows here by sticking to clean tactics and winning the acclaim of Promoter Gus Kallio's customers.

In his last match here Bashara suffered a leg injury when he met Dutch Schultz in a semi-final battle and then took on Chief Osley Saunooke, the Cherokee giant, in a battle royal that included Schultz and Paul Lopez.

However, the husky Oklahoman is ready for active duty again and promises to give the West Coast battler a hectic night.

Pete Managoff, the Illinois coal miner, comes back for the semi-final call in an engagement with Cecil McGill, young Tulsa, Okla., grappler. Both Managoff and McGill have been popular with the fans in previous engagements, and a good bout is expected.

Managoff favors the "scientific" style of wrestling and likes a hook scissor best to subdue opponents. McGill is known as a "leg wrestler" and has won most of his matches with tricky holds on the limbs of opponents.

The main event has a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win. The semi-final, also two falls to win, will have an hour time limit.

WISCONSIN KEEPS TITLE IN BIG TEN

KANSAS CITY, March 29.—(AP)—Wisconsin pulled the Washington State defense out tonight, then sneaked behind it for a 39 to 34 victory over the Cougars to keep the National Collegiate basketball title in the Big Ten conference.

The Badgers, in turn, stopped all the Far Westerners but Kirk Gebert, junior guard, who collected 21 points in the vain effort to bring to the Pacific coast the crown won last year by Indiana university.

TIGER BALL CLUB TO PLAY FARMERS

Neville High Team Victorious In Four Out Of Five Games This Year

The Neville High School baseball team, victorious in four of their five games this season, have three more engagements on tap for this week, one here and two on the road.

The Bengals meet the Farmerville Farmers here Tuesday. They go to Clarks on Thursday and then give Farmerville a return game on Friday.

Only three hurlers comprise the Neville mound staff, but they have been turning in stellar performances. John Inzina pitched a one-hit job against Jonesboro-Hodge here Friday and James Kepner hurled a two-hit performance against Clarks here Thursday. Jimmy Nethery, veteran moundsman, is the other hurler.

Other members of the squad are Sam Canal and Jack Broadnax, catchers; Joe Tidwell, first base; J. M. Head, Andy Canal, W. P. Scalia and Mike Inzina, who share second base duties; Sam Ladart, heavy-hitting shortstop; Billy Porter, third base, and James Porter, Doyne DeMasterson, Van Shepard and J. B. Simmons, outfielders. John Inzina also plays outfield when not pitching.

The Tigers lost their season opener to Marion, but defeated the Marion club in a return game. They downed Jonesboro-Hodge twice and Clarks once.

YANKS' ROOKIE INFIELDER GIVEN DRAFT DEFERMENT

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—Phil Rizzuto, sparkling rookie shortstop of the New York Yankees, has been given a deferred 3-A classification by his local draft board.

The action, based on the fact that the 22-year-old, unmarried baseball star is the chief support of his family, was taken Friday night but not disclosed until tonight and it is probable that Rizzuto and the Yankees do not know of it yet.

BEN HOGAN STILL LEADING IN LAND OF SKY TOURNEY

Lawson Little Belts Two Of Finest Wood Shots Of His Life

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 29.—(AP)—Though Lawson Little, the National Open champion, belted two of the finest wood shots of his life, he couldn't pick up any slack on Ben Hogan today and the field reached the halfway mark in the $5,000 "Land of the Sky" open golf tournament with Hogan still in front by four strokes.

Hogan and Little played together through the chill blasts that buffeted the Biltmore Forest Country club course and made accurate gauging of approach almost impossible. Each had a 73, two over par, to give Hogan a 36-hole total of 140 and Little a 144.

A blond darkhorse came through to tie Little for second place. He was 23-year-old Joe Kirkwood, Jr., handsome son of the veteran trick shot specialist, who bagged an eagle 3 on the 17th and then holed a chip shot to save his par on the 18th for a one-under par 70, one of the day's two sub-par rounds.

If it hadn't been for his two great shots, Little might have lost ground instead of at least keeping even.

The first came on the second hole, where his drive landed his ball in about a quarter inch of water at the edge of a winding creek. He had to stand on two stones to hit the ball, and had to play it under a bridge that was barely far enough in front of him to permit a full follow through. Lawson whaled into the ball with a spoon, landed it about 25 yards short of the green, and chipped up for two putts and one-over-par 5 that might have been worse.

On the 16th he got a near miraculous par 4. He sliced his tee shot deep into the trees, some 75 yards off the fairway and only a foot from an out-of-bounds stake. This time he took his driver, played it through the trees with an intentional slice, got within 30 yards of the green and chipped to five feet from the cup for his par.

Puff turned the first round in first position, and Shucks II led the final two rounds.

Fifth place went to Concubine, sailed by Count Alfred de Marigny of Nassau. Following in order were J. Breanon Cleary's Sparkler III of New Orleans; Harry G. Nye's Gale of Chicago; Holt Thomas' Parader of Peoria, Ill.; Robert J. Newman's Whistler of New Orleans; Morris W. Newman's Solo of New Orleans; A. Ellis Barron's Athlon II of San Diego, Calif.; Herbert Van Horn's Maheti of New Orleans; Conrad Duvic's Baby of New Orleans; Mrs. Edward B. Jahncke's Tempe III of New Orleans; M. A. Weingrun's Nike of New Orleans; Richard G. Jones' Chickle II of New Orleans; Douglas Drennan's Ark of New Orleans, and Lawson Ducles' Reverie of New Orleans. Two boats withdrew.

The first race of the championship series will be sailed tomorrow afternoon. Two boats each will represent seven star class fleets from the United States and Nassau. The race will continue through next Saturday.

OLE MISS GOLFERS WIN OVER SOUTHWESTERN, 4-0

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 29.—(AP)—With nine birdies between them, Felix Zaremba and Cary Middlecoff shone today as their Ole Miss Rebels made a clean sweep of four golf matches with Southwestern's Lynx.

Zaremba, Port Washington, N. J., sharpshooter, utilized deadly approach shots to clip three off par and defeat Billy Wooten 6-5. Five of the birdies were his.

Middlecoff, a Memphian and Tennessee State champ, showed fine form with his irons in conquering Bob Stites, also 6-5, and registered one under par.

A pair of former football stars, Mike Mazurki of Los Angeles, Calif., and Ellis Bashara, the Oklahoma Terror, will meet in the main event on the weekly heavyweight wrestling program here Tuesday night at the Monroe arena.

Mazurki, who roughed his way to victory over Pete Managoff last week, was captain of the Manhattan eleven a few years ago and also played pro football with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bashara, who hasn't appeared on the last few programs here because of a leg injury, was All-American for Oklahoma University several years ago.

Both Mazurki and Bashara have reputations as "mean" wrestlers who will resort to any tactic to win, but Bashara surprised the mat fans in his last two shows here by sticking to clean tactics and winning the acclaim of Promoter Gus Kallio's customers.

In his last match here Bashara suffered a leg injury when he met Dutch Schultz in a semi-final battle and then took on Chief Osley Saunooke, the Cherokee giant, in a battle royal that included Schultz and Paul Lopez.

However, the husky Oklahoman is ready for active duty again and promises to give the West Coast battler a hectic night.

Pete Managoff, the Illinois coal miner, comes back for the semi-final call in an engagement with Cecil McGill, young Tulsa, Okla., grappler. Both Managoff and McGill have been popular with the fans in previous engagements, and a good bout is expected.

Managoff favors the "scientific" style of wrestling and likes a hook scissor best to subdue opponents. McGill is known as a "leg wrestler" and has won most of his matches with tricky holds on the limbs of opponents.

The main event has a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win. The semi-final, also two falls to win, will have an hour time limit.

WISCONSIN KEEPS TITLE IN BIG TEN

KANSAS CITY, March 29.—(AP)—Wisconsin pulled the Washington State defense out tonight, then sneaked behind it for a 39 to 34 victory over the Cougars to keep the National Collegiate basketball title in the Big Ten conference.

The Badgers, in turn, stopped all the Far Westerners but Kirk Gebert, junior guard, who collected 21 points in the vain effort to bring to the Pacific coast the crown won last year by Indiana university.

TIGER BALL CLUB TO PLAY FARMERS

The Neville High School baseball team, victorious in four of their five games this season, have three more engagements on tap for this week, one here and two on the road.

The Bengals meet the Farmerville Farmers here Tuesday. They go to Clarks on Thursday and then give Farmerville a return game on Friday.

Only three hurlers comprise the Neville mound staff, but they have been turning in stellar performances. John Inzina pitched a one-hit job against Jonesboro-Hodge here Friday and James Kepner hurled a two-hit performance against Clarks here Thursday. Jimmy Nethery, veteran moundsman, is the other hurler.

Other members of the squad are Sam Canal and Jack Broadnax, catchers; Joe Tidwell, first base; J. M. Head, Andy Canal, W. P. Scalia and Mike Inzina, who share second base duties; Sam Ladart, heavy-hitting shortstop; Billy Porter, third base, and James Porter, Doyne DeMasterson, Van Shepard and J. B. Simmons, outfielders. John Inzina also plays outfield when not pitching.

The Tigers lost their season opener to Marion, but defeated the Marion club in a return game. They downed Jonesboro-Hodge twice and Clarks once.

YANKS' ROOKIE INFIELDER GIVEN DRAFT DEFERMENT

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—Phil Rizzuto, sparkling rookie shortstop of the New York Yankees, has been given a deferred 3-A classification by his local draft board.

The action, based on the fact that the 22-year-old, unmarried baseball star is the chief support of his family, was taken Friday night but not disclosed until tonight and it is probable that Rizzuto and the Yankees do not know of it yet.

BEN HOGAN STILL LEADING IN LAND OF SKY TOURNEY

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 29.—(AP)—Though Lawson Little, the National Open champion, belted two of the finest wood shots of his life, he couldn't pick up any slack on Ben Hogan today and the field reached the halfway mark in the $5,000 "Land of the Sky" open golf tournament with Hogan still in front by four strokes.

Hogan and Little played together through the chill blasts that buffeted the Biltmore Forest Country club course and made accurate gauging of approach almost impossible. Each had a 73, two over par, to give Hogan a 36-hole total of 140 and Little a 144.

A blond darkhorse came through to tie Little for second place. He was 23-year-old Joe Kirkwood, Jr., handsome son of the veteran trick shot specialist, who bagged an eagle 3 on the 17th and then holed a chip shot to save his par on the 18th for a one-under par 70, one of the day's two sub-par rounds.

If it hadn't been for his two great shots, Little might have lost ground instead of at least keeping even.

The first came on the second hole, where his drive landed his ball in about a quarter inch of water at the edge of a winding creek. He had to stand on two stones to hit the ball, and had to play it under a bridge that was barely far enough in fron of him to permit a full follow throug Lawson whaled into the ball with spoon, landed it about 25 yards sho of the green, and chipped up for tw putts and one-over-par 5 that migh have been worse.

On the fifth he got a near miraculous par 4. He sliced his tee shot deep into the trees, some 75 yards off the fairway and only a foot from an out-of-bounds stake. This time he took his driver, played it through the trees with an intentional slice, got within 30 yeards of the green and chipped to five feet from the cup for his par.

IDAHO WINS NATIONAL COLLEGE BOXING CROWN

S. L. I. SECOND, L. S. U. FOURTH IN TEAM POINTS

Rodney Belaire Of The Bayou Bengals Wins 155-Pound Title

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 29—(AP)—Boxers from the Pacific coast, paced by the University of Idaho, carried off half of the eight National Collegiate championships tonight in hard-fought finals before a crowd of 5,000 in Penn State's recreation hall.

Idaho, winning three individual titles, captured the unofficial team championship with 15 points, two more than Southwestern Louisiana institute of Lafayette, La., the runner-up. Penn State and Wisconsin tied for third place with nine points.

The individual champions crowned were: Ted Kara, Idaho, 120 pounds; Frank Kara, Idaho, 127 pounds; Gene Rankin, Wisconsin, 135 pounds; Elton Tobiasson, California Aggies, 145 pounds; Rodney Belaire, Louisiana State university, 155 pounds; Laune Erickson, Idaho, 165 pounds; Paul Scally, Penn State, 175 pounds, and Louis Campbell, Southwestern Louisiana institute, heavyweight.

Ted Kara's title was his second straight national 120 pound crown. He also won the 127 pound title two years ago to become the tournament's first three-time champion.

Erickson was the only other successful defending champion although Rankin won the 135 pound title two years ago, but did not compete last year.

The Karas are brothers, whose home is in Cleveland, Ohio. Watching them tonight was their mother, Mrs. [illegible] Kara of 2617 Euclid Heights, who received an ovation from the crowd when she appeared at the ringside at the conclusion of the bouts. The announcer in introducing her said that tonight was the first time Mrs. Kara has seen her sons in four years.

Ted received still another honor in winning the John S. Lacrosse trophy, presented by the coaches to the tournament's outstanding boxer in memory of the late John S. Lacrosse, University of Virginia coach who died last year.

Scally's victory in the 175 pound final marked the first time an Eastern boxer had captured an individual title since 1936 when Andy Dickerson of West Virginia carried off heavyweight honors.

Trailing the four leaders in the unofficial team title fight, computed on a 5-3-2-1 basis, were Louisiana State university with eight points and North Carolina and Wisconsin, six each; California Aggies five; Florida four; San Jose, Calif. State, and Miami, Fla., three each; Virginia, West Virginia and Lock Haven, Pa., Teachers, two each; Superior, Wis., Teachers, one.

The Kara boys, first brothers in the tournament's history to win titles, faced Southwestern Louisiana institute rivals in the finals, Ted outpunching Donald Harper and Frank out pointing Edwin Ourso.

Belaire gave the south its first champion by outpunching William Roth of Wisconsin in the 155 pound final. Belaire, a native of Lake Charles, La., rocked Roth with a two fisted attack on the head and staggered the Wisconsin southpaw with a crashing right to the jaw in the third round.

The hard-hitting Campbell of Southwestern Louisiana institute won the heavyweight crown with a right-handed attack that was too much for Gates Kimball of North Carolina. After a slow first round, Campbell dropped Kimball with a smashing right hook to the jaw in the second round and outpunched the North Carolinian in the third round.

Along The Levees

By MORTIMER KREEGER

NEW ORLEANS, March 29—(P)—Bill Brandt, the National league publicity dispenser, has just thrown a high hard one that leaves us gasping.

Giving statistics on the sources of his loop's talent, he says that of 301 players on the rosters of the eight clubs now training, only six were born in Louisiana and five in Mississippi.

That's just one team for both states with a relief pitcher and a utility. California, the land of sunshine, floods and earthquakes, has produced 34. The discrepancy can't be due entirely to the fact that people will try harder to get away from California than from Louisiana or Mississippi.

There's one solace in the fact that only 12 states are ahead of Louisiana in this business and 2[illegible] are behind Mississippi. Eleven states scored zero.

Apparently section of the country has nothing to do with the situation, for the first ten in order are California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Missouri, New York, North Carolina, Massachusetts, Texas and Ohio (tied) and Georgia.

It seems that, generally speaking, the states with most people produce the most ball players, which is simple enough. The first ten in percentage of National leaguers to population are Nevada, Missouri, Rhode Island, North Carolina, California, Arizona, Delaware, Massachusetts, Utah and Arkansas.

California still makes a good showing. And frankly, we're surprised about all this. We thought this bayou country was the best place in the world to raise not only cotton, cane and cattle, but shortstops and centerfielders as well.

There are still some prospects of raising the quota too. Millsaps' big righthand pitcher, Charlie Ward, has professional ambitions and Wilbur Kinley of the Daily News reports the Jackson Senators may take him on as a batting practice pitcher during the training grind, before he graduates and seeks a fulltime job.

And at L. S. U. they're overheard on Joffre Cross, senior shortstop. Carl Lind, former Tulane and Cleveland Indians infielder, declares Cross "fields well, gets rid of the ball in a hurry, has a good arm and has power at the plate."

That seems to cover the subject and Joel Hunt, who did some chores for the St. Louis Cards, is less specific but just as inclusive when he allows, "He's as good a college shortstop as I ever saw."

Legion Field, Lake Charles' baseball park, seems to be ravaged by skunks according to Elliot Chaze of the American Press. The groundkeepers are setting traps to catch the [illegible] [illegible] was just what you thought [illegible] before they get into the [illegible] of cushions waiting for spectators to come sit on them.

Meridianites, who have reason to think the name "Bears" brought them no luck at all, will call their ball club "Eagles" henceforth.

Just to change the subject, L. S. U.'s promising sophomore golfer, Ben Downing, has come down with the mumps—and next week brings matches with Tulane and Mississippi. They're claiming in Baton Rouge that Ole Miss' publicity manufacturer, Billy Gates, is spreading the malady around to be sure [illegible], we'll bear his Cary Middlecoff.

BRITAIN'S ARMY AT NAZIS' DOOR

Turkish ally; second, Nis, on the Morava river, key city of southeast Serbia held by Yugoslavia; third, the Iron Gate, control of which is shared by Yugoslavia and the Germans in Rumania, and finally, Vienna, gateway to old Austria.

If Yugoslavia should go to war against Germany, the British, Greek and Yugoslav armies presumably would attempt to polish off the Italians in Albania and possibly attempt to drive up the Vardar valley to clash with the Germans while holding the Struma line against attack from Bulgaria.

Obvious hazards appear in the remoteness of such battlegrounds from England's home base and the known effectiveness of the German forces already in Rumania and Bulgaria. On the other hand, the German army itself is stretched along a 500-mile supply line.

Presumable British strategy would be to hack this line, which depends largely on precarious pontoon bridges across the Danube and on the rickety Balkan railways.

A frequently mentioned British strategy would be to try to force the Germans to fight in mountain terrain, where their vaunted mechanical equipment, which overran the plains of Poland and France, would be at a disadvantage.

Conversely, the Germans' own scheme, while pushing into Croatia, Thrace and possibly European Turkey, would be to defend the vital Danube route with every resource while cracking at concentrations and landing ports by air and harassing the British navy in the Mediterranean.

Germany since last fall has concentrated 500,000 or more men in Rumania, Bulgaria and Hungary; and theoretically under the tripartite pact terms could call into a fight 1,000,000 Rumanians, 500,000 Bulgarians and 800,000 Hungarians, backed up by 1,000,000 or more German reserves.

Germany, however, is undoubtedly reluctant to have a war stop the production of the grain fields, oil wells and mines of the southeast.

GERMANS SEND NEW PROTEST TO U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—Berlin has forwarded a new and vigorous protest to the United States, it was learned today, over the surrender of two escaped German prisoners of war to Canada.

The German embassy, an informant said, was instructed to protest as a violation of the Hague convention the action of immigration officials who denied the fleeing German officers entry into this country and returned them to Canadian custody. The convention prescribes the treatment to be accorded war prisoners.

State department officials said tonight that the protest had not yet been received, and declined any comment.

The German embassy lodged a protest on March 24 against handcuffing of the German prisoners at the time they were returned to Canada.

The two Germans—Lieutenant Bernhard Coboke and Heinz Rottman, believed to be submarine officers—escaped from an internment camp near Kingston, Ontario, on March 21, but were intercepted midway across the frozen St. Lawrence river by the United States border patrol.

Walter Lee Barnes Advances In National A. A. U. Wrestling Matches

NEW YORK, March 29—(AP)—After winding wearily through nearly 15 hours of competition, the National A. A. U. wrestling championships finally came up with an upset late today during a session which saw Oklahoma grapplers, as usual, grab the spotlight.

The surprise package—it happened to National Collegiate Champion Burl Jennings of Michigan State, who dropped a split decision to Ray Stone, late of Iowa State college—was all the more amazing in that Jennings originally hails from Oklahoma. Things like that ordinarily don't happen to the grappling boys from the Sooner state.

Standout performances included Doug Lee, lightweight runnerup in '41, who completed a string of three straight triumphs by falls today, middleweight Homer Faucett, another [illegible], defending light heavyweight Champion Henry Wittenberg, another with three straight-fall victories to his credit, and Walter Lee Barnes, featherweight husky from Louisiana State, who pinned well-regarded [illegible] of Boston in the heavyweight class.

The Sox's first exhibition battle is slated for next Sunday with Lake Charles and a second game with the Evangeline League club will follow on Monday. The locals will play Natchez the following Thursday, and games with Alexandria are slated for April 12 and 13. All the games will be on the road. The league's opening date is April 27.

The Sox will also be sporting a new bus this year to take them around the circuit. Manager Taitt said a bus was being purchased from the Shreveport club.

HEAD OF CROATS ASKS AXIS PACTS

Croat suspicions are said to have strengthened extremists who long have wanted an independent Croatia and have contended that autonomy was a fiction.

Thirty communist demonstrators shouting demands for a pact with soviet Russia were arrested tonight when they refused to disband.

Informed circles say that if Macek participates in the government without a guarantee of Croat autonomy he will risk his leadership and that if he balks at cooperating all Croats will unite behind him in their former status of opposition to Belgrade.

Most of his difficulties, these sources say, arise from extremists who are reported gaining recruits on the supposition that the time is ripe to break away from the Serbs. Also opposed to him is a Croat Nazi party which wants Croatia to become a German protectorate. On the other side are Croat "Yugoslavs" who favor cooperation with the Serbs under any circumstances.

MACEK IS RETAINED AS VICE-PREMIER

(By Associated Press)

The British announced startling sea and air successes against the Axis last night while a serious internal obstacle placed in jeopardy the new Yugoslavia government which London hailed as a firm friend.

The Mediterranean fleet of the royal navy was said to have engaged Premier Mussolini's navy in what the first scant information suggested probably was the biggest sea battle of the war.

Atop this news came an air ministry report in London that speedy little R. A. F. fighters skimmed 20 feet over rooftops in German-occupied France and Belgium in daylight forays yesterday—to the cheers of the inhabitants—without even one German fighter challenging them. The R. A. F. made machine gun attacks on railroads, highways, shipping and grounded German planes, the ministry said.

The latest threat to peace in Yugoslavia was seen in authoritative reports that Dr. Vladimir Macek, leader of millions of Croats, was insisting that the new regime publish a declaration affirming the kingdom's adherence to the Axis alliance—an alliance which caused the downfall of the pro-Axis government.

Macek was expected to remain silent at Zagreb, Croat capital, on all overtures that he be active in the new regime, it was said, at least until he can go to Belgrade Tuesday or Wednesday and investigate the situation at first hand. Macek was retained as vice-premier in the new government.

An important member of the Croat leader's intimate circle asserted that the "new government has decidedly won the confidence of all Serbs, but has lost the confidence of all Croats." Croats were reported as saying there is a widespread feeling that last Thursday's coup d'etat was a Serb stroke directed more against Croats than against the tripartite pact.

As heartening news of the British naval success reached London, word also was received from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, that Germany had ordered all her nationals out of the province of Serbia. Italians began leaving by the hundreds and British women also were advised to get out as the new Yugoslavia government debated the problem of keeping the nation in the non-belligerent class.

Germany also directed its commercial airline, the Lufthansa, to suspend operations over Yugoslavia, the Belgrade government closed the part of the Danube they control to German navigation, and tension increased in diplomatic quarters. Only one thing seemed certain: General Dusan Simovic, premier of the new regime which ousted the Yugoslav signers of the Axis alliance, was not eager to provoke a conflict with anybody.

In Berlin authorized sources declared the Reich would not be provoked into action against Yugoslavia by what they discribed as the operations of British agents or the cries of street mobs.

The Reich, these sources said, could take its time and calmly weigh the importance of the upheaval which swiftly changed Yugoslavia's status. Germany, however, will not "stand for being insulted," the spokesmen warned. The German minister, Viktor Von Heeren, was reported to be still in Belgrade waiting for a clarification of the issues.

On the East African front fast British mechanized forces were reported cutting at Italian troops retreating from Cheren to Asmara, Eritrea, in an effort to take the capital before the Fascists could prepare new defenses.

British forces farther south in Ethiopia were believed preparing for an assault on Diredawa on the Addis Ababa-Jibuti railway, and the railway itself, which connects the capital with the Gulf of Aden, was bombed again while other planes bombed various points in Ethiopia and Eritrea.

Other British planes, operating from England carried out offensive patrols over Belgium and France during the afternoon, machine gunning Nazi airdromes, road and rail transport and shipping.

Stefani, official Italian news agency, claimed a new successful weapon against British shipping—tiny, obstacle-hurdling craft so fast they could lay explosives alongside a victim and escape in a burst of speed. These craft raided Suda bay, Island of Crete, Friday, and sank "an enemy warship," the agency said.

London had its first night air raid warning since March 20. The sirens screamed the all clear shortly afterwards.

Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka had another long conversation with Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, authorized German sources said. He leaves for Rome this afternoon.

In the war at sea the German high command claimed a long range bomber attacked a British troop transport 310 miles west of Cape Wrath, Scotland, and forced the soldiers to take to lifeboats.

tion against strikers." The union seeks, among other things, wage adjustments.

A mix-up in telegrams resulted in the postponement from yesterday until today of a mediation board hearing on the strike of the Vanadium Workers of America (C. I. O.) at the Bridgeville, Pa., plant of the Vanadium corporation. Davis told reporters that a telegram inviting union representatives to the Washington hearing was not delivered until too late for them to arrive at the meeting scheduled for yesterday. The strike was called because of employment of non-union plant guards.

The board, however, did start hearings yesterday on another case, the strike at the South Plainfield, N. J., plant of the Cornell Dubilier corporation. That strike began 20 days ago in connection with wage increase demands by the A. F. L. Electrical Workers union.

Federal and state mediators at Johnstown, Pa., conferred with union leaders in an attempt to get workers back to their jobs by Monday at the huge Cambria works of the Bethlehem Steel company. C. I. O. men walked out Friday in protest against elections of collective bargaining representatives by the Employes Representation Plan, an unaffiliated union.

The possibility of a work stoppage by 350,000 miners in the soft coal industry drew nearer. Negotiators at New York pressed efforts to reach a new labor-management agreement before the existing one expires at midnight Monday.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers (C. I. O.), said that if a new pact was not drafted by the deadline, miners in eight Appalachian states would be unable to go to work. The miners are seeking wage increases.

A strike threat also developed at the great Chicago stockyards when negotiations intended to settle a dispute over working hours and wages collapsed. A district director of the C. I. O. Packinghouse Workers Organizing committee said a strike probably would be called early next week, but added that if the Union Stockyard and Transit company management "is in any way disposed to settle this matter no strike will be called."

The three Ladarts were arrested March 5 along with Leon Head and five negroes, Willie Sanders, Clarence Neal, Roy Jackson, Henry Bardwell and Odis Dixon, who were charged with larceny of boxes of snuff and sacks of sugar from the Eureka grocery warehouse which they allegedly sold to the Ladarts.

Sentence has not yet been passed on Head and the five negroes, former Eureka employes, who pleaded guilty to all but one count on March 14 and were remanded until after the Ladart trial.

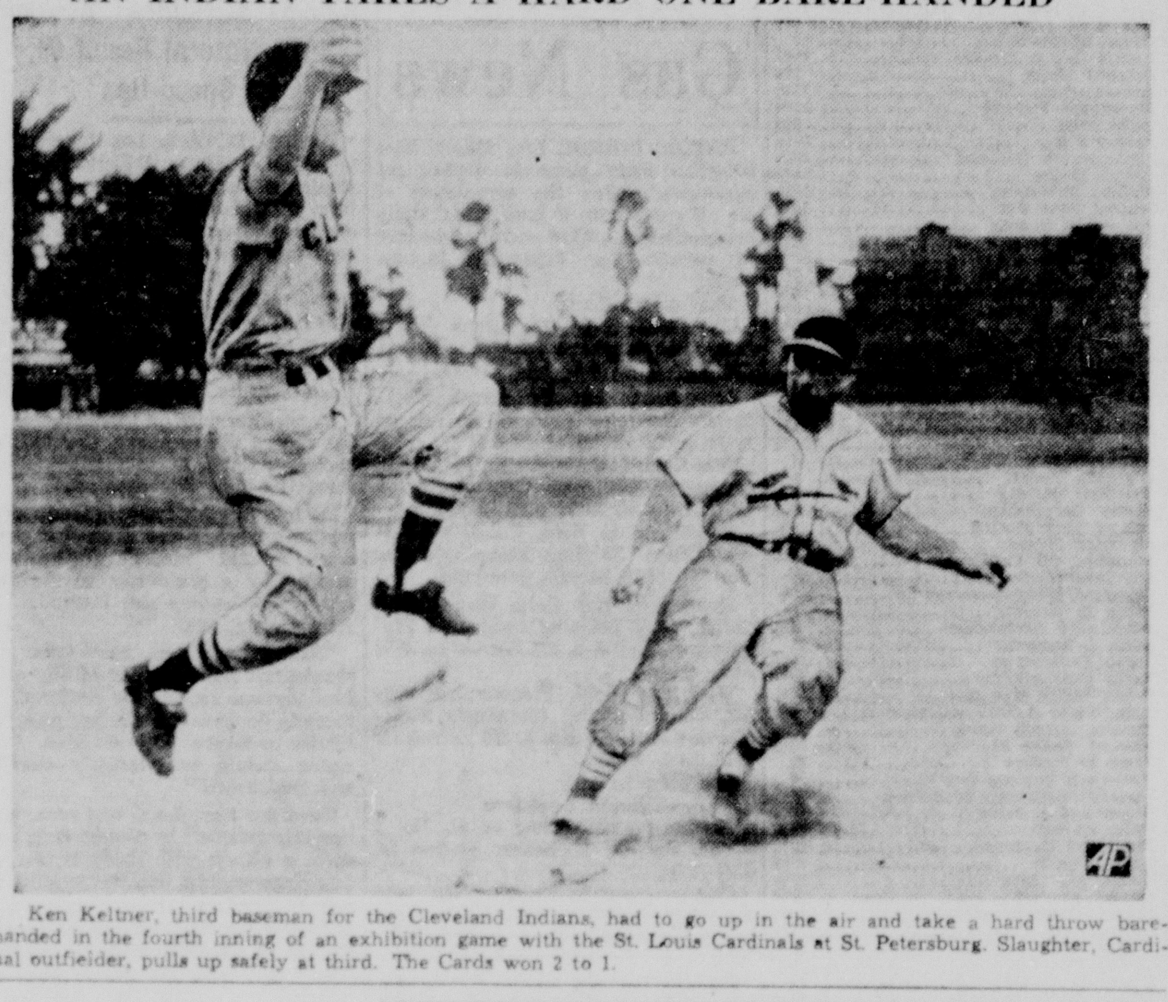
IDAHO WINS NATIONAL COLLEGE BOXING CROWN

AN INDIAN TAKES A HARD ONE BARE-HANDED



Ken Keltner, third baseman for the Cleveland Indians, had to go up in the air and take a hard throw barehanded in the fourth inning of an exhibition game with the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg. Slaughter, Cardinal outfielder, pulls up safely at third. The Cards won 2 to 1.

S. L. I. SECOND, L. S. U. FOURTH IN TEAM POINTS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 29.—(AP)—Boxers from the Pacific coast, paced by the University of Idaho, carried off half of the eight National Collegiate championships tonight in hard-fought finals before a crowd of 5,000 in Penn State's recreation hall.

Idaho, winning three individual titles, captured the unofficial team championship with 15 points, two more than Southwestern Louisiana institute of Lafayette, La., the runner-up. Penn State and Wisconsin tied for third place with nine points.

The individual champions crowned were: Ted Kara, Idaho, 120 pounds; Frank Kara, Idaho, 127 pounds; Gene Rankin, Wisconsin, 135 pounds; Elton Tobiasson, California Aggies, 145 pounds; Rodney Belaire, Louisiana State university, 155 pounds; Laune Erickson, Idaho, 165 pounds; Paul Scally, Penn State, 175 pounds, and Louis Campbell, Southwestern Louisiana institute, heavyweight.

Ted Kara's title was his second straight national 120 pound crown. He also won the 127 pound title two years ago to become the tournament's first three-time champion.

Erickson was the only other successive defending champion although Rankin won the 135 pound title two years ago, but did not compete last year.

The Karas are brothers, whose home is in Cleveland, Ohio. Watching them tonight was their mother, Mrs. nna Kara of 2617 Euclid Heights, who received an ovation from the crowd when she appeared at the ringside at the conclusion of the bouts. The announcer in introducing her said that tonight was the first time Mrs. Kara has seen her sons in four years.

Ted received still another honor in winning the John S. Larowe trophy, presented by the coaches to the tournament's outstanding boxer in memory of the late John S. Larowe, University of Virginia coach who died last year.

Scally's victory in the 175 pound final marked the first time an Eastern boxer had captured an individual title since 1938 when Ashby Dickerson of West Virginia carried off heavyweight honors.

Trailing the four leaders in the unofficial team title fight, computed on a 5-3-2-1 basis, were Louisiana State university with eight points and North Carolina, and Wisconsin, six each; California Aggies five; Florida four; San Jose, Calif. State, and Miami, Fla., three each; Virginia, West Virginia and Lock Haven, Pa. Teachers, two each; Superior, Wis., Teachers, one.

The Kara boys, first brothers in the tournament's history to win titles, faced Southwestern Louisiana institute rivals in the finals, Ted outpunching Donald Harper and Frank out pointing Edwin Ourso.

Belaire gave the south its first champion by outpunching William Roth of Wisconsin in the 165 pound final. Belaire, a native of Lake Charles, La., rocked Roth with a two-fisted attack on the head and staggered the Wisconsin mittman with a crushing right to the jaw in the third round.

The hard-hitting Campbell of Southwestern Louisiana institute won the heavyweight crown with right-handed attack that was too much for Gates Kimball of North Carolina. After a slow first round, Campbell dropped Kimball with a smashing right hook to the jaw in the second round and outpunched the North Carolinian in the third round.

Along The Levees

By MORTIMER KREEGER

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—(AP)—Bill Brandt, the National league publicity dispenser, has just thrown a high hard one that leaves us gasping.

Giving statistics on the sources of his loop's talent, he says that of 301 players on the rosters of the eight clubs now training, only six were born in Louisiana and five in Mississippi.

That's just one team for both states, with a relief pitcher and a utility. California, the land of sunshine, floods and earthquakes, has produced 34. The discrepancy can't be due entirely to the fact that people will try harder to get away from California than from Louisiana or Mississippi.

There's one solace in the fact that only 12 states are ahead of Louisiana in this business and 30 are behind Mississippi. Eleven states scored zero.

Apparently section of the country has nothing to do with the situation, for the first ten in order are California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Missouri, New York, North Carolina, Massachusetts, Texas and Ohio (tied) and Georgia.

It seems that, generally speaking, the states with most people produce the most ball players, which is simple enough. The first ten in percentage of National leaguers to population are Nevada, Missouri, Rhode Island, North Carolina, California, Arizona, Delaware, Massachusetts, Utah and Arkansas.

California still makes a good showing. And frankly, we're surprised about all this. We thought this bayou country was the best place in the world to raise not only cotton, cane and cattle, but shortstops and centerfielders as well.

There are still some prospects of raising the quota, too. Millsaps' big righthand pitcher, Charlie Ward, has professional ambitions and Wilbur Kinley of the Daily News reports the Jackson Senators may take him on as a batting practice pitcher during the training grind, before he graduates and seeks a fulltime job.

And at L. S. U. they're overboard on Joffre Crouere, senior shortstop. Carl Lind, former Tulane and Cleveland Indians' infielder, declares Crouere "fields well, gets rid of the ball in a hurry, has a good arm and has power at the plate."

That seems to cover the subject, and Joel Hunt, who did some chores for the St. Louis Cards, is less specific but just as inclusive when he allows: "He's as good a college shortstop as I ever saw."

Legion Field, Lake Charles' Evangeline park, seems to be besieged by skunks according to Elliot Chaze of the American Press. The groundkeepers are setting traps to catch the mephitic (it was just what you thought) beasts before they get into the stacks of cushions waiting for spectators to come sit on them.

Meridianites, who have reason to think the name "Bears" brought them no luck at all, will call their ball club "Eagles" henceforth.

Just to change the subject, L. S. U.'s promising sophomore golfer, Ben Downing, has come down with the mumps — and next week brings matches with Tulane and Mississippi. They're claiming in Baton Rouge that Ole Miss' publicity manufacturer, Billy Gates, is spreading the malady around to be sure nobody will beat his Cary Middlecoff.

Turkish ally; second, Nis, on the Morava river, key city of southeast Serbia, held by Yugoslavia; third, the Iron Gate, control of which is shared by Yugoslavia and the Germans in Rumania, and finally, Vienna, gateway to old Austria.

If Yugoslavia should go to war against Germany, the British, Greek and Yugoslav armies presumably would attempt to polish off the Italians in Albania and possibly attempt to drive up the Vardar valley to clash with the Germans while holding the Struma line against attack from Bulgaria.

Obvious hazards appear in the remoteness of such battlegrounds from England's home base and the known effectiveness of the German forces already in Rumania and Bulgaria. On the other hand, the German army itself is stretched along a 500-mile supply line.

Presumable British strategy would be to hack this line, which depends largely on precarious pontoon bridges across the Danube and on the rickety Balkan railways.

A frequently mentioned British strategy would be to try to force the Germans to fight in mountain terrain, where their vaunted mechanical equipment, which overran the plains of Poland and France, would be at a disadvantage.

Conversely, the Germans' own scheme, while pushing into Croatia, Thrace and possibly European Turkey, would be to defend the vital Danube route with every resource while cracking at concentrations and landing ports by air and harassing the British navy in the Mediterranean.

Germany since last fall has concentrated 500,000 or more men in Rumania, Bulgaria and Hungary; and theoretically under the tripartite pact terms could call into a fight 1,000,000 Rumanians, 500,000 Bulgarians and 800,000 Hungarians, backed up by 1,000,000 or more German reserves.

Germany, however, is undoubtedly reluctant to have a war stop the production of the grain fields, oil wells and mines of the southeast.

GERMANS SEND NEW PROTEST TO U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Berlin has forwarded a new and vigorous protest to the United States, it was learned today, over the surrender of two escaped German prisoners of war to Canada.

The German embassy, an informant said, was instructed to protest as a violation of the Hague convention the action of immigration officials who denied the fleeing German officers entry into this country and returned them to Canadian custody. The convention prescribes the treatment to be accorded war prisoners.

State department officials said tonight that the protest had not yet been received, and declined any comment.

The German embassy lodged a protest on March 24 against handcuffing of the German prisoners at the time they were returned to Canada.

The two Germans—Lieutenant Bernhard Cohoke and Heinz Rottman, believed to be submarine officers—escaped from an internment camp near Kingston, Ontario, on March 21, but were intercepted midway across the frozen St. Lawrence river by the United States border patrol.

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—After winding wearily through nearly 15 hours of competition, the National A. A. U. wrestling championships finally came up with an upset late today during a session which saw Oklahoma grapplers, as usual, grab the spotlight.

The surprise package—it happened to National Collegiate Champion Burl Jennings of Michigan State, who dropped a split decision to Say Stone, late of Iowa State college—was all the more amazing in that Jennings originally hails from Oklahoma. Things like that ordinarily don't happen to the grappling boys from the Sooner state.

Standout performances included Doug Lee, lightweight runnerup in '40 who completed a string of three straight triumphs by falls today; middleweight Homer Faucett, another Indiana collegian; defending light heavyweight Champion Henry Wittenberg, another with three straight-fall victories to his credit, and Walter Lee Barnes, footballing husky from Louisiana State, who pinned well-regarded Lou De Maio of Boston in the heavyweight action.

Williamson, Wells, Langood and Megling.

Philly reputedly will make the fans forget about other outfield stars here; Williamson is a "simon pure" who played semi-pro ball last year in the Ban Johnson league; Wells, while not boasting much as a hitter, is highly touted as a fielder and has a strong throwing arm; Langood is expected to be about the best of the new additions to the mound staff; and Megling, who stands six-feet-five, comes highly recommended.

The Sox's first exhibition battle is slated for next Sunday with Lake Charles and a second game with the Evangeline League club will follow on Monday. The locals will play Natchez the following Thursday, and games with Alexandria are slated for April 12 and 13. All the games will be on the road. The league's opening date is April 27.

The Sox will also be sporting a new bus this year to take them around the circuit. Manager Taitt said a bus was being purchased from the Shreveport club.

The infield at Casino park is in good condition to stand the drills this week, but the outfield is in bad shape because of hogs which got into the park this winter and did quite a bit of rooting throughout the garden. Some filling in will be necessary to recondition the outfield.

Croat suspicions are said to have strengthened extremists who long have wanted an independent Croatia and have contended that autonomy was a fiction.

Thirty communist demonstrators shouting demands for a pact with soviet Russia were arrested tonight when they refused to disband.

Informed circles say that if Macek participates in the government without a guarantee of Croat autonomy he will risk his leadership and that if he balks at cooperating all Croats will unite behind him in their former status of opposition to Belgrade.

Most of his difficulties, these sources say, arise from extremists who are reported gaining recruits on the supposition that the time is ripe to break away from the Serbs. Also opposed to him is a Croat Nazi party which wants Croatia to become a German protectorate. On the other side are Croat "Yugoslavs" who favor cooperation with the Serbs under any circumstances.

MACEK IS RETAINED AS VICE-PREMIER

(By Associated Press)

The British announced startling sea and air successes against the Axis last night while a serious internal obstacle placed in jeopardy the new Yugoslavia government which London hailed as a firm friend.

The Mediterranean fleet of the royal navy was said to have engaged Premier Mussolini's navy in what the first scant information suggested probably was the biggest sea battle of the war.

Atop this news came an air ministry report in London that speedy little R. A. F. fighters skimmed 20 feet over rooftops in German-occupied France and Belgium in daylight forays yesterday—to the cheers of the inhabitants—without even one German fighter challenging them. The R. A. F. made machine gun attacks on railroads, highways, shopping and grounded German planes, the ministry said.

The latest threat to peace in Yugoslavia was seen in authoritative reports that Dr. Vladimir Macek, leader of millions of Croats, was insisting that the new regime publish a declaration affirming the kingdom's adherence to the Axis alliance—an alliance which caused the downfall of the pro-Axis government.

Macek was expected to remain silent at Zagreb, Croat capital, on all overtures that he be active in the new regime, it was said, at least until he can go to Belgrade Tuesday or Wednesday and investigate the situation at first hand. Macek was retained as vice-premier in the new government.

An important member of the Croat leader's intimate circle asserted that the "new government has decidedly won the confidence of all Serbs, but has lost the confidence of all Croats." Croats were reported as saying there is a widespread feeling that last Thursday's coup d'etat was a Serb stroke directed more against Croatia than against the tri-partite pact.

As heartening news of the British naval success reached London word also was received from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, that Germany had ordered all her nationals out of the province of Serbia. Italians began leaving by the hundreds and British women also were advised to get out as the new Yugoslavia government debated the problem of keeping the nation in the non-belligerent class.

Germany also directed its commercial airline, the Lufthansa, to suspend operations over Yugoslavia, the Belgrade government closed the part of the Danube they control to German navigation, and tension increased in diplomatic quarters. Only one thing seemed certain: General Dusan Simovic, premier of the new regime which ousted the Yugoslav signers of the Axis alliance, was not eager to provoke a conflict with anybody.

In Berlin authorized sources declared the Reich would not be provoked into action against Yugoslavia by what they discribed as the operations of British agents or the cries of street mobs.

The Reich, these sources said, could take its time and calmly weigh the importance of the upheaval which swiftly changed Yugoslavia's status. Germany, however, will not "stand for being insulted," the spokesmen warned. The German minister, Viktor Von Heeren, was reported to be still in Belgrade waiting for a clarification of the issues.

On the East African front fast British mechanized forces were reported cutting at Italian troops retreating from Cheren to Asmara, Eritrea, in an effort to take the capital before the Fascists could prepare new defenses.

British forces farther south in Ethiopia were believed preparing for an assault on Diredawa on the Addis Ababa-Jibuti railway, and the railway itself, which connects the capital with the Gulf of Aden, was bombed again while other planes bombed various points in Ethiopia and Eritrea.

Other British planes, operating from England, carried out offensive patrols over Belgium and France during the afternoon, machine gunning Nazi airdromes, road and rail transport and shipping.

Stefani, official Italian news agency, claimed a new successful weapon against British shipping—tiny, obstacle-hurdling craft so fast they could lay explosives alongside a victim and escape in a burst of speed. These craft raided Suda bay, Island of Crete, Friday, and sank "an enemy warship," the agency said.

London had its first night air raid warning since March 20. The sirens screamed the all clear shortly afterwards.

Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka had another long conversation with Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, authorized German sources said. He leaves for Rome this afternoon.

In the war at sea the German high command claimed a long range bomber attacked a British troop transport 310 miles west of Cape Wrath, Scotland, and forced the soldiers to take to lifeboats.

Federal and state mediators at Johnstown, Pa., conferred with union leaders in an attempt to get workers back to their jobs by Monday at the huge Cambria works of the Bethlehem Steel company. C. I. K. C. FOUNDERS TO BE HONORED

Monroe Council Will Start Activities Today With Corporate Mass

Commemorating the founders of the Knights of Columbus, the Monroe council No. 1337 will begin the activities of the day with corporate mass and holy communion today at the 8 a. m. mass at St. Matthew's Catholic church.

Former United States Senator Joseph Ransdell of Lake Providence will speak over radio station KMLB at 2:15 p. m. from the banquet in the Frances hotel which begins at 1 p. m. Ed Pohlman will be master of ceremonies.

Other Knights of Columbus' councils throughout North America are observing Founders Week, March 23-30, with special ceremonies today to honor Rev. Michael Joseph McGivney and a band of Catholic laymen who established the order in New Haven, Conn., in 1882. Many councils observed Founders Week last Sunday.

Preceding the former senator's address will be an electrical transcription enacting the history of the organization.

Since the founding of the order, it has grown throughout North America until there are now more than 420,000 members. The Knights of Columbus are represented in every state in the Union, in each Canadian province, and also in Alaska, Cuba, Mexico, Newfoundland, Panama, the Philippine Islands, and Puerto Rico.

Mr. Ransdell, a senator for 32 years, was instrumental in obtaining governmental expenditures for this section. He was made a Knight of St. Gregory for outstanding work by Pope Pius XI, and made the principal address for laymen at the recent Eucharistic Congress at Chicago.

THREE AXIS SHIPS LEAVE BRAZIL PORTS

British sources declined to say whether any British warships were in the vicinity, but the 8,296-ton British tanker Arndale, an armed vessel owned by the admiralty and used in refueling fighting craft, sailed from Rio de Janeiro yesterday morning.

Dispatches from Argentina said the Italian freighter Amabilitas, 5,425 tons, was preparing to sail from Bahia Blanca.

Three other German ships in Brazilian ports were being made ready for sea. All the vessels have been in refuge since early in the war.

Meanwhile the Brazilian government agencia nacional reported that an Italian transatlantic plane which had turned back from a flight for Europe Thursday spent the day yesterday in flying along the 200 miles of coast between Recife and Natal.

THINKS HOME GUARD IS NOT NECESSARY

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—(AP)—Adjutant-General Raymond H. Fleming of Louisiana said today he did not think a home guard, to replace national guardsmen called into active service, was necessary in this state.

His remarks followed announcement of organization of "the ninth ward defense association" in a downtown section of New Orleans, with the purpose, as stated by Ben Arthur, president, "to defend the community in the event of any emergency."

General Fleming said the state police were well organized and had powers to act "in any emergency"; Louisiana was not highly industrialized and there "not liable to have any large and violent strikes"; and Governor Sam Jones could call upon the troops training in the state in case of need.

COTTON GAINS AGAIN

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—(AP)—The upward tendency continued in cotton futures here today and prices gained $1.25 to $1.45 a bale, making new highs for the season. Advances of 85 to 90 cents a bale were registered yesterday. Both foreign and domestic traders were avid buyers and shorts were forced to bid the market up to cover.

DATES ADVISED FOR COLLEGIANS

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—(AP)—Have dates, you collegians—blind if you choose—but don't be a wallflower.

That's the advice of Mrs. C. Brooks Fry of the American Institute of Family Relations. She gave it personally to boys and girls at Chapman college.

"It is important that a greater percentage of college students, who represent some of the finest of American youth, marry," Mrs. Fry said at a conference on marital relations. "Only 55 per cent of the students in co-educational colleges marry. We are losing out in good citizenship by allowing this condition to exist.

"Popular students will have to take some responsibility in seeing that wallflowers get into the swing of campus social life. Teachers also must cooperate.

"Teachers might even require that girls and boys hold conversations together during the class hour."

Mrs. Fry quickly added that she does not suggest that classrooms be transformed into country clubs. But she does consider developing social consciousness, poise and normal social relationships as important as augmenting book knowledge.

So swing it, boys and girls, and don't let Mrs. Fry find a wallflower among you.

The sermon will be delivered in the new auditorium of the church and loud-speakers will be set up in the educational building and on the front of the auditorium in order to accommodate the expected large attendance.

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—(AP)—Cotton futures soared over a dollar a bale again here today into new seasonal highs, apparently on the expectation that the Senate would pass the huge farm bill appropriation.

Closing prices were steady, 24 to 26 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15/16-inch spot cotton at ten designated Southern spot markets today was 25 points higher 11.14 cents a pound, a new high for the season; average for the past 30 market days was 10.50; middling 7/8-inch average was 10.93.

New York

Demand was stimulated by large government purchases of raw cotton and cotton ticking for the government relief mattresses. Most of the buying represented price fixing against these sales although lively support came from Wall Street and foreign interests.

Final prices, however, were 23 to 26 points, or $1.15 to $1.30 a bale, higher.

Futures closed 23 to 26 higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—Scattered buying kept the stock market on a fairly even keel today, although many leaders were unable to score any real progress and negligible declines were plentiful at the close.

The session was a duplicate of most Saturdays since the first of the year when boardroom customers either shelved commitments or stood aside to await possible war upsets over the week-end.

Speculative wariness was exemplified by the general sluggishness of dealings throughout the brief proceedings. Transfers for the two hours were around 200,000 shares.

Rails and a handful of specialties were resistant. New highs for the year were registered for Continental Baking "A," Chicago and Eastern Illinois "A" and Chicago Great Western preferred, all up in the neighborhood of a point or so.

American Telephone dipped. Climbing vigor was lacked by General Motors, Chrysler, United States Rubber, General Electric, Kennecott, American Can and Douglas Aircraft.

Secondary carrier loans edged forward in the bond division. Cotton futures were strong and other commodities pointed upward.

The curb was muddled.

WORK SUBVERSION DECLARED SLIGHT

Biddle Attributes Accidents To Natural Result Of Speed-Ups

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29.—(AP)—United States Solicitor General Francis Biddle said today there had been "little evidence of subversive elements" in industrial stoppages and accidents in national defense industries.

The justice department official, former chairman of the national labor relations board, was here to address the annual session of the Louisiana Law institute.

In an interview he asserted, "Speed has caused the accidents, I would say; such speed-up in production would result in some few accidents."

He told the attorneys attending the institute session that labor had criticized several "model" defense bills drafted by a committee of the governors' conference and introduced in state legislatures.

"National defense need not and should not deprive labor of any of its fundamental rights," he declared. "If there is doubt as to whether any particular measure does do this, these rights should be expressly clarified and reaffirmed."

Governor Sam Jones has been "particularly helpful" in coordinating state defense efforts with those of the justice department's neutrality unit, the solicitor general added.

He said the unit was "studying subversive propaganda material and distributing it to other departments interested."

"Plans are being worked out for the treatment of persons who might become enemy aliens in case of war," he added. "We have been in touch with English techniques."

He said Representative Hobbs, Democrat, Alabama, in cooperation with the department had introduced a bill providing for detention of deportable aliens during the period of time when actually they cannot be deported on account of the war.

While much more work is being done than formerly in checking up the records of aliens in this country and applying for admission, he said, the country "should not forget our traditional American policy of affording a home to refugees, of course within the quota policies which congress has provided."

Dr. Harriet Daggett of the Louisiana State university law faculty reported that her work of compiling statutes dealing with civil code matters so far had consisted largely of [illegible] out of dead or dormant laws. She cited as an example a statute declaring that a woman should receive the same pay for a job as a man would receive for comparable work.

A report on a model non-profit corporation act for the state brought off criticism that the proposed draft was so broad it would include chambers of commerce, social clubs and similar organizations.

The draft was prepared by John M. [illegible] Wisdom of New Orleans.

Three law professors, Dale E. Bennett, L. S. U.; Clarence Morrow, Tulane university, and Leon Sarpy, Loyola university, reported on progress made toward compiling a criminal code for Louisiana, a long-time project begun several years ago by the [illegible].

K. C. FOUNDERS TO BE HONORED

Monroe Council Will Start Activities Today With Corporate Mass

Commemorating the founders of the Knights of Columbus, the Monroe council No. 1337 will begin the activities of the day with corporate mass and holy communion today at the 8 a. m. mass at St. Matthew's Catholic church.

Former United States Senator Joseph Ransdell of Lake Providence will speak over radio station KMLB at 2:15 p. m. from the banquet in the Frances hotel which begins at 1 p. m. Ed Pohlman will be master of ceremonies.

Other Knights of Columbus' councils throughout North America are observing Founders Week, March 23-30, with special ceremonies today to honor Rev. Michael Joseph McGivney and a band of Catholic laymen who established the order in New Haven, Conn., in 1882. Many councils observed Founders Week last Sunday.

Preceding the former senator's address will be an electrical transcription enacting the history of the organization.

Since the founding of the order, it has grown throughout North America until there are now more than 420,000 members. The Knights of Columbus are represented in every state in the Union, in each Canadian province, and also in Alaska, Cuba, Mexico, Newfoundland, Panama, the Philippine Islands, and Puerto Rico.

Mr. Ransdell, a senator for 32 years, was instrumental in obtaining governmental expenditures for this section. He was made a Knight of St. Gregory for outstanding work by Pope Pius XI, and made the principal address for laymen at the recent Eucharistic Congress at Chicago.

THREE AXIS SHIPS LEAVE BRAZIL PORTS

British sources declined to say whether any British warships were in the vicinity, but the 8,296-ton British tanker Arndale, an armed vessel owned by the admiralty and used in refueling fighting craft, sailed from Rio de Janeiro yesterday morning.

Dispatches from Argentina said the Italian freighter Amabilitas, 5,425 tons, was preparing to sail from Bahia Blanca.

Three other German ships in Brazilian ports were being made ready for sea. All the vessels have been in refuge since early in the war.

Meanwhile the Brazilian government agencia nacional reported that an Italian transatlantic plane which had turned back from a flight for Europe Thursday spent the day yesterday in flying along the 200 miles of coast between Recife and Natal.

THINKS HOME GUARD IS NOT NECESSARY

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—(AP)—Adjutant-General Raymond H. Fleming of Louisiana said today he did not think a home guard, to replace national guardsmen called into active service, was necessary in this state.

His remarks followed announcement of organization of "the ninth ward defense association" in a downtown section of New Orleans, with the purpose, as stated by Ben Arthur, president, "to defend the community in the event of any emergency."

General Fleming said the state police were well organized and had powers to act 'in any emergency"; Louisiana was not highly industrialized and there "not liable to have any large and violent strikes"; and Governor Sam Jones could call upon the troops training in the state in case of need.

COTTON GAINS AGAIN

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—(AP)—The upward tendency continued in cotton futures here today and prices gained $1.25 to $1.45 a bale, making new highs for the season. Advances of 85 to 90 cents a bale were registered yesterday. Both foreign and domestic traders were avid buyers and shorts were forced to bid the market up to cover.

DATES ADVISED FOR COLLEGIANS

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—(AP)—Have dates, you collegians—blind if you choose—but don't be a wallflower.

That's the advice of Mrs. C. Brooks Fry of the American Institute of Family Relations. She gave it personally to boys and girls at Chapman college.

"It is important that a greater percentage of college students, who represent some of the finest of American youth, marry," Mrs. Fry said at a conference on marital relations. "Only 55 per cent of the students in co-educational colleges marry. We are losing out in good citizenship by allowing this condition to exist.

"Popular students will have to take some responsibility in seeing that wallflowers get into the swing of campus social life. Teachers also must cooperate.

"Teachers might even require that girls and boys hold conversations together during the class hour."

Mrs. Fry quickly added that she does not suggest that classrooms be transformed into country clubs. But she does consider developing social consciousness, poise and normal social relationships as important as augmenting book knowledge.

So swing it, boys and girls, and don't let Mrs. Fry find a wallflower among you.

JONES TO DEDICATE ST. JOSEPH CHURCH

ST. JOSEPH, La., March 29.—(Special)—Governor Sam Jones will fly here from New Orleans in an amphibian airplane to deliver the dedicatory sermon Sunday morning at the new St. Joseph church.

Pressing business at New Orleans early Sunday morning and Sunday night required the governor to fly here. The plane will land either in the Mississippi river or in Lake Bruin and will provide a new experience for the governor.

The sermon will be delivered in the new auditorium of the church and loud-speakers will be set up in the educational building and on the front of the auditorium in order to accommodate the expected large attendance.

New York

Demand was stimulated by large government purchases of raw cotton and cotton ticking for the government relief mattresses. Most of the buying represented price fixing against these sales although lively support came from Wall Street and foreign interests.

The extreme advance of 35 points attracted profit taking and hedges and pared the gains slightly towards the close.

Final prices, however, were 23 to 26 points, or $1.15 to $1.30 a bale, higher.

Futures closed 23 to 26 higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—Scattered buying kept the stock market on a fairly even keel today, although many leaders were unable to score any real progress and negligible declines were plentiful at the close.

The session was a duplicate of most Saturdays since the first of the year when boardroom customers either shelved commitments or stood aside to await possible war upsets over the week-end.

Speculative wariness was exemplified by the general sluggishness of dealings throughout the brief proceedings. Transfers for the two hours were around 200,000 shares.

Rails and a handful of specialties were resistant. New highs for the year were registered for Continental Baking "A," Chicago and Eastern Illinois "A" and Chicago Great Western preferred, all up in the neighborhood of a point or so.

American Telephone dipped. Climbing vigor was lacked by General Motors, Chrysler, United States Rubber, General Electric, Kennecott, American Can and Douglas Aircraft.

Secondary carrier loans edged forward in the bond division. Cotton futures were strong and other commodities pointed upward.

WORK SUBVERSION DECLARED SLIGHT

Biddle Attributes Accidents To Natural Result Of Speed-Ups

BATON ROUGE, La., March 29.—(AP)—United States Solicitor General Francis Biddle said today there had been "little evidence of subversive elements" in industrial stoppages and accidents in national defense industries.

The justice department official, former chairman of the national labor relations board, was here to address the annual session of the Louisiana Law institute.

In an interview he asserted, "Speed has caused the accidents, I would say: such speed-up in production would result in some few accidents."

He told the attorneys attending the institute session that labor had criticized several "model" defense bills drafted by a committee of the governors' conference and introduced in state legislatures.

"National defense need not and should not deprive labor of any of its fundamental rights," he declared. "If there is doubt as to whether any particular measure does do this, these rights should be expressly clarified and reaffirmed."

Governor Sam Jones has been "particularly helpful" in coordinating state defense efforts with those of the justice department's neutrality unit, the solicitor general added.

He said the unit was "studying subversive propaganda material and distributing it to other departments interested."

"Plans are being worked out for the treatment of persons who might become enemy aliens in case of war," he added. "We have been in touch with English techniques."

He said Representative Hobbs, Demcrat, Alabama, in cooperation with the department had introduced a bill providing for detention of deportable aliens during the period of time when actually they cannot be deported on account of the war.

While much more work is being done than formerly in checking up the records of aliens in this country and applying for admission, he said, the country "should not forget our traditional American policy of affording a home to refugees, of course within the quota policies which congress has provided."

Dr. Harriet Daggett of the Louisiana State university law faculty reported that her work of compiling statutes dealing with civil code matters so far had consisted largely of a weeding out of dead or dormant laws. She cited as an example a statute declaring that a woman should receive the same pay for a job as a man would receive for comparable work.

A report on a model non-profit corporation act for the state touched off criticism that the proposed draft was so broad it would include chambers of commerce, social clubs and similar organizations.

The draft was prepared by John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans.

Three law professors, Dale E. Bennett, L. S. U., Clarence Morrow, Tulane university, and Leon Sarpy, Loyola university, reported on progress made toward compiling a criminal code for Louisiana, a long-time project begun several years ago by the institute.

NEGRO HEALTH WEEK PLANNED

Ouachita Parish Colored Leaders Will Cooperate In Programs

Beginning today and ending April 6, national negro health week will be observed throughout the country. This will be the 27th annual similar observance and negro leaders will unite in planning and carrying into execution health programs. Last year a local negro health group was awarded a certificate of merit by the United States Public Health service for outstanding work during negro health week.

This year in Monroe and elsewhere in the parish, motion pictures of various health subjects will be shown at schools, churches, and to other selected groups. These pictures will deal especially with tuberculosis, as this is a national health problem.

There will be sermons devoted to health preached in negro churches today. A high school essay contest will be held for negro pupils.

There also will be talks over radio station KMLB by members of the colored race here. The first will be this afternoon at 6 p.m. and each afternoon this week there will be talks at 5 p.m., each being 15 minutes in length. An interesting playlet entitled "Grandma's Cough" will be presented. F. C. Facen, negro farm demonstration agent of Ouachita parish, is general chairman of negro week.

Monday there will be talks devoted to "Home Health," delivered in schools and elsewhere; Tuesday, "Community Sanitation Day," there will be addresses on home sanitation; Wednesday will be "Special Campaign Day," when a survey will be made to determine health needs of the community; Thursday will be "Adults' Health Day," and discussions will include tuberculosis, syphilis, cancer, and organic diseases. Correct habits and diet will be emphasized, as well as early treatment of the diseases; Friday will be "School Health and Safety Day," and Saturday, "General Clean-up Day."

On Sunday, April 6, "Report and Follow Up Day" will be observed. Community leaders will make final reports of the week's work and there will be a setup of a permanent organization to make plans for year round activities.

PRAYER SERVICE PLANNED DAILY

Churches Of Twin Cities Will Conduct Meetings In Homes

A number of the largest churches of the Twin Cities have voted to cooperate in pre-Easter evangelistic services. This was decided upon at a meeting of the Ouachita Parish Ministerial Association held recently. It was decided to conduct simultaneous services during Holy Week in the following churches:

First Presbyterian Church, First Christian Church, First Methodist Church, Stone Avenue Methodist Church, Gordon Avenue Methodist Church, First Methodist Church of West Monroe, and the Assembly of God Church in West Monroe.

In preparation for these days of special services, prayer groups will be organized for both cities, to be held in various homes each day, starting with Monday, March 31, and continuing for one week.

For Monday March 31, at 2:30 p.m., prayer meetings will be held in the following homes of Monroe and West Monroe:

In Monroe—Mrs. P. H. Butler, 1605 North Sixth street; Mrs. Ira Yeager, 4413 Jackson street; Mrs. E. R. Dawson, 2702 Hawes; Mrs. W. R. Lambert, 217 Alabama street; Mrs. Jack Davis, 3402 Polk street; Mrs. E. L. Hoskins, 4504 Lee avenue; Mrs. Sam Wilder, 1305 Milton street; Mrs. A. V. Miller, 103 Alexander avenue; Mrs. E. D. Holloway, 208 Arkansas avenue; Mrs. C. A. Nenny, 811 St. John street; Mrs. Irwin R. Harper, 103 Pear street; Mrs. A. J. Speer, 605 Bres avenue; Mrs. William Wood, 103 Carolina street; Mrs. I. C. Castles, 618 Island drive; Mrs. Sam Allen, 1606 Jackson street; Mrs. F. C. Sheppard, 316 Winnsboro road; Mrs. E. W. Corley, 3010 Lee avenue, and Mrs. A. J. Strother, 2708 Gordon avenue.

Disregarding denominationalism, the public is urged to attend the prayer meeting held at the home nearest to them each afternoon this week, as a preparation for Easter.

SHREVEPORT PHYSICIAN DIES

HE'S ONE OF THE BOYS

It's Charles Kelley Of Hodge--- Just One Of The Boys---Calling

It's a cornerstone of the completely democratic system of the amateurs that anyone who is licensed by the Federal Communications Commission can belong. Doctors, miners, executives, farmers talk to each other on equipment ranging from the most expensive to the laboriously-constructed homemade sets.

Mr. Kelley likes it fine. In the 12 years since the big, likeable native of Maine came to Louisiana to help build the plant at Hodge he has made many friends. And in the year or so he has been interested in amateur radio he has made many more.

Mr. Kelley has one of the most powerful stations in the Delta division, capable of 1,000 watts on either the 10-meter high-frequency band or the 160-meter regular amateur band. His equipment is housed above his garage, but a remote control set-up makes it possible to broadcast from the house.

His equipment consists of four transmitters and two receivers. Originally, his station had an input power of 250 watts, but now the power has been increased to 1,000 watts on two of the transmitters. Another transmitter is powered with a storage battery and is completely portable. One of the few in the state of its kind, the portable outfit is ready at all times for use in the event of power failure accompanying any disaster.

An interesting feature of the Hodge "ham's" outfit is the portable transmitter housed in a steamer trunk. When Mr. Kelley packs up and takes off for a summer vacation in Maine, W5IRO and his contact with his friends in this section go with him. It's easier than writing letters and much more satisfactory.

The operating room over the garage is the general hang-out for the amateurs around Hodge and Jonesboro. Every Tuesday night the Advance Radio club meets there and drills in emergency communications.

The radio hobby runs into work for Mr. Kelley. As chairman of the meeting of Delta division operators, to be held here in May, he has the task of issuing invitations to the 5,000 "hams" in Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, East Texas and South Tennessee.

It's worth that and much more, though. Two young Kelleys are being trained as junior operators, and when the boys are licensed by the FCC, they'll join the Ouachita Valley Amateur club, too.

5 Blue Ribbon, 3 Red Ribbon Beeves Taken To State 4-H Competition

Eight prize 4-H club baby beeves were transferred last night from Ouachita parish to Baton Rouge, where they will be shown in competition with other calf winners from districts all over the state, according to D. L. Bornman, Jr., parish agricultural agent.

H. B. Fairchild, assistant parish agent, has charge of the Ouachita exhibits in the Baton Rouge show which opens Wednesday.

Five of the Ouachita calves won blue ribbons at the Northeast Louisiana stock livestock show in Delhi last week. The other three were placed in the secondary classification and given red ribbons.

Showing blue ribbon calves are T. A. Calloway, with two baby beeves, one given the highest classification as prime beef in the Delhi show; Elaine Willis, Everett Zeagler, and John Landrum. Entering red ribbon calves are Joe Dixon, with two, and M. S. Dixon, Jr.

Monroe hotels and markets are planning to buy the local baby beeves, scheduled for sale Friday, Mr. Bornman stated.

Two calves, belonging to Joe Dixon and Oswald Owen, already have been purchased by the Federal Compress and Warehouse company, Monroe. The price was 11 cents per pound, the agent reported.

NEARLY EVERYONE who rides in a Pontiac "Torpedo" for the first time expresses amazement at the ease with which this big, luxurious car with Fisher body literally glides along—over even the roughest roads. They say that they have never ridden in a car as comfortable and smooth.

Yet, that's perfectly understandable when you realize that Pontiac is the only car in the world with the "Triple-Cushioned Ride." This combination of features absorbs every road bump and vibration before it reaches the body of the car. What's more, it assures the same even, steady ride with only one passenger as with a capacity load.

NEGRO HEALTH WEEK PLANNED

Ouachita Parish Colored Leaders Will Cooperate In Programs

Beginning today and ending April 6, national negro health week will be observed throughout the country. This will be the 27th annual similar observance and negro leaders will unite in planning and carrying into execution health programs. Last year a local negro health group was awarded a certificate of merit by the United States Public Health service for outstanding work during negro health week.

This year in Monroe and elsewhere in the parish, motion pictures of various health subjects will be shown at schools, churches, and to other selected groups. These pictures will deal especially with tuberculosis, as this is a national health problem.

There will be sermons devoted to health preached in negro churches today. A high school essay contest will be held for negro pupils.

There also will be talks over radio station KMLB by members of the colored race here. The first will be this afternoon at 6 p.m. and each afternoon this week there will be talks at 5 p.m., each being 15 minutes in length. An interesting playlet entitled "Grandma's Cough" will be presented. F. C. Facen, negro farm demonstration agent of Ouachita parish, is general chairman of negro week.

Monday there will be talks devoted to "Home Health," delivered in schools and elsewhere; Tuesday, "Community Sanitation Day," there will be addresses on home sanitation; Wednesday will be "Special Campaign Day," when a survey will be made to determine health needs of the community; Thursday will be "Adults' Health Day," and discussions will include tuberculosis, syphilis, cancer, and organic diseases. Correct habits and diet will be emphasized, as well as early treatment of the diseases; Friday will be "School Health and Safety Day," and Saturday, "General Clean-up Day."

On Sunday, April 6, "Report and Follow Up Day" will be observed. Community leaders will make final reports of the week's work and there will be a setup of a permanent organization to make plans for year round activities.

HE'S ONE OF THE BOYS

It's Charles Kelley Of Hodge--- Just One Of The Boys---Calling

It's a cornerstone of the completely democratic system of the amateurs that anyone who is licensed by the Federal Communications Commission can belong. Doctors, miners, executives, farmers talk to each other on equipment ranging from the most expensive to the laboriously-constructed homemade sets.

Mr. Kelley likes it fine. In the 12 years since the big, likeable native of Maine came to Louisiana to help build the plant at Hodge he has made many friends. And in the year or so he has been interested in amateur radio he has made many more.

Mr. Kelley has one of the most powerful stations in the Delta division, capable of 1,000 watts on either the 10-meter high-frequency band or the 160-meter regular amateur band. His equipment is housed above his garage, but a remote control set-up makes it possible to broadcast from the house.

His equipment consists of four transmitters and two receivers. Originally, his station had an input power of 250 watts, but now the power has been increased to 1,000 watts on two of the transmitters. Another transmitter is powered with a storage battery and is completely portable. One of the few in the state of its kind, the portable outfit is ready at all times for use in the event of power failure accompanying any disaster.

An interesting feature of the Hodge "ham's" outfit is the portable transmitter housed in a steamer trunk. When Mr. Kelley packs up and takes off for a summer vacation in Maine, W5IRO and his contact with his friends in this section go with him. It's easier than writing letters and much more satisfactory.

The operating room over the garage is the general hang-out for the amateurs around Hodge and Jonesboro. Every Tuesday night the Advance Radio club meets there and drills in emergency communications.

The radio hobby runs into work for Mr. Kelley. As chairman of the meeting of Delta division operators, to be held here in May, he has the task of issuing invitations to the 5,000 "hams" in Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, East Texas and South Tennessee.

It's worth that and much more, though. Two young Kelleys are being trained as junior operators, and when the boys are licensed by the FCC, they'll join the Ouachita Valley Amateur club, too.

Place In Community Is Theme Of Club Meeting

The theme of the program was "A Girl's Place in Her Community." The devotional, Emerson's poem: "Give All To Love," was read by Dorothy Corry. Bettie Lou Farrow gave an interesting and helpful talk on a girl's place in her community.

She said in part:

"The community offers us many opportunities and protection, therefore, we should manifest the right kind of community spirit by taking an interest in it, by making it a more attractive and better to live in. We should help our communities by striving to attain 'the all-round life' which includes good health, command of the fundamental principles of life, vocational education, citizenship training, worthy home membership, wise use of leisure time."

An interesting report of the conference at Shreveport was given by Irene Rainbolt. The meeting was closed with the singing of "Remember."

The Freshmen Girl Reserve club of Y. W. C. A. met Thursday afternoon. Most interesting reports were given by the girls who attended the conference at Shreveport. The program, "Sports," was presented by Mary Elizabeth Varino. The group made plans for a hay-ride, to be given on Friday night April 4.

Place In Community Is Theme Of Club Meeting

The theme of the program was "A Girl's Place in Her Community." The devotional, Emerson's poem: "Give All To Love," was read by Dorothy Corry. Bettie Lou Farrow gave an interesting and helpful talk on a girl's place in her community.

She said in part:

"The community offers us many opportunities and protection, therefore, we should manifest the right kind of community spirit by taking an interest in it, by making it a more attractive and better to live in. We should help our communities by striving to attain 'the all-round life' which includes good health, command of the fundamental principles of life, vocational education, citizenship training, worthy home membership, wise use of leisure time."

An interesting report of the conference at Shreveport was given by Irene Rainbolt. The meeting was closed with the singing of "Remember."

Spring Brings Beautiful Gardens...Miss Morgan Here...New Hats Smart

By Eve C. Bradford

"Whether you look, or whether you listen, you hear life murmur and see it glisten."

Spring certainly does things to us. If not imbued with the poetic urge we have valiant desires to paint the house, to work in the garden where "every clod feels a stir of might," and to wear new clothes as brilliant in color as Joseph's coat of Biblical fame.

Clods of good brown earth stirred so mightily in the W. H. Anders home on Roselawn, great drifts of pansies resulted. Pansies of every known color are blossoming in beds that completely encircle the house. Such a sight is good for tired eyes. Be sure and drive by and give your soul a feast. The good brown earth doesn't deserve all the credit by any means. We venture to say plenty of elbow grease was used in the making of that garden.

In the F. G. Hudson garden on Hudson Lane a flowering peach tree is glorifying the landscape. It blooms every year but never did it look so beautiful to True as this year. The reason is her young grandson, Sidney (Laddie to his friends) Magee, loves the tree and posed for his picture beneath the low-hung boughs. Laddie is lord and master of the Hudson menage these days. His maternal grandparents, True and Fred Hudson, were eager for a sight of him so they boarded the train for New York and brought Laddie home with them. Happy and Sidney were moving into their handsome new home in Greenwich, Conn., so their son's departure just at this time, seemed most opportune. Small boys have a way of getting underfoot when there is work to be done. When Laddie, truly a precious child, returns home he will be accompanied by his aunt, Paige (Hudson) N[illegible]. She is anxious to glimpse the new home, furnishings for which True assisted Happy in selecting while she was in New York.

Virginia Morgan [illegible] into town on a light spring [illegible] this morning. She is a great favorite here where she lived before accepting a [illegible] job with the United Carbon Company of New York City. Old friends will drink tea with Virginia this afternoon at the C. H. P[illegible] home on North Second. On Monday Virginia will look at old friends over spring flowers adorning the [illegible] table at the Frances Hotel with [illegible] Wright hostess. Tuesday [illegible] conversation will sparkle over the demitasse cups at the Virginia Hotel where members of the Business and Professional Women's club will honor Virginia. She guided the destinies of this club as president before she left for the East.

Fond recollections bring to mind the wonderful day we spent with Virginia in New York [illegible]. We had only to express a desire to see a certain place and [illegible] the [illegible] cap of her [illegible] pointed in that direction. We [illegible] through Greenwich Village, past the Little Church Around the Corner, through Chinatown heavily patrolled by policemen due to a recent tong war—to the Ghetto and the east side where life is practically spent on the doorsteps—to the Statue of Liberty—down Wall street—up and down swanky Park avenue. Many, many other interesting places away from the beaten track known only to those who are mentally alert and vitally alive, were visited in this never-to-be forgotten day.

When Cornelius Vanderbilt lectured in this city he brought the war close to our doors, with his graphic tales of weak spots in our armor. No one left the auditorium with that smug feeling of security most of us indulge in just because we are Americans. In fact everyone fairly trembled in their shoes. No one would have been surprised if a bomb had suddenly fallen from that inverted bowl we call the sky.

There was one person in particular in the audience, Mrs. Herschel Gentry, of this city, who was deeply interested in what the speaker had to say. And no wonder. Mr. Vanderbilt's first wife, who is now Mrs. John Jacob Astor, is Mrs. Gentry's first cousin. Mrs. Astor was Racheal Littleton and Mrs. Gentry, before her marriage, was Jean Littleton. Each year a reunion of the Littleton family is held in Kingston, Tenn., and each year both Mrs. Astor and Mrs. Gentry attend.

Mrs. Gentry, by the way, is a very charming person. She has established a special niche for herself in the civic, social and club life of this city. She is one of the most ardent and sincere workers of the local Red Cross of which she is a member of the board. She is past president of the Child Study club and is an officer of the Civic League.

Easter seems so far away, no one wants to wait that long to wear their new bonnets. Irene Fox is wearing a [illegible] spring bonnet. It is bright red with red feathers upon its cunning little wings encircling the low crown. Emma Louise Biedenharn is wearing a most becoming red hat with garlands of white and [illegible] blossoms attached to the head band. Mary [illegible] spring [illegible] is quite the smartest we have seen. It is small [illegible] perched over one eye [illegible] a beautiful crown [illegible].

It is most refreshing these days of [illegible] to meet a couple [illegible] "until death do us part." Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary last week and had settled down for a quiet evening in the bosom of their family when friends arrived with a gorgeous wedding cake. It was a duplicate of the one they had fifty-five years ago. Those happy days were recalled around the festive [illegible] presided over by the celebrant's son, Sam Smith, and their two daughters, Jennie Smith and Emma Rosenbaum. The [illegible] today most certainly go to this happy couple who, together, have faced the vicissitudes of life and will go on doing so until the end.

As director of the Monroe Little Theater Lorenzo Smith is everything to be desired. As a talent scout in the vernacular of the street, he is a perfect "ace." New faces have been seen in every play directed by Mr. Smith this year. Now, as the season ends, he makes another discovery. On the scout for talent for "Ghost Train" to be presented April 15 he found Mollie Murtagh, who has been residing in Monroe for the past year but kept her identity unknown, in-so-far as her stage career is concerned. Mr. Smith discovered that she has played with Tallulah Bankhead on Broadway, with Catherine Cornell in the Theater Guild and with Gilda Gray in Ziegfield Follies. In fact her whole life, until she married, has been associated with the stage. Her initial appearance in one of the important roles of "Ghost Train" the last production of the season of the Monroe Little Theater, most certainly means another gay feather in the director's cap.

By Eve C. Bradford

"Whether you look, or whether you listen, you hear life murmur and see it glisten."

Spring certainly does things to us. If not imbued with the poetic urge we have valiant desires to paint the house, to work in the garden where "every clod feels a stir of might," and to wear new clothes as brilliant in color as Joseph's coat of Biblical fame.

Clods of good brown earth stirred so mightily in the W. H. Anders home on Roselawn, great drifts of pansies resulted. Pansies of every known color are blossoming in beds that completely encircle the house. Such a sight is good for tired eyes. Be sure and drive by and give your soul a feast. The good brown earth doesn't deserve all the credit by any means. We venture to say plenty of elbow grease was used in the making of that garden.

In the F. G. Hudson garden on Hudson Lane a flowering peach tree is glorifying the landscape. It blooms every year but never did it look so beautiful to True as this year. The reason is her young grandson, Sidney (Laddie to his friends) Magee, loves the tree and posed for his picture beneath the low-hung boughs. Laddie is lord and master of the Hudson menage these days. His maternal grandparents, True and Fred Hudson, were eager for a sight of him so they boarded the train for New York and brought Laddie home with them. Happy and Sidney were moving into their handsome new home in Greenwich, Conn., so their son's departure just at this time, seemed most opportune. Small boys have a way of getting underfoot when there is work to be done. When Laddie, truly a precious child, returns home he will be accompanied by his aunt, Pargie (Hudson) N[illegible]wood. She is anxious to glimpse the new home, furnishings for which True assisted Happy in selecting while she was in New York.

Virginia Morgan blew into town on a light spring zephyr this morning. She is a great favorite here where she lived before accepting a man's size job with the United Carbon Company of New York City. Old friends will drink tea with Virginia this afternoon at the C. B. Braun home on North Second. On Monday Virginia will look at old friends over spring flowers adorning the luncheon table at the Frances Hotel with Bernice Wright, hostess. Tuesday night, conversation will sparkle over the demitasse cups at the Virginia Hotel where members of the Business and Professional Women's club will honor Virginia. She guided the destinies of this club as president before she left for the East.

Fond recollections bring to mind the wonderful day we spent with Virginia in New York City. We had only to express a desire to see a certain place and pronto, the radiator cap of her car was pointed in that direction. We motored through Greenwich Village, past the Little Church Around the Corner, through Chinatown heavily patrolled by policemen due to a recent tong war—to the Ghetto and the east side where life is practically spent on the doorsteps—to the Statue of Liberty—down Wall street—up and down swanky Park avenue. Many, many other interesting places away from the beaten track known only to those who are mentally alert and vitally alive, were visited in this never-to-be forgotten day.

When Cornelius Vanderbilt lectured in this city he brought the war close to our doors, with his graphic tales of weak spots in our armor. No one left the auditorium with that smug feeling of security most of us indulge in just because we are Americans. In fact everyone fairly trembled in their shoes. No one would have been surprised if a bomb had suddenly fallen from that inverted bowl we call the sky.

There was one person in particular in the audience, Mrs. Herschel Gentry, of this city, who was deeply interested in what the speaker had to say. And no wonder. Mr. Vanderbilt's first wife, who is now Mrs. John Jacob Astor, is Mrs. Gentry's first cousin. Mrs. Astor was Racheal Littleton and Mrs. Gentry, before her marriage, was Jean Littleton. Each year a reunion of the Littleton family is held in Kingston, Tenn., and each year both Mrs. Astor and Mrs. Gentry attend.

Mrs. Gentry, by the way, is a very charming person. She has established a special niche for herself in the civic, social and club life of this city. She is one of the most ardent and sincere workers of the local Red Cross of which she is a member of the board. She is past president of the Child Study club and is an officer of the Civic League.

Easter seems so far away, no one waited until then to wear their new bonnets. Irene Fox is wearing a vibrant spring bonnet. It is bright red with red feathers upon it—cunning little wings encircling the low crown. Emma Louise Biedenharn is wearing a most becoming red hat with garlands of white and crimson blossoms attached to the head band. Mary Grace Lawn's spring chapeau is quite the smartest we have seen. It is small and she wears it perched over one eye the better to show her beautiful brown wavy hair.

It is most refreshing these days of chance and change to meet a couple who really meant it when they said "until death do us part." Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary last week and had settled down for a quiet evening in the bosom of their family when friends arrived with a gorgeous wedding cake. It was a duplicate of the one they cut fifty-five years ago. Those happy days were recalled around the flowing punch bowl presided over by the celebrant's son, Sam Smith, and their two daughters, Jennie Smith, and Emma Rosenbaum. The orchids today most certainly go to this happy couple, who, together, have faced the vicissitudes of life and will go on doing so until the end.

As director of the Monroe Little Theater Lorenzo Smith is everything to be desired. As a talent scout in the vernacular of the street, he is a perfect "whiz." New faces have been seen in every play directed by Mr. Smith this year. Now, as the season ends, he makes another discovery. On the scent for talent for "Ghost Train" to be presented April 15 he found Mollie Murdugh, who has been residing in Monroe for the past year but kept her identity unknown, in-so-far as her stage career is concerned. Mr. Smith discovered that she has played with Tallulah Bankhead on Broadway, with Catherine Cornell in the Theater Guild and with Gilda Gray in Ziegfield Follies. In fact her whole life, until she married, has been associated with the stage. Her initial appearance in one of the important roles of "Ghost Train" the last production of the season of the Monroe Little Theater, most certainly means another gay feather in the director's cap.

Prominent North Louisiana Families Are United In Impressive Ceremony

An impressive wedding ceremony uniting two prominent north Louisiana families was solemnized at the First Methodist church of Tallulah, March 23, when Miss Carolyn Sevier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Sevier, became the bride of Mr. Rufus Taft Yerger, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Yerger of Mounds, La. Reverend H. N. Alexander officiated in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives.

Cathedral tapers in tall, white, wrought iron candelabra silhouetted against a background of southern smilax formed the setting for the ceremony. Flanking the altar were white, wicker garden baskets overflowing with Calla lilies. A cluster of silver wedding bells tied with fly-away bows of silver tulle hung directly above the wedding party.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Laurette Ralph of Eudora, Ark., while the guests were being seated by the groomsmen, George Wilson of New Orleans, C. A. Tooke of Shreveport, Henry Sevier, brother of the bride, Elmer Neill, Jr., William Payne and Hugh Payne of Greenville, Miss., Barry Mitchell of Vicksburg, Miss., and Foster Horton of Lafayette.

The bridesmaids, Miss Betty Cagnolatti, Miss Marguerite McDonald of Delhi, Miss Sue Fairly of Jackson, Miss., Mrs. Gus Willett of Vicksburg, Miss., wore chiffon models alternating in shades of orchid, buttercup yellow, hyacinth blue and flesh pink. They were fashioned with long skirts trimmed with organdy bands cross-stitched in pastel shades. The basques were tight fitting with long sleeves and sweetheart necklines. Chaplets of roses and blue forget-me-nots were worn in the hair and arm bouquets of spring flowers were carried.

The maid of honor, Miss Beta Sevier, sister of the bride, wore a tangerine model of taffeta, and the flower girl, Carolyn Allen, wore a delphinium blue model. Both were exact replicas of those worn by the other attendants. Lee Adams, cousin of the bride, and Martha Yerger, niece of the bridegroom, wore chartreuse models and carried arm bouquets of spring flowers. The ring bearer, Maxwell Yerger, Jr., wore a white satin suit and carried the rings in the heart of a Calla lily.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a distinctive gown of diaphanous white net fashioned with a long skirt with inserts of lace. A white satin redingote, trimmed with self-covered buttons and ending in a long court train, was worn. A finger tip veil of white net edged with lace was caught to the head with a close fitting cap of silk braid. A gorgeous bouquet of Calla lilies and tuberoses, tied with lengths of white satin ribbon was carried.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Sevier home, where considerable beauty of decoration was noted. The bride's table, developed in silver and candlelit, had for central decor a beautifully embossed, three-tiered wedding cake. Individual wedding cakes and a variety of confections were served. Mrs. Benjamin Perry Folk, Miss Charlotte Sevier, and Miss Ophelia Ammons presided at the punch bowls. Mrs. R. T. Campbell assisted in the courtesies.

The bride, a young woman of considerable personal charm, is a graduate of the Tallulah High school and of Virginia Intermont college, Bristol, Va., and attended Louisiana State university, where she was a pledge to the Chi Omega sorority. The bridegroom graduated at the Tallulah High school and Tulane university. He is a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity. At the present time he is reading law in the Snyder-Sevier office in Tallulah.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Grace L. Seay and Mrs. Hugh Nofsinger of Bristol, Va., Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Phillips of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whittington, Mrs. W. A. Gilpin and daughter, Gloria, of Greenwood, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Baily of Bunkie, Mrs. John Higgins, Mrs. Clara Mae Warfield, Misses Cornelia and Olivia Warfield of Readland, Ark., J. H. Miller of Little Rock, Mr. and Mrs. George Montgomery and Miss Mary Montgomery of Delhi, Mrs. John Potts, Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Hodges and Mrs. Charles McCord of Monroe, Mrs. Romain Peters of Alexandria, Mrs. Lawrence Yerger and Miss Helen Yerger of Jackson, Dr. and Mrs. Edley Jones, Dr. and Mrs. Preston Herring, Dr. and Mrs. Alston Callahan, and others of Vicksburg.

MAY QUEEN AND HER MAIDS . . .

Book By West Monroe Resident At Library

Those who are interested in true stories and fiction about Louisiana, written by Louisianians, will enjoy reading three new books which have recently been added to the collection at the public library. They are: "Stories of New Orleans," by A. J. Navard of West Monroe; "Louisiana in the Short Story," by Mrs. Lizzie C. McVoy; and "By the Dim Lamps," by Nathan Schachner.

In "Stories of New Orleans" Mr. Navard interestingly unfolds some of the most fascinating traditional tales of the exotic Crescent City of the South, and relates stories of the many spectacular figures who played important roles in the history. Some of the most appealing chapters are those on the founding of New Orleans, the French Quarter, Jackson Square, John McDonogh, Andrew Jackson, Paul Tulane, and Lafitte.

Mr. Navard's purpose as stated in his introduction is "to keep alive for posterity Louisiana's traditional history."

"Louisiana in the Short Story" by Mrs. Lizzie C. McVoy is a collection of 15 short stories dealing with Lousiana's rich and varied life. In these stories are sugar plantations, cotton fields and scenes from romantic New Orleans. Some of the stories in this collection include "Posson Jone," George Cable; "Cane River," Lyle Saxon; "A Crippled Hope," Grace King; "Child of God," Roark Bradford; "Jalous Business," Stark Young; "Chains," Elma Godchaux; and "Redbone," Ada Jack Carver.

"By the Dim Lamps" is an appealing novel of Louisiana, giving an unprejudiced picture of conditions in this state and New Orleans during the Civil War and the reconstruction period.

Other new books added this week are:

Non-fiction—"Ambassador Dodd's Diary," edited by Martha Dodd, and William Dodd, Jr.

Welcome Branch Club Hears Talks On Mexico

Members of the Welcome Branch Book club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. R. White, 508 Arkansas, to hear Mrs. J. Norman Coon and Mrs. M. O. Young give interesting talks on Mexico. Mrs. E. C. Gibson and Mrs. Fred Tesche served as co-hostesses.

Mrs. M. O. Young, in an interesting account of "Mexico—the Land of the Mayans and the Aztecs," gave a short history of the two remarkable Indian civilizations. Of the Mayans she said:

"They were a highly cultivated people. They were using an exact calendar at the time of Christ. All evidence indicates that the Mayans enjoyed a highly developed civilization centuries before Columbus set foot on America. Their recently uncovered cities remain an eloquent testimony to their great culture."

Of the Aztecs, she told an interesting bit of history:

"Between 1312 and 1325 A. D., the nomadic Aztecs, having reached a foreordained spot, found an islet in a lake and on it an eagle perched on a prickly pear plant. There they proceeded to erect a small temple and settle around it, and so began Mexico City."

Mrs. J. Norman Coon gave a most vivid description of "A Visit to Mexico City." Mrs. Coon told of many interesting sights in Mexico City, one of the most common and most fascinating—market day. Indians and Mexicans from miles around bring their wares to display at market, where each man has his spot which he occupies from day to day and year to year. Everything is offered for sale at the market—produce, game, fruit, cloth. Mrs. Coon said:

"When twilight comes to Mexico City, it brings the hour decreed by fashion for fashion devotees to parade. All Mexico City takes to the streets or comes forward on balconies to see and be seen. The air is redolent of perfume, soft Spanish words fly hither and yon, flower vendors run alongside automobiles and thrust huge bouquets of dewy flowers for sale.

"Toward 7 o'clock the cafes fill up and the streets are then a blaze of light. By 9 o'clock the streets are almost deserted and by 10 Mexico City has gone to sleep."

Mrs. Coon brought many interesting Mexican articles for the club members to see. Of particular interest was the scrapbook Mrs. Coon kept on her own visit to Mexico City.

Mrs. J. R. White conducted an institute on press and publicity. The program was cleverly planned in the form of a "quiz program." Volunteers correctly answering questions on publicity were awarded pennies, representing gold dollars.

Music by Latin American composers was furnished by Dallas Goss and Miss Hermione Driscoll. Mr. Goss, accompanied by Mrs. Goss at the piano, sang "Little Princess" and "La Paloma." Miss Driscoll played two piano solos: "Petite Valse," by Sandoval, and "Spanish Gypsy Dance."

Mrs. J. D. Petty, first vice-president, presided over a short business meeting. The resignation of Mrs. J. H. Gorman was accepted with regrets. In the absence of Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. E. E. Lawson read the correspondence.

Delicious refreshments were served to 30 members as follows: Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. Harvey Callender, Mrs. P. B. Collier, Mrs. Sam Campbell, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. Wesley C. Ekholm, Mrs. J. T. Eubank, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Ralph Gibson, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. W. F. Hornberger, Mrs. A. E. Kilpatrick, Mrs. E. Everett Lawson, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. Harry Moore, Mrs. Clyde R. Pedigo, Mrs. Charles R. Morris, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. W. E. Sandel, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. Albert Speer, Mrs. Fred W. Tesche, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. Paul T. Wright and Mrs. M. O. Young.

Guests were Mrs. J. C. Shaw, Mrs. W. C. Shaw, Mrs. G. S. Suttle, Miss Bess Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Goss, Miss Hermione Driscoll and Mrs. C. A. Monroe of San Francisco.

Prominent North Louisiana Families Are United In Impressive Ceremony

An impressive wedding ceremony uniting two prominent north Louisiana families was solemnized at the First Methodist church of Tallulah, March 23, when Miss Carolyn Sevier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Sevier, became the bride of Mr. Rufus Taft Yerger, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Flanking the altar were white, wicker garden baskets overflowing with Calla lilies. A cluster of silver wedding bells tied with fly-away bows of silver tulle hung directly above the wedding party.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Laurette Ralph of Eudora, Ark., while the guests were being seated by the groomsmen, George Wilson of New Orleans, C. A. Tooke of Shreveport, Henry Sevier, brother of the bride, Elmer Neill, Jr., William Payne and Hugh Payne of Greenville, Miss., Barry Mitchell of Vicksburg, Miss., and Foster Horton of Lafayette.

The bridesmaids, Miss Betty Cagnolatti, Miss Marguerite McDonald of Delhi, Miss Sue Fairly of Jackson, Miss., Mrs. Gus Willett of Vicksburg, Miss., wore chiffon models alternating in shades of orchid, buttercup yellow, hyacinth blue and flesh pink. They were fashioned with long skirts trimmed with organdy bands cross-stitched in pastel shades. The basques were tight fitting with long sleeves and sweetheart necklines. Chaplets of roses and blue forget-me-nots were worn in the hair and arm bouquets of spring flowers were carried.

The maid of honor, Miss Beta Sevier, sister of the bride, wore a tangerine model of taffeta, and the flower girl, Carolyn Allen, wore a delphinium blue model. Both were exact replicas of those worn by the other attendants. Lee Adams, cousin of the bride, and Martha Yerger, niece of the bridegroom, wore chartreuse models and carried arm bouquets of spring flowers. The ring bearer, Maxwell Yerger, Jr., wore a white satin suit and carried the rings in the heart of a Calla lily.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a distinctive gown of diaphanous white net fashioned with a long skirt with inserts of lace. A white satin redingote, trimmed with self-covered buttons and ending in a long court train, was worn. A finger tip veil of white net edged with lace was caught to the head with a close fitting cap of silk braid. A gorgeous bouquet of Calla lilies and tuberoses, tied with lengths of white satin ribbon was carried.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Sevier home, where considerable beauty of decoration was noted. The bride's table, developed in silver and candlelit, had for central decor a beautifully embossed, three-tiered wedding cake. Individual wedding cakes and a variety of confections were served. Mrs. Benjamin Perry Folk, Miss Charlotte Sevier, and Miss Ophelia Ammons presided at the punch bowls. Mrs. R. T. Campbell assisted in the courtesies.

The bride, a young woman of considerable personal charm, is a graduate of the Tallulah High school and of Virginia Intermont college, Bristol, Va., and attended Louisiana State university, where she was a pledge to the Chi Omega sorority. The bridegroom graduated at the Tallulah High school and Tulane university. He is a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity. At the present time he is reading law in the Snyder-Sevier office in Tallulah.

Phillips of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whittington, Mrs. W. A. Gilpin and daughter, Gloria, of Greenwood, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Book By West Monroe Resident At Library

Those who are interested in true stories and fiction about Louisiana, written by Louisianians, will enjoy reading three new books which have recently been added to the collection at the public library. They are: "Stories of New Orleans," by A. J. Navard of West Monroe; "Louisiana in the Short Story," by Mrs. Lizzie C. McVoy; and "By the Dim Lamps," by Nathan Schachner.

In "Stories of New Orleans" Mr. Navard interestingly unfolds some of the most fascinating traditional tales of the exotic Crescent City of the South, and relates stories of the many spectacular figures who played important roles in the history. Some of the most appealing chapters are those on the founding of New Orleans, the French Quarter, Jackson Square, John McDonogh, Andrew Jackson, Paul Tulane, and Lafitte.

Mr. Navard's purpose as stated in his introduction is "to keep alive for posterity Louisiana's traditional history."

"Louisiana in the Short Story" by Mrs. Lizzie C. McVoy is a collection of 15 short stories dealing with Lousiana's rich and varied life. In these stories are sugar plantations, cotton fields and scenes from romantic New Orleans. Some of the stories in this collection include "Posson Jone," George Cable; "Cane River," Lyle Saxon; "A Crippled Hope," Grace King; "Child of God," Roark Bradford; "Jalous Business," Stark Young; "Chains," Elma Godchaux; and "Redbone," Ada Jack Carver.

"By the Dim Lamps" is an appealing novel of Louisiana, giving an unprejudiced picture of conditions in this state and New Orleans during the Civil War and the reconstruction period.

Other new books added this week are:

Non-fiction—"Ambassador Dodd's Diary," edited by Martha Dodd, and William Dodd, Jr.

Welcome Branch Club Hears Talks On Mexico

Members of the Welcome Branch Book club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. R. White, 508 Arkansas, to hear Mrs. J. Norman Coon and Mrs. M. O. Young give interesting talks on Mexico. Mrs. E. C. Gibson and Mrs. Fred Tesche served as co-hostesses.

Mrs. M. O. Young, in an interesting account of "Mexico—the Land of the Mayans and the Aztecs," gave a short history of the two remarkable Indian civilizations. Of the Mayans she said:

"They were a highly cultivated people. They were using an exact calendar at the time of Christ. All evidence indicates that the Mayans enjoyed a highly developed civilization centuries before Columbus set foot on America. Their recently uncovered cities remain an eloquent testimony to their great culture."

Of the Aztecs, she told an interesting bit of history:

"Between 1312 and 1325 A. D., the nomadic Aztecs, having reached a foreordained spot, found an islet in a lake and on it an eagle perched on a prickly pear plant. There they proceeded to erect a small temple and settle around it, and so began Mexico City."

Mrs. J. Norman Coon gave a most vivid description of "A Visit to Mexico City." Mrs. Coon told of many interesting sights in Mexico City, one of the most common and most fascinating—market day. Indians and Mexicans from miles around bring their wares to display at market, where each man has his spot which he occupies from day to day and year to year. Everything is offered for sale at the market—produce, game, fruit, cloth. Mrs. Coon said:

"When twilight comes to Mexico City, it brings the hour decreed by fashion for fashion devotees to parade. All Mexico City takes to the streets or comes forward on balconies to see and be seen. The air is redolent of perfume, soft Spanish words fly hither and yon, flower vendors run alongside automobiles and thrust huge bouquets of dewy flowers for sale.

"Toward 7 o'clock the cafes fill up and the streets are then a blaze of light. By 9 o'clock the streets are almost deserted and by 10 Mexico City has gone to sleep."

Mrs. Coon brought many interesting Mexican articles for the club members to see. Of particular interest was the scrapbook Mrs. Coon kept on her own visit to Mexico City.

Mrs. J. R. White conducted an institute on press and publicity. The program was cleverly planned in the form of a "quiz program." Volunteers correctly answering questions on publicity were awarded pennies, representing gold dollars.

Music by Latin American composers was furnished by Dallas Goss and Miss Hermione Driscoll. Mr. Goss, accompanied by Mrs. Goss at the piano, sang "Little Princess" and "La Paloma." Miss Driscoll played two piano solos: "Petite Valse," by Sandoval, and "Spanish Gypsy Dance."

Mrs. J. D. Petty, first vice-president, presided over a short business meeting. The resignation of Mrs. J. H. Gorman was accepted with regrets. In the absence of Mrs. A. S. Gunter, Mrs. E. E. Lawson read the correspondence.

Delicious refreshments were served to 30 members as follows: Mrs. F. E. Black, Mrs. Harvey Callender, Mrs. P. B. Collier, Mrs. Sam Campbell, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. Wesley C. Ekholm, Mrs. J. T. Eubank, Mrs. W. C. Faulk, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Ralph Gibson, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. M. R. Hausherr, Mrs. J. G. Hicks, Mrs. W. F. Hornberger, Mrs. A. E. Kilpatrick, Mrs. E. Everett Lawson, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. Harry Moore, Mrs. Clyde R. Pedigo, Mrs. Charles R. Morris, Mrs. J. D. Petty, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs. W. E. Sandel, Mrs. Zell Smith, Mrs. Albert Speer, Mrs. Fred W. Tesche, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. Paul T. Wright and Mrs. M. O. Young.

Guests were Mrs. J. C. Shaw, Mrs. W. C. Shaw, Mrs. G. S. Suttle, Miss Bess Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Goss, Miss Hermione Driscoll and Mrs. C. A. Monroe of San Francisco.

McNemar-Smith Rites Of Interest To Many

The affectionate interest of a wide circle of friends is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Doris Virginia Smith, daughter of Mr. O. J. Smith and the late Mrs. Smith, and Staff Sergeant Harold McNemar United States army recruiting agent, Saturday evening, March 22, at the First Presbyterian church, with the pastor, Reverend Ernest Holloway performing the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of members of the family and a few intimate friends.

Mr. Max H. Kulcke, organist, rendered a nuptial concert and at the nuptial hour played the wedding march from Lohengrin.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Peter Haddad.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a distinctive model of navy blue with redingote trimmed in white. A large white Milgrum hat and corsage of pink carnations and valley lilies was worn. For something old she wore an heirloom brooch that belonged to her mother.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the Smith home, 313 Morris avenue, where an artistic arrangement of spring flowers formed the setting for the bride and bridegroom, who received their friends informally.

Mrs. McNemar, a young woman of charming personality, is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and Northeast Junior college. Sergeant McNemar is a graduate of the Memphis High school and attended college in Memphis. He has been connected with the United States army for the past nine years. Welcome Branch Club Cited By Federation

Club life in Monroe is now at its richest and best. Honors are continually being showered upon outstanding club women and clubs as a whole are forging ahead to the front ranks.

Remarkable progress has been made by one club in particular, the Welcome Branch Book club. Interesting commentary on the work of this club comes from headquarters of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Washington, D. C., in regard to library service. The establishment of public libraries has long been an objective of the General Federation.

"Welcome Branch Book club of Monroe is cited as a federation member giving outstanding library service. For more than five years this club has had for one of its major projects the collecting of books for patients at the G. B. Cooley sanitarium. When the sanitarium was opened in 1939, over 500 books were placed on the shelves. In 1940, 25 new books were added to the library and this year 25 more will be added. A unique feature of the reading room is that it was made from an old street car, which is now fitted with shelves, tables and other conveniences.

"Minnesota club women have established book depots throughout their state for the collection of books for the many communities that are without library facilities. Thirty-eight per cent of the population, they have found, or nearly one million people do not have access to a public library. Also, existing libraries are short on children's books. An intensive drive for books and cash has been made with gratifying results.

"The New Hampshire Federation has presented the New Hampshire Library commission a bookmobile purchased with proceeds from the sale of a book 'The Folk Tales of New Hampshire,' by Mrs. Guy S. Speare, a past president of the federation. The bookmobile is fitted with revolving shelves carrying 600 books, and will circulate continually in the rural sections of the state."

MARCH BRIDE . . .

Marriage In Jackson Attracts Interest Here

Of paramount interest to many friends in this city and throughout the state is the following article appearing in the Jackson Daily News of the marriage of Miss Mary Bishop Thomas who has visited in Monroe on numerous occasions.

Mr. and Mrs. James Franklin Thomas of Mendenhall announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Bishop Thomas, to William Lawrence Cobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Stinson of Ruston, La., on Wednesday, March 12.

The marriage, which was performed at the home of the bride's parents at 8 o'clock in the evening, is of interest to a wide circle of friends here and over the state. The rites were performed in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends by the Rev. C. H. Strait of Meridian who used the double ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before a beautiful improvised altar in the bay window of the reception room. Greenery and tapers in lovely cathedral candelabra were banked around a beautiful plaque of lilies, carrying out the traditional bridal motif. Beautiful arrangements of white snapdragons and candytuft were placed on the mantel.

A program of nuptial music was played by Robert Pittard of Belhaven college, violinist; Miss Lucille Middleton of Mendenhall, vocalist, and Mrs. Fred Morgan of Mendenhall, pianist. The wedding march from Lohengrin was used. Mr. Pittard played serenade by Schubert and Evening Star by Wagner, accompanied by Mrs. Morgan. The pianist played for Miss Middleton who sang "I Love Thee," by Grieg, and "L'Amour Toujour L'Amour" by Friml. During the ceremony the soft strains of "Liebestraum" were heard. Miss Middleton wore a gown of deep cream taffeta and a corsage of roses. Mrs. Morgan chose a gown of champagne crepe and a corsage of lavender.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was exquisitely gowned in her mother's wedding dress. The gown was fashioned of satin and lace, with touches of mousseline de soie, with a delicately made circular collar fastened with a diamond brooch given to the bride's mother by her husband on her wedding day. The starred motif on the collar was repeated in the long sleeves that fell to her wrists. Her wedding veil was of double ivory illusion and was fastened with a coronet of orange blossoms. In her arms she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley, similar to the one carried by her mother on her wedding day.

Her only attendant was her cousin, Miss Patricia Vance of Brookhaven. She wore a gown of pink mousseline de soie and she carried a Colonial bouquet of pink and lavender flowers. Her headdress was a halo of pink flowers and illusion.

After the ceremony, the guests were invited into the dining room where they were served refreshments in bridal motif. The dining room table was covered with a satin cloth and centered with an unusual bride's cake, three-tiered and covered with a multitude of tiny roses and lilies of the valley. It was flanked on either end by white tapers in silver candelabra and silver bowls of white roses.

Mrs. Cobb was graduated from Belhaven college and did post graduate work at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Cobb received his education at Louisiana Tech and Louisiana State university. He is now connected with WJDX radio station. Mr. Cobb was formerly associated with the Associated Press and the Commercial-Appeal and other southern newspapers.

The affectionate interest of a wide circle of friends is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Doris Virginia Smith, daughter of Mr. O. J. Smith and the late Mrs. Smith, and Staff Sergeant Harold McNemar United States army recruiting agent, Saturday evening, March 22, at the First Presbyterian church, with the pastor, Reverend Ernest Holloway performing the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of members of the family and a few intimate friends.

Mr. Max H. Kulcke, organist, rendered a nuptial concert and at the nuptial hour played the wedding march from Lohengrin.

Spring flowers in graceful and colorful profusion banked the altar and formed an enclosure for the wedding party.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Peter Haddad.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a distinctive model of navy blue with redingote trimmed in white. A large white Milgrim hat and corsage of pink carnations and valley lilies was worn. For something old she wore an heirloom brooch that belonged to her mother.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the Smith home, 313 Morris avenue, where an artistic arrangement of spring flowers formed the setting for the bride and bridegroom, who received their friends informally.

Mrs. McNemar, a young woman of charming personality, is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High school and Northeast Junior college. Sergeant McNemar is a graduate of the Memphis High school and attended college in Memphis. He has been connected with the United States army for the past nine years. At the present time he is stationed in this city in charge of the recruiting office.

Welcome Branch Club Cited By Federation

Club life in Monroe is now at its richest and best. Honors are continually being showered upon outstanding club women and clubs as a whole are forging ahead to the front ranks.

Remarkable progress has been made by one club in particular, the Welcome Branch Book club. Interesting commentary on the work of this club comes from headquarters of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Washington, D. C., in regard to library service. The establishment of public libraries has long been an objective of the General Federation.

"Welcome Branch Book club of Monroe is cited as a federation member giving outstanding library service. For more than five years this club has had for one of its major projects the collecting of books for patients at the G. B. Cooley sanitarium. When the sanitarium was opened in 1939, over 500 books were placed on the shelves. In 1940, 25 new books were added to the library and this year 25 more will be added. A unique feature of the reading room is that it was made from an old street car, which is now fitted with shelves, tables and other conveniences.

"Minnesota club women have established book depots throughout their state for the collection of books for the many communities that are without library facilities. Thirty-eight per cent of the population, they have found, or nearly one million people, do not have access to a public library. Also, existing libraries are short on children's books. An intensive drive for books and cash has been made with gratifying results.

"The New Hampshire Federation has presented the New Hampshire Library commission a bookmobile purchased with proceeds from the sale of a book, 'The Folk Tales of New Hampshire,' by Mrs. Guy S. Speare, a past president of the federation. The bookmobile is fitted with revolving shelves carrying 600 books, and will circulate continously in the rural sections of the state."

MARCH BRIDE . . .

Marriage In Jackson Attracts Interest Here

Of paramount interest to many friends in this city and throughout the state is the following article appearing in the Jackson Daily News of the marriage of Miss Mary Bishop Thames, who has visited in Monroe on numerous occasions:

Mr. and Mrs. James Franklin Thames of Mendenhall announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Bishop Thames to Willard Lawrence Cobb, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Stinson of Ruston, La., on Wednesday, March 12.

The marriage, which was performed at the home of the bride's parents at 8 o'clock in the evening, is of interest to a wide circle of friends here and over the state. The rites were performed in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends by the Rev. C. H. Strait of Meridian, who used the double ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before a beautiful improvised altar in the bay window of the reception room. Greenery and tapers in lovely cathedral candelabra were banked around a beautiful plaque of lilies, carrying out the traditional bridal motif. Beautiful arrangements of white snapdragons and candytuft were placed on the mantel.

A program of nuptial music was played by Robert Pittard of Belhaven college, violinist; Miss Lucille Middleton of Mendenhall, vocalist, and Mrs. Fred Morgan of Mendenhall, pianist. The wedding march from Lohengrin was used. Mr. Pittard played serenade by Schubert and Evening Star by Wagner, accompanied by Mrs. Morgan. The pianist played for Miss Middleton who sang: "I Love Thee," by Grieg, and "L'Amour Toujour, L'Amour," by Friml. During the ceremony the soft strains of "Liebestraum" were heard. Miss Middleton wore a gown of deep cream taffeta and a corsage of roses. Mrs. Morgan chose a gown of champagne crepe and a corsage of lavender.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was exquisitely gowned in her mother's wedding dress. The gown was fashioned of satin and lace, with touches of mousseline de soie, with a delicately made circular collar fastened with a diamond brooch given to the bride's mother by her husband on her wedding day. The shirred motif on the collar was repeated in the long sleeves that fell to her wrists. Her wedding veil was of double ivory illusion and was fastened with a coronet of orange blossoms. In her arms she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley, similar to the one carried by her mother on her wedding day.

Her only attendant was her cousin, Miss Patricia Vance of Brookhaven. She wore a gown of pink mousseline de soie and she carried a Colonial bouquet of pink and lavender flowers. Her head-dress was a halo of pink flowers and illusion.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of violet chiffon with a gardenia corsage. The mother of the groom chose a gown of ashes of roses crepe with which she wore a gardenia corsage.

After the ceremony, the guests were invited into the dining room where they were served refreshments in bridal motif. The dining room table was covered with a satin cloth and centered with an unusual bride's cake, three-tiered and covered with a multitude of tiny roses and lilies of the valley. It was flanked on either end by white tapers in silver candelabra and silver bowls of white roses.

Mrs. Cobb was graduated from Belhaven college and did post graduate work at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Cobb received his education at Louisiana Tech and Louisiana State university. He is now connected with WJDX radio station. Mr. Cobb was formerly associated with the Associated Press and the Commercial-Appeal and other southern newspapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Cobb are now at home to friends at Hotel Heidelberg.

Mrs. Walter Deen McCormick Is Honored At Event In Home Of Mrs. J. V. Simms

Claiming prominence among the many courtesies honoring Mrs. Walter Deen McCormick, bride of recent date, was the bridge-tea in the home of Mrs. J. V. Simms with Mrs. Maydie Everett, co-hostess.

Paramount Books 'Western Union' For 3-Day Showi

"Western Union," in spectacular technicolor! Where the arrows of the savage Sioux struck swiftly and silently, on the danger-infested and death-inviting plainlands of Zane Grey's West Opening today and playing through Tuesday at the Paramount. Robert Young, Randolph Scott, Dean Jagger and Virginia Gilmore head the cast, with John Carradine, Slim Summerville, Chill Wills and Barton MacLane in important roles.

Young, Scott, Jagger Head Stellar Cast

ZANE GREY'S "Western Union" has been made into a memorable picture by 20th Century-Fox. Filmed in brilliant Technicolor and produced on a breath-taking scale, it opens today at the Paramount theater.

Its brilliant cast, headed by Robert Young, Randolph Scott, Dean Jagger and Virginia Gilmore, brings to life all the colorful characters created by the West's greatest story-teller in his latest bestseller. Others featured include John Carradine, Chill Wills, Slim Summerville and Barton MacLane.

Romance, action, drama and thrilling adventure are all part of the spectacle in "Western Union," which opens in the roaring boom town of frontier Omaha—where the only law was a blazing six-shooter.

Randolph Scott as a reformed outlaw and Robert Young, as a tenderfoot surveyor from Harvard, leave with Creighton's men. Both are in love with the builder's charming sister, Virginia Gilmore.

First sample of the dangers ahead comes soon after the wagon-train leaves Omaha. Vicious renegades attack without warning. Devastating forays by the savage Sioux follow.

But the plainsmen keep moving forward across the prairies, sinking telegraph poles and stringing wires as death strikes swiftly and silently all about them. Thrill is heaped on thrill as the renegades plot complete destruction of the line. Cattle are stolen, wires cut down and worst of all, the Indians are incited to massacre.

Under Director Fritz Lang's superb direction the sweeping suspense grows more intense with each scene until "Western Union" reaches a pulse-pounding climax as an engulfing fire rages down from the hills to destroy the camp. Even that, however, can't stop the march of the "magic wires" —Creighton rallies his men and goes on to complete the first transcontinental telegraph

Teeming with action, paced at a rapid-fire pace, Zane Grey's "Western Union" is an eye-filling spectacle. Harry Joe Brown was associate producer while the fine screen play was by Robert Carson.

'Santa Fe Trail' Now At Capitol

Errol Flynn And Olivia De-Havilland Head Outstanding Cast

ERROL FLYNN, that most handsome of all the swashbuckling screen adventurers, is waving sabers, firing pistols, flailing fists and galloping horses again, this time in "Santa Fe Trail," which plays today and Monday at the Capitol. And back of the cameras was the old master of fast action and solecisms, Michael Curtiz, the director credited with "discovering" Flynn (it was in "Captain Blood") and who has guided Errol through six or seven pictures since that time.

Back too, in Flynn's arms, is Olivia de Havilland, just to make the reunion complete. Starting with that same "Captain Blood" they have been in a half dozen or more pictures together, indicating that Warner Bros. consider it a sort of "by public demand" obligations. Fan approval, indicated by mail received, long has proved the studio right.

But don't get the idea that "Santa Fe Trail" is following any formula just because Olivia, Errol and Curtiz are together again. The story is several of the most exciting chapters right out of our American history books, knit together in dramatic pattern by Virginia-born Robert Buckner studio scenarist.

It is primarily the story of "bloody" Kansas territory and the eastern end of the Santa Fe Trail during the days of John Brown and his Abolitionist raiders; days in which the United States cavalry had more than plenty to do; days that almost changed a nation's destiny.

Real characters come to life on the screen in the film. Flynn is Lieutenant J. E. B. "Jeb" Stuart and his partner in adventure is Lieutenant George Custer, as portrayed by Ronald Reagan. Five other young fellows, all under contract to Warner Bros. portray historical characters. They are William Lundigan as Robert Holliday, David Bruce as Phil Sheridan, Frank Wilcox as James Longstreet, William Marshall as George Pickett, and George Haywood as John Hood.

There are more. John Brown is played by Raymond Massey, the Canadian-born actor who won first stage training in England and established himself solidly as Abraham Lincoln before American audiences. Robert E. Lee is in the story, played by Moroni Olson. So is Jefferson Davis (Erville Alderson), U. S. Grant (Charles Williams), and Stonewall Jackson, Louis Payne). Henry O'Neill plays Cyrus K. Holliday, pioneer freighter over the Sante Fe Trail and the man who founded Topeka and Leavenworth in Kansas. Olivia de Havilland is his daughter, Kate, and there are other characters played by Alan Hale, Big Boy Williams and Van Heflin.

ZANE GREY'S "Western Union" has been made into a memorable picture by 20th Century-Fox. Filmed in brilliant Technicolor and produced on a breath-taking scale, it opens today at the Paramount theater.

Its brilliant cast, headed by Robert Young, Randolph Scott, Dean Jagger and Virginia Gilmore, brings to life all the colorful characters created by the West's greatest story-teller in his latest bestseller. Others featured include John Carradine, Chill Wills, Slim Summerville and Barton MacLane.

Romance, action, drama and thrilling adventure are all part of the spectacle in "Western Union," which opens in the roaring boom town of frontier Omaha—where the only law was a blazing six-shooter.

THIS MIGHTY MOUNTAIN OF WATER WAS SWEEPING EVERYTHING BEFORE IT IN A RUSH OF DESTRUCTION. BUILDINGS WERE SHATTERED: MEN WERE DASHED TO DOOM, OR DROWNED.
HERE AND THERE A MONSTER SPEAR-FISH, RIDING WITH THE WAVE, CLAIMED A HUMAN VICTIM.
BY STRENGTH AND SKILL, TARZAN MANAGED TO KEEP ATOP THE FLOOD, BUT EVERY MOMENT BRISTLED WITH HAZARDS.
AHEAD, THE SEA PEOPLE WHO HAD TAKEN WARNING IN TIME WERE FLEEING TO HIGH GROUND OUTSIDE THE CITY.
THERE, TOO, WERE GATHERED THE REMNANTS OF THE FIRE PEOPLE, WHO WERE REFUGEES FROM THE VOLCANO.
AND EVEN IN THIS AWFUL HOUR, THESE AGE-OLD FOES FELL TO FIGHTING.
SOON THE SEA PEOPLE CAPTURED TANNY. "KILL HIM!" THEY SHOUTED. "HE IS THEIR PRINCE!"

THE FIRE PEOPLE SEIZED LEECIA. "THEN WE'LL KILL YOUR PRINCESS!" THEY YELLED.
NEXT WEEK: IN THE FACE OF PERIL
HOGARTH

THE GUMPS
DADDY— DON'T LEAVE ME—- NEVER, DARLING, NEVER!
IF HER DADDY HAD ARRIVED ANY LATER, IT WOULD HAVE BEEN TOO LATE TO SAVE HER!
JUST AS THE DOCTOR BEGAN TO HOLD OUT A FAINT HOPE OF RECOVERY FOR LITTLE ROSE BUDD, THE AUTHORITIES AT STATE PRISON DISCOVERED THAT THEY HAD MISTAKENLY IMPRISONED KAIN BUDD INSTEAD OF HIS TWIN BROTHER, ABEL (ROSE'S FATHER)—
BUT AT THAT VERY MOMENT IN THE NEARBY STATE PRISON—
I INDUCED HER INTO TAKING A LITTLE BROTH, AND NOW SHE'S ASLEEP— THE DOCTOR SAYS SHE'S GAINING—IF SHE LIVES THROUGH THE NIGHT SHE'LL GET WELL—
SHE WILL LIVE, MR. BUDD—
—IF LOVE AND MEDICAL SCIENCE COUNT FOR ANYTHING—AND THEY DO! AFTER ROSE HAS RECOVERED, WE'LL SET IN MOTION ALL THE LEGAL MACHINERY AT OUR COMMAND TO GET YOU OUT OF YOUR DIFFICULTIES WITH THE LAW—
I'M AFRAID THAT WILL BE A MUCH HARDER TASK THAN YOU THINK, MR. GUMP—
TELL ME MORE ABOUT THE CASE—JUST WHY WAS SUCH A TERRIBLE MISCARRIAGE OF JUSTICE COMMITTED?
THE REAL CRIMINAL WAS APPARENTLY MY BROTHER, KAIN— WHOM I HADN'T SEEN IN MANY YEARS! I WAS PICKED UP BY THE POLICE AND TAKEN OUT WEST—WHERE I WAS IDENTIFIED BY EYE WITNESSES AS THE CULPRIT—
BUT, SURELY, YOU MUST HAVE BEEN ABLE TO FURNISH AN ALIBI? DID NO ONE IN THE EASTERN CITY SPRING TO YOUR DEFENSE?
NOBODY KNEW ME THERE—I WAS FRIENDLESS—I DISCOVERED THE TRUE MEANING OF BEING ALONE IN A BIG CITY—
AT THE TIME I WAS CONVICTED AND SENT TO PRISON, I FOUND OUT THAT ROSE'S GRAND-MOTHER PASSED AWAY—EVENTS PROVED THAT KAIN THEN TURNED UP AND TOOK CUSTODY OF LITTLE ROSE—
MR BUDD, DID YOU HAVE A PHOTO TAKEN OF YOURSELF IN THAT CITY? DID YOU SEND IT TO ROSE?
DO YOU REMEMBER THE DATE YOUR BROTHER ROBBED THE BANK, MR BUDD?
HOW COULD I FORGET? IT WAS DECEMBER 16TH, 1935—AND IF MEMORY SERVES, IT'S THE SAME DATE I HAD THAT PHOTO TAKEN!
3-30
THAT PROVES YOU DIDN'T COMMIT THE CRIME! YOU COULDN'T ROB A WEST COAST BANK THE SAME DAY YOU WERE BEING PHOTO-GRAPHED IN THE EAST!
BY JOVE! YOU'RE RIGHT! HOW STUPID OF ME NOT TO HAVE THOUGHT OF IT AT THE TRIAL! BUT I WAS SO SHOCKED BY IT ALL———
MAYBE NOT, SIR! I SAW ROSE WITH IT A WEEK AGO—
—AND IT HAD A DATE RIGHT THERE ON ITS BACK!!
